General Information

Overview

Communications technologies have changed culture in profound ways, and have determined the shape of many cultures. At the same time, people play a role in determining how such technology is utilised. This unit examines the development of communication and its associated technologies such as telecommunications, digital printing, global 'sharing'. It critically analyses how modern culture is influenced by these developments and incorporates an intergenerational reflection of the evolution of communication. Through this unit, you will develop a critical awareness of new communication technologies and their impact on a global scale.

Schedule

Week 1 - 06 Mar 2017

Module/Topic	Chapter	Events and Submissions/Topic
Introduction. What is the connection between technology, communication and culture? Why is this triangle of connectivity so critical from both an historic and a futuristic perspective? How does the human development of a spoken language of words affect global warming? What connects the first cave paintings with the first iPhone? We begin to examine the evolution of human communication; its beginnings, its development and, most critically, its possibilities.	Poe. Introduction (pp. 1 - 25)	Access course text via electronic link on Moodle site. Poe, M., (2013) A History of Communication , Cambridge University Press.

Week 2 - 13 Mar 2017

Module/Topic	Chapter	Events and Submissions/Topic
--------------	---------	------------------------------

Speech and Language.

How did the development of human speech stop wars? How did it encourage trade, the sharing of knowledge? Why did the power of speech enable humans to become the apex predator on the planet? Through the ability to communicate in spoken form, and through the intentional and deliberate act of linguistic development, we now have the ability to contact extraterrestrials. True.

Poe. Homo Loquens (pp. 26 - 41).

Week 3 - 20 Mar 2017

Module/Topic	Chapter	Events and Submissions/Topic
The Talking Culture. In the beginning, there was ... what? This week looks at the early development of wider communication; how it took on new forms and how it began to tell us things about ourselves. Talking in groups is incredibly important in the development of human culture and in technological innovation, giving us dreams to aim for. You didn't know? Well, once upon a time ...	Poe. Homo Loquens (pp. 41- 60)

Week 4 - 27 Mar 2017

Module/Topic	Chapter	Events and Submissions/Topic
Writing before Writing. There is ample evidence of symbolic production from somewhere between 40,000 and 30,000 years ago. The earliest of the French cave paintings came from this time. However, it was not until early humans settled into a less nomadic lifestyle around 10,000 years ago that the first public buildings started to appear and with them, the first signs of fixed symbols: numbers.	Poe. Homo Scriptor (pp. 61 - 79)

Week 5 - 03 Apr 2017

Module/Topic	Chapter	Events and Submissions/Topic
The Age Of Manuscripts. The great philosopher Plato did not appreciate writing at all, claiming that written words 'talk to you as if they were intelligent' (Phaedrus 275 AD). Plato believed words were the enemies of true understanding; however, it was through the spread of the written word and the ability to begin to understand written languages other than our own , that enabled the first great communication technologies.	Poe. Homo Scriptor (pp. 79 - 100).

Vacation Week - 10 Apr 2017

Module/Topic	Chapter	Events and Submissions/Topic
BREAK WEEK

Week 6 - 17 Apr 2017

Module/Topic	Chapter	Events and Submissions/Topic
--------------	---------	------------------------------

Revolutions of Print.

For the first thousand years or so of western civilisation, the written word was the province of the educated and wealthy elite. Even though the Chinese created a ceramic version of movable type as long ago as 1040 (Needham 1994), it was not until 1439 that Johannes Gutenberg developed the principle of movable type to the point where his work directly connects the great printing presses of 1950s mass media to the 3D printer of today.

Poe. Homo Lector (pp. 101 - 126)

Interview and Essay Due: Week 6
Friday (21 Apr 2017) 6:00 pm AEST

Week 7 - 24 Apr 2017

Module/Topic	Chapter	Events and Submissions/Topic
Literacy and Literature. Both indirect and direct measures suggest that literacy made significant advances during the early modern period, especially in Northwest Europe. Spain, for example, had six universities in 1450 and thirty-three by 1600 (Poe p. 113). The price of printed matter declined continuously and the ownership of printed texts spread throughout society and indeed, the world. Owning a book was unthinkable in 1500. By 1800, it was commonplace.	Poe. Homo Lector (pp. 127 - 151).

Week 8 - 01 May 2017

Module/Topic	Chapter	Events and Submissions/Topic
The Sound of Music. After the invention of electricity came a frenzy of devices and technologies that could be powered by such containable energy. The development of both safe electrical current and the invention of batteries enabled the creation of such communication wonders as radio, the telegraph and the humble vinyl LP. The social impact of recording both music and voice unleashed a flood of new development in the entertainment and information industries.	Poe. Homo Videns (pp. 152 - 177).	Workbook Exercises Due: Week 8 Friday (5 May 2017) 6:00 pm AEST

Week 9 - 08 May 2017

Module/Topic	Chapter	Events and Submissions/Topic
Homo Videns. Not only did Plato dislike the written word, but he loathed actors, suggesting their realistic depiction of suffering made the audience as anxious as if they were witnessing someone in real pain. The next leap in communication and media evolution and cultural interaction came with the invention of visual and audiovisual technologies; television and video.	Poe. Homo Videns (pp. 178 - 201).

Week 10 - 15 May 2017

Module/Topic	Chapter	Events and Submissions/Topic
--------------	---------	------------------------------

The Rise of the Internet.

Intranet, Internet and Extranets.

