BIOH11006 Advanced Anatomy and Physiology

Term 2 - 2022

Profile information current as at 14/12/2025 04:12 pm

All details in this unit profile for BIOH11006 have been officially approved by CQUniversity and represent a learning partnership between the University and you (our student). The information will not be changed unless absolutely necessary and any change will be clearly indicated by an approved correction included in the profile.

General Information

Overview

On successful completion, students will have a detailed understanding of the normal functioning of the human body. Students will be able to describe the structure and function of the major organ systems of the human body, including the nervous, circulatory, digestive, respiratory, renal, endocrine, immune and reproductive systems. Students will be able to explain the role of regulatory and feedback control systems in maintaining body functions within effective operational limits.

Assessment Grading

This is a graded unit: your overall grade will be calculated from the marks or grades for each assessment task, based on the relative weightings shown in the table above. You must obtain an overall mark for the unit of at least 50%, or an overall grade of 'pass' in order to pass the unit. If any 'pass/fail' tasks are shown in the table above they must also be completed successfully ('pass' grade). You must also meet any minimum mark requirements specified for a particular assessment task, as detailed in the 'assessment task' section (note that in some instances, the minimum mark for a task may be greater than 50%). Consult the University's Grades and Results Policy for more details of interim results and final grades.

Previous Student Feedback

Feedback, Recommendations and Responses

Every unit is reviewed for enhancement each year. At the most recent review, the following staff and student feedback items were identified and recommendations were made.

Feedback from Student feedback

Feedback

Practice quizzes were beneficial as they allowed students to prepare for the assessments.

Recommendation

The practice quizzes will be maintained within the unit given their impact on student learning and study.

Feedback

There were a large number of extra resources that aided student understanding of the content.

Recommendation

Resources will be maintained as the unit is in teach out and students have found them beneficial.

Unit Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

1. Describe the detailed anatomy and normal functioning of the major physiological systems of the human body.
2. Discuss the concepts and processes of homeostatic regulation and feedback within the human body
3. Explain the neuronal and hormonal control mechanisms of human body systems
4. Describe the interplay of factors involved in normal system function and how these are usually kept within effective operational limits.
