General Information

Overview

Celebrities exist because of their high media profiles. From the cut of a dress worn on the red carpet, to an irate social media post made in a fit of anger, publicity can make or break an individual's reputation. Dealing with intense personal media scrutiny requires specialist public relations knowledge. You will explore the elements required to develop the profile of individuals, and how strategic communication techniques can be used to monitor, boost or influence reputation. You will move beyond familiar definitions of celebrity (evident in influencers, politicians, business leaders or sports stars) to consider the notion of celebrity as it impacts contemporary culture. Celebrity PR is a useful skill to develop and enhance your own professional profile, or to address issues involving the publicity of individuals. You will build on public relations skills you may have previously applied to organisations and shifts the focus to personal image and status. This unit is relevant for anyone who may pursue a career in the public eye. You will learn skills of reputation management and identity formation - either for yourself or on behalf of someone else.

Schedule

Module 1: Agent to the stars - 10 Jul 2023

Module/Topic	Chapter	Events and Submissions/Topic
This unit is primarily about creating and controlling fame, so before we create it, we need to understand what it is. Module 1 examines a number of theoretical concepts to explain celebrity motivation and potential consequences of being in the public spotlight. We define 'celebrity' and consider the various ways an individual can be famous. This module situates 'celebrity' as the individual, their image and their status. The concepts in this module allow you to explore 'celebrity' outcomes for any individual, including yourself. This module starts us thinking about the ethics and morals involved in developing and presenting a personal brand.	There is no textbook. Set readings are available on the eReading list on Moodle.

Module 2: Social Butterflies - 24 Jul 2023

Module/Topic	Chapter	Events and Submissions/Topic
Interacting via social media is normal for digital natives, but have you ever stopped to think about how our identity appears online? In this module we consider some uncomfortable truths about sharing and baring all online. This module draws on previous knowledge of public relations techniques to identify the various online profiles an individual might choose to portray, and how to determine appropriate personal branding. The module will consider the nature of a fan-base, personal activism and the staging and positioning implicit in becoming a role model.	There is no textbook. Set readings are available on the eReading list on Moodle.	Identifying celebrity Due: Week 3 Friday (28 July 2023) 5:00 pm AEST

Module 3: Let's go old school - 07 Aug 2023

--------------	---------	------------------------------

In the last module we looked at social media positioning but that's not the only way we hear about people and celebrities. In this module, we think about news media, events and other forms of promotion. An individual might know how they want to appear and what they want to say, then they also need to get the right people to hear their message. Celebrities generate fans, and with fandom comes an opportunity to tailor messages. We also continue to think about the long-term consequences of fame.

There is no textbook. Set readings are available on the eReading list on Moodle.

Vacation Week - 14 Aug 2023

Module/Topic	Chapter	Events and Submissions/Topic
--------------	---------	------------------------------

Module 4: Being judged - 21 Aug 2023

Module/Topic	Chapter	Events and Submissions/Topic
Let's talk about social influencers, and the ethics and morals involved in seeking insta-fame. Fame creates personal consequences since it introduces a level of scrutiny not felt by the majority of the population. Fame also imposes leadership and role model responsibilities. At its core, public relations is about manipulation. Managed unethically, this power can result in hurt or harm, not only to the celebrity but also to those who follow them. This module considers celebrity public relations in the context of the Public Relations Institute of Australia's Code of Ethics. You will also think about the emotional intelligence required in presenting a personal brand.	There is no textbook. Set readings are available on the eReading list on Moodle.	Workbook and Reflection Due: Week 7 Friday (1 Sept 2023) 5:00 pm AEST

Module 5: Fame and Infamy - 04 Sep 2023

Module/Topic	Chapter	Events and Submissions/Topic
There is power in public opinion. Whilst positive public opinion can bring great reward, what happens if the opposite occurs? This module considers reputation management especially when it relates to scandals, lies and cover-ups. When dealing with individuals, human nature comes into play. Temptations and mistakes can occur. The scrutiny can be intense, so intense that some individuals may choose to hide from it completely by lying or attempting to cover-up the mistake. This module considers negative publicity or unwanted publicity, and how it might be possible to rebuild or recover a personal brand.	There is no textbook. Set readings are available on the eReading list on Moodle.

Module 6: Creating a Personal Profile - 18 Sep 2023

--------------	---------	------------------------------

Action stations! Get ready to be judged by public opinion. In this module, we learn how to plan and create a strategy to boost public awareness of an individual. Not everything will go to plan so we will learn about creating contingencies and developing ethical strategies that are realistic for an individual to maintain for an extended period of time. You will put into practice this knowledge as you create a real-world personal profile for an individual.

There is no textbook. Set readings are available on the eReading list on Moodle.

Week 12: Review - 02 Oct 2023

Module/Topic	Chapter	Events and Submissions/Topic
There is no new content this week. Use the time to finalise your assessment.

Review/Exam Week - 09 Oct 2023

Module/Topic	Chapter	Events and Submissions/Topic
		Boost a public profile Due: Review/Exam Week Monday (9 Oct 2023) 11:59 pm AEST

Assessment Tasks

1 Identifying celebrity

Assessment Type

Peer assessment

Task Description

This assessment is in two parts.

Part One has two elements. Part One Element One requires you to select an example of celebrity public relations and share the example with the rest of the class. Part One Element Two requires you to then assess two other student examples, based on provided feedback criteria as to whether the example presented is a good example of celebrity public relations. You will be graded in two parts: the quality of the selection of your example, and the quality of feedback provided to peers.

Part Two is to choose a person to promote for Assessment 3. In 300 words, you must justify their motivation for fame, and explain the benefit in lifting their public profile.

