COIT20268 AI-supported software development

Term 2 - 2027

Profile information current as at 07/09/2026 08:59 pm

All details in this unit profile for COIT20268 have been officially approved by CQUniversity and represent a learning partnership between the University and you (our student). The information will not be changed unless absolutely necessary and any change will be clearly indicated by an approved correction included in the profile.

General Information

Overview

This unit provides an advanced exploration of web application architecture, focusing on integrating agentic systems and multi-agent orchestration into the modern development lifecycle. You will move beyond basic Generative AI (GenAI) assistance to design and deploy sophisticated, autonomous applications in web environments.

Attendance Requirements

All on-campus students are expected to attend scheduled classes – in some units, these classes are identified as a mandatory (pass/fail) component and attendance is compulsory. International students, on a student visa, must maintain a full time study load and meet both attendance and academic progress requirements in each study period (satisfactory attendance for International students is defined as maintaining at least an 80% attendance record).

Previous Student Feedback

Feedback, Recommendations and Responses

Every unit is reviewed for enhancement each year. At the most recent review, the following staff and student feedback items were identified and recommendations were made.

Feedback from Student feedback

Feedback

The unit could improve by introducing web design basics, such as HTML and CSS, alongside heuristics from the start, rather than focusing on theory for several weeks before practical lessons.

Recommendation

Based on student feedback, the tutorials should be restructured to introduce introductory HTML and CSS practical lessons alongside design heuristics in Weeks 1 and 2. This will ensure early hands-on engagement and a better balance between theoretical foundations and technical skills from the start of the term.
