General Information

Overview

This unit introduces you to the basic elements of criminology and criminal justice. The nature and trends associated with crime are examined, together with how it relates to dimensions such as social class, age, gender and ethnicity. You will examine crime in the context of contemporary criminology theory. This unit also introduces you to the institutional response to Criminal Justice in Australia, how society responds to offensive behaviour and the roles of key agencies and individuals within the justice system.

Previous Student Feedback

Feedback, Recommendations and Responses

Every unit is reviewed for enhancement each year. At the most recent review, the following staff and student feedback items were identified and recommendations were made.

Feedback from Student evaluation (qualitative)

More real-world examples

Recommendation

A primary case study could be applied to each week wherein a theory of crime is explored, allowing students to connect and apply the key concepts to a real crime event during the lecture and workshop.

Feedback from Anecdotal student feedback; UC reflection

Feedback

Clarity around use of AI

Recommendation

Students should be provided with clear parameters around the use of AI at the outset of the unit, especially as this is a first-year subject. This information should be based on best practice as advised by the Academic Integrity Unit. Students should be guided on appropriate use of AI, and where it should not be utilised this must be made clear within the marking instructions/rubric/guides.