Whose idea was it to create a 'network of networks' and what does this have to do with the World Wide Web?

What's the link between Humpty

Dumpty and the humble modem? 'The Internet is the culmination of a 400-year old dream that information might be collected, stored and sifted; easily, efficiently and endlessly.' (Poe p.215).

Nobody mentions information capitalism, the surveillance state or cultural privatism, do they?

Poe. Homo Somnians (pp. 202 - 225)

Week 11 - 22 May 2017

Module/Topic

Chapter

Events and Submissions/Topic

The Digital Revolution.

Whereas writing and printing spread slowly and audio-visual material took off in a few decades, the internet has blossomed virtually overnight. 'While it would not be fair to say the Internet pushes all of our evolutionary buttons, it certainly pushes more of them than any other device in history.' (Poe

p.219). Humans were designed to look for puzzles and anomalies, and the internet is full of them. It's all there;

the odd, the weird, the strange.

Poe. Homo Somnians (pp. 226 - 250).

Assessment Tasks

1 Interview and Essay

Assessment Type

Written Assessment

Task Description

Interview and Essay (35 marks)

Interview: 10 minutes minimum

- You are to conduct and record (either audio or audio/video) an interview with a person of an older generation (for example, your grandparent, elderly friend or parent).
- You are to encourage the interviewee to describe the changes in communication technology in their lifetime and the effects these changes have had on their personal, social and working lives. For example: radio since World War II; the arrival of television; changes in music consumption brought about by vinyl records, cassette tapes;

CDs; changes in telephony (telephone mobility, smartphone technologies); virtual conferencing softwares such as Skype; use of videos and video cameras; the arrival of computers and their use in business, academia, social media; on-line newspapers, on-line banking (etc).

- The recorded interview needs to be a minimum of 10 minutes. It should be long enough for you to have sufficient information to use in your essay (Asst#1) and final presentation (Asst#3). The interview should be conducted using a question and answer format. Have between 10-15 questions prepared to ask your interviewee but be flexible enough to adjust your questions based on your interviewee's responses.

Essay: 1,800 - 2,200 words

- Create a title for your essay in the form of a question. For example, 'How has communication changed the world?' or 'What does the evolution of communication forms tell us?' Write a formal essay in response to this question. (Note: There are further questions provided in Assignment #3 that may also be used as a guide).
- The essay will be written after the interview and requires you to analyse and discuss the changing use and impact of technology based on your interviewee's responses. You should include information from the interview (both paraphrased information and direct quotes) in your essay.
- You are required to substantiate your essay by referencing sources (from the interview, the unit text, unit readings and library sources) that help you better understand how the evolution of communication technologies alter the world around us and the way we live our lives today.
- Your writing needs to follow a formal essay structure.

Your uploaded assignment submission MUST include three files:

1. an 1,800 - 2,200 word essay with the Marking Criteria sheet at the end in a Word document format,
2. the recorded interview, uploaded as a sound file (format is flexible) and

 - what are the wider implications of these changes in terms of privacy and security?
 - how have these technological developments changed people's lives?
 - are these changes entirely positive or negative? Why?
 - are there any communication developments your interviewee regrets? Why?
 - has anything been lost in the rush for technological development?

Reflection.

Write a 1,100 - 1,300 word reflection based on your own personal experience of the discussion with your interviewee and how this has widened your thoughts on the effect of technological change and the way we communicate today. The reflection should be written essay-style in a semi-formal tone where the use of the first person is acceptable. APA referencing conventions will be followed.

Academic Integrity Statement

As a CQUniversity student you are expected to act honestly in all aspects of your academic work.

Any assessable work undertaken or submitted for review or assessment must be your own work. Assessable work is any type of work you do to meet the assessment requirements in the unit, including draft work submitted for review and feedback and final work to be assessed.

When you use the ideas, words or data of others in your assessment, you must thoroughly and clearly acknowledge the source of this information by using the correct referencing style for your unit. Using others' work without proper acknowledgement may be considered a form of intellectual dishonesty.

Participating honestly, respectfully, responsibly, and fairly in your university study ensures the CQUniversity qualification you earn will be valued as a true indication of your individual academic achievement and will continue to receive the respect and recognition it deserves.

As a student, you are responsible for reading and following CQUniversity's policies, including the Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure. This policy sets out CQUniversity's expectations of you to act with integrity, examples of academic integrity breaches to avoid, the processes used to address alleged breaches of academic integrity, and potential penalties.

What is a breach of academic integrity?

A breach of academic integrity includes but is not limited to plagiarism, self-plagiarism, collusion, cheating, contract cheating, and academic misconduct. The Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure defines what these terms mean and gives examples.

Why is academic integrity important?

A breach of academic integrity may result in one or more penalties, including suspension or even expulsion from the University. It can also have negative implications for student visas and future enrolment at CQUniversity or elsewhere. Students who engage in contract cheating also risk being blackmailed by contract cheating services.

Where can I get assistance?

For academic advice and guidance, the Academic Learning Centre \(ALC\) can support you in becoming confident in completing assessments with integrity and of high standard.

What can you do to act with integrity?

Be Honest

If your assessment task is done by someone else, it would be dishonest of you to claim it as your own

Seek Help

If you are not sure about how to cite or reference in essays, reports etc, then seek help from your lecturer, the library or the Academic Learning Centre (ALC)

Produce Original Work

Originality comes from your ability to read widely, think critically, and apply your gained knowledge to address a question or problem