Marking criteria is available on Moodle. A feedback criteria sheet and instructions for providing feedback to others is also available on Moodle.

Part One Element One - 5%

Select an example of an individual who has deliberately engaged in public relations activities to manipulate or boost their public profile. You might identify this individual from news media or social media or from some other form of deliberate public relations activity. Explain who the individual is and justify why they meet the definition of 'celebrity'. Support this justification with appropriate academic references. Consider the personal branding the individual is trying to portray. Explain the ethical considerations implicit in this brand. Use the exemplar on Moodle to guide the presentation of your document. The word count for this Part is 200 words. Do not be misled by the small word count. This is designed to be deliberately challenging. You will need to think carefully about what information you include for this assessment. This assessment is to provide an overview of the individual only, and to explore concepts that will be expanded during the unit (such as celebrity, public relations, personal branding and ethics).

Part One Element One is due in Week 2. Instructions for submission are on Moodle.

Part One Element Two -10%

You will be provided with criteria for providing feedback to peers. Using this criteria, you will provide feedback on two student submissions. You will explain whether the example of celebrity submitted meets the definition of 'celebrity' and you will provide helpful comments on the public relations elements evident in the celebrity's brand.

Your grade for Part One Element Two will be based on the quality of the feedback you provide. You are expected to provide 100-150 words of feedback per submission.

Part One Element Two is due in Week 3. Instructions on how to complete the peer feedback is on Moodle.

Part Two - 5%

Part Two is due in Week 3, via the assessment submission tile on Moodle. Your task is to Review the requirements of Assessment 3 (which is due at the end of term). In Assessment 3, you will boost a personal profile for a real individual. You are permitted (and encouraged) to choose yourself. You are permitted to work in optional groups to promote a fellow student. For this Assessment (Assessment 1, Part Two), you must nominate the individual you have selected for Assessment 3. In 200 words, explain their motivation for an increased public profile. Conduct a preliminary online search on this individual. Include a description of their publicly available social media presence, the number of followers or subscribers, the number of posts, and any other relevant information that can be used to justify the choice. This information will form a baseline for any promotion that is to follow. You MUST include an authorisation from the individual to use their identity for a real campaign.

The main outcome of Part Two is to ensure the individual is a viable choice for Assessment 3.

Assessment Due Date

Week 3 Friday (28 July 2023) 5:00 pm AEST

Part One Element One must be posted by Friday of Week 2, to allow time for the completion of Part One Element Two.

Return Date to Students

Assessments will usually be marked and returned within ten days.

Part One - 30%

Each Module on Moodle contains a series of activities. These activities are designed to apply the content being learned in that Module. Using the workbook template on Moodle, complete 10 activities. Chosen strategically, completion of the activities will guide a quality campaign.

Part Two - 10%

Use a voice recorder to record yourself reflecting on the lessons learned from the workbook activities. Use this part of the assessment to discuss problems or issues that you are now considering for Assessment 3. Think of this part as a forward-facing consideration of the assessment that is to follow, based on your learning of the theory so far. ## 3 Boost a public profile

Assessment Type

Practical Assessment

Task Description

This assessment requires you to plan and implement a celebrity public relations campaign to boost the profile of an individual. You will use the elements as determined in Assessment 2 and the lessons learned to create an ethical publicity campaign for an individual. The topic of the campaign will be as identified in Assessment 1 Part Two, unless otherwise negotiated with the Unit Coordinator, and may include an opportunity to work with other students who are wanting to boost their professional profile. You are expected to conduct the campaign for a minimum period of three weeks. This is an actual campaign for a real person, with real timeframes and real consequences.

You will present a written document explaining who you chose, what you did and the result. You are expected to include evidence of the campaign. This may include screen shots of social media posts, news clippings, photographs of an event, or a link to a website. There must be some form of evaluation, as a before and after measure of profile. You may choose to promote yourself.

Some ideas of things you can do:

- Boost your online presence. Set up a personal website or a professional LinkedIn identity, with a strategy to boost the numbers of followers. This might be achieved by posting to LinkedIn, following groups and actively engaging with a professional community. You might choose this option if you want to promote yourself and get a new job. You could also choose this option on behalf of another individual.
- Personal activism. Host an event to publicise an issue. You might link this to an awareness day as a means of deliberate messaging, or you might respond to an issue currently in the media. In this option, you are representing an individual who will become identified as an advocate for a particular issue. The individual will be branded with this activist identity. This individual can be yourself.
- Promotion of a sole-operator business. An individual who runs their own business or who has a job where there is a high public profile can benefit from promoting themselves as a way of promoting their business. In this case, the personal branding would be closely aligned with the needs of the business or the professional position held by the individual. Techniques for promotion could include becoming an expert spokesperson for a topic, and publicly commenting on events related to that topic.

There are many options! Speak to the Unit Coordinator about your idea.

The word count for the final report is 2,500 words.

As a student, you are responsible for reading and following CQUniversity's policies, including the Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure. This policy sets out CQUniversity's expectations of you to act with integrity, examples of academic integrity breaches to avoid, the processes used to address alleged breaches of academic integrity, and potential penalties.

What is a breach of academic integrity?

A breach of academic integrity includes but is not limited to plagiarism, self-plagiarism, collusion, cheating, contract cheating, and academic misconduct. The Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure defines what these terms mean and gives examples.

Why is academic integrity important?

A breach of academic integrity may result in one or more penalties, including suspension or even expulsion from the University. It can also have negative implications for student visas and future enrolment at CQUniversity or elsewhere. Students who engage in contract cheating also risk being blackmailed by contract cheating services.
