General Information

Overview

In this unit, you will learn how to program using the Java programming language. It is assumed that you have little or no programming experience so you will be guided through the basics of application development using classes and objects. You will learn about the parts of a program including variables, types, and methods, and learn how to take input and produce output. A key aspect of this unit is practical, hands-on, simple application development and testing which you will do in an industry standard integrated development environment (IDE).

Previous Student Feedback

Feedback, Recommendations and Responses

Every unit is reviewed for enhancement each year. At the most recent review, the following staff and student feedback items were identified and recommendations were made.

Feedback from Have your say.

Feedback

Some students suggested selecting an alternative textbook that supports improved content for streamlined resources and continuous learning.

Recommendation

Continue reviewing possible alternative texts.

Feedback from Personal reflection.

Feedback

The exams (including the take-home exam) does not give students sufficient opportunity to demonstrate their individual programming skills. Too much opportunity for plagiarism with the take-home exam.

Recommendation

Replace the take home exam with a final project.
