General Information

Overview
This unit will introduce you to the theory, principle and practice of agricultural extension in Australia and overseas. You will develop extension-related knowledge and skills to allow you to facilitate agricultural research and development outcomes to key stakeholders in order to improve practice change within the agricultural industry. You will explore the purpose of extension and how different methods can be used to achieve the desired outcome for agricultural businesses and industries. You will use a number of methods that will equip you to effectively engage with stakeholder groups and evaluate the effectiveness of extension strategies.

Previous Student Feedback

Feedback, Recommendations and Responses

Every unit is reviewed for enhancement each year. At the most recent review, the following staff and student feedback items were identified and recommendations were made.

Feedback from In-Class

Feedback
Students found the Journal Club Sessions engaging. Students commented that the journal club sessions (Assessment 2) were engaging, effective and useful for developing their understanding of agricultural extension.

Recommendation
Continue to offer Assessment 2 as a Journal Club Session.

Feedback from SUTE

Feedback
The workload demand for completing Assessment 3 was greater than expected.

Recommendation
The workload expectations of AGRI13010 are commensurate with a third year unit and the expectations of Assessment 3 are in line with this. The Week 12 tutorial is also provided for students to ask questions about this assessment. However, one or two additional 'workshops' for Assessment 3 should be offered.
