COIT20250 Technologies in Information Systems Practice

Term 2 - 2026

Profile information current as at 05/12/2025 03:39 pm

All details in this unit profile for COIT20250 have been officially approved by CQUniversity and represent a learning partnership between the University and you (our student). The information will not be changed unless absolutely necessary and any change will be clearly indicated by an approved correction included in the profile.

General Information

Overview

ICT business and system analysts use many techniques to model and analyse business problems, such as data analytics, workflow modelling, dashboards and low code prototyping. In this unit, you will learn a selection of tools, as well as new and disruptive technologies, such as artificial intelligence, blockchain, Internet of Things and cloud services. You will gain practical, hands-on experience with data analysis and visualisation tools, such as the Microsoft Power platform, and cloud services for analysts, such as Azure or AWS. While evaluating the technical tradeoffs of technologies to deliver business value, you will also consider the ethical, legal and cyber security issues that arise when enterprises use those technologies.
