General Information

Overview

In this unit, you will explore how modern IP networks support secure and scalable communication for small to medium enterprises. You'll learn to build and manage network infrastructure using technologies such as VLANs, NAT, DHCP, and IP routing, and deploy Internet-based services including secure web servers, DNS, VPNs, and cloud-hosted applications. Through hands-on labs and projects, you'll use tools like GNS3, Git, and Ansible to automate network configuration and streamline operations. Working in teams, you'll troubleshoot network issues and develop collaborative solutions, preparing you for real-world roles in network administration and support.

Attendance Requirements

All on-campus students are expected to attend scheduled classes – in some units, these classes are identified as a mandatory (pass/fail) component and attendance is compulsory. International students, on a student visa, must maintain a full time study load and meet both attendance and academic progress requirements in each study period (satisfactory attendance for International students is defined as maintaining at least an 80% attendance record).

Website

This unit has a website, within the Moodle system, which is available two weeks before the start of term. It is important that you visit your Moodle site throughout the term. Please visit Moodle for more information.

Previous Student Feedback

Feedback, Recommendations and Responses

Every unit is reviewed for enhancement each year. At the most recent review, the following staff and student feedback items were identified and recommendations were made.

Feedback from Student Unit and Teaching Evaluations

Feedback

Further clarity around assessment requirements would enhance the student learning experience.

Recommendation

Provide clear and consistent assessment instructions and clarify requirements when needed.

Feedback from Unit Coordinator's Reflection

Feedback

It would be beneficial to deliver the in-class lab test questions directly through Moodle, allowing students to complete and submit their responses within Moodle rather than using a separate template.

Recommendation

Conduct the in-class lab tests directly through Moodle to make the process simpler for students.
