General Information

Overview

Advanced Flight Theory 2 provides you with the advanced aviation knowledge aligned with Civil Aviation Safety Authority (CASA) Airline Transport Pilot Licence (ATPL) curriculum (Part 61 Schedule 3). You will learn about advanced concepts of weather and air motion and how it affects the planning of flights and controlling an aircraft. You will study flight planning including designing flight paths and operations to suit a range of environments and conditions. You will learn about aircraft performance and loading procedures, including calculating aircraft weight and balance. The unit content is organised into various study modules corresponding to CASA Part 61 Schedule 3 exams. During the term, you are encouraged to take the CASA examinations soon after completing the relevant modules.
