

CRIM11004 Crime and Control

Term 2 - 2021

Profile information current as at 29/04/2024 09:00 am

All details in this unit profile for CRIM11004 have been officially approved by CQUniversity and represent a learning partnership between the University and you (our student). The information will not be changed unless absolutely necessary and any change will be clearly indicated by an approved correction included in the profile.

General Information

Overview

Systems of social control can possess a different character depending on whether you are a proponent of regulation or the subject of it. In this unit you will explore the ideas of conformity and delinquency through the lens of regulatory and systems theories in order to understand the impact of the criminal justice system on non-conforming members of society. Regulatory standards change over time and you will consider the history of moral and social regulation and achieve an appreciation of the influence of changing social mores on the criminal justice system, on outsiders and on marginalised communities. These mechanisms of control, both formal and informal, involve an intersection of criminal justice with other disciplines and agencies such as mental health or public planning. In contrast you will also examine the role of other regulatory systems, such as human rights and civil liberties, in protecting individuals from authoritarian control. During this unit you will debate a gamut of different issues including regulation of sexuality, drug use (illicit and legal drugs), control of youth cultures, hate crime, causing offense and supporting terrorism.

Pre-requisites or Co-requisites

There are no requisites for this unit.

Important note: Students enrolled in a subsequent unit who failed their pre-requisite unit, should drop the subsequent unit before the census date or within 10 working days of Fail grade notification. Students who do not drop the unit in this timeframe cannot later drop the unit without academic and financial liability. See details in the Assessment Policy and Procedure \(Higher Education Coursework\).

Offerings For Term 2 - 2021

- Online

Attendance Requirements

All on-campus students are expected to attend scheduled classes – in some units, these classes are identified as a mandatory (pass/fail) component and attendance is compulsory. International students, on a student visa, must maintain a full time study load and meet both attendance and academic progress requirements in each study period (satisfactory attendance for International students is defined as maintaining at least an 80% attendance record).

Website

This unit has a website, within the Moodle system, which is available two weeks before the start of term. It is important that you visit your Moodle site throughout the term. Please visit Moodle for more information.

Class and Assessment Overview

Recommended Student Time Commitment

Each 6-credit Undergraduate unit at CQUniversity requires an overall time commitment of an average of 12.5 hours of study per week, making a total of 150 hours for the unit.

Assessment Grading

This is a graded unit: your overall grade will be calculated from the marks or grades for each assessment task, based on the relative weightings shown in the table above. You must obtain an overall mark for the unit of at least 50%, or an overall grade of 'pass' in order to pass the unit. If any 'pass/fail' tasks are shown in the table above they must also be completed successfully ('pass' grade). You must also meet any minimum mark requirements specified for a particular assessment task, as detailed in the 'assessment task' section (note that in some instances, the minimum mark for a task may be greater than 50%). Consult the University's Grades and Results Policy for more details of interim results and final grades.

CQUniversity Policies

All University policies are available on the CQUniversity Policy site.

You may wish to view these policies:

Previous Student Feedback

Feedback, Recommendations and Responses

Every unit is reviewed for enhancement each year. At the most recent review, the following staff and student feedback items were identified and recommendations were made.

Feedback from Student Unit and Teaching Evaluation

Feedback

Students found the Unit content engaging and interesting

Recommendation

The contemporary criminological topics will be reviewed and updated where necessary to maintain the cutting edge and engaging content of the Unit.

Feedback from Student feedback

Feedback

Students enjoyed the guest lectures throughout the Unit and found them beneficial for their learning

Recommendation

A range of guest lectures from industry experts including criminologists, psychologists, practitioners and activists will be included in the Unit in order to present a diverse array of voices and perspectives.

Feedback from Student Unit and Teaching Evaluation

Feedback

Students were very satisfied with the learning support received during the unit

Recommendation

The study guide containing learning resources will be developed into a second iteration which will include additional information and learning resources in order to maintain currency and a contemporary unit. The UC will continue to be available via phone, Zoom and email for additional tutorials/meetings.

Feedback from Student Unit and Teaching Evaluation and student feedback

Feedback

Students were very satisfied with the flipped learning model used throughout the unit, and found the inclusivity, the groupwork and other activities fostered a strong sense of community within the unit

Recommendation

The flipped learning model will continue to be used along with strategies to encourage student participation in class or via Moodle in order to create positive student networks within the Unit and to encourage an inclusive learning environment.

Feedback from Unit data

Feedback

Some students did not engage with the unit

Recommendation

The College's best practice guidance will be employed to contact non engaging students early on in the term (week 2 or 3) in order to discuss any barriers to engagement.

Unit Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

1. Analyse how different concepts of delinquency and social order define the regulatory role of the criminal justice system
2. Appraise the situation of socially marginalised people who are subject to systems of authoritarian control
3. Explain the social, historical and cultural intersection of systems of control originating in different disciplines and institutions
4. Identify cases of social control and critically examine the regulatory foundation and assessment of risk
5. Use regulatory theory to examine the methods by which societies seek to control behaviour through criminal law and consider balancing protections such as human rights.

No external accreditation is relevant to this award.

Assessment Tasks

1 Learning Log portfolio

Assessment Type

Learning logs / diaries / journal / log books

Task Description

Students will submit a learning log portfolio consisting of short activities relating to criminology to demonstrate their knowledge and understanding of various criminological issues relating to crime and control. The learning log will consist of several activities provided in the study guide.

Students are provided with a task to complete for 10 weeks in the study guide (there are no tasks to complete for modules 6 and 12). These short tasks make up the learning log, and there are 10 tasks in total. Each task is relevant to that module's particular topic and will develop your knowledge and reflections in relation to crime and control.

Word length per task is 300-330 words. There are 10 tasks to complete, and students will submit any 5 of these tasks to form the learning log. Students can choose which 5 tasks to submit for assessment. Word limit: 1600 words.

Responses must be written as complete sentences except where tables or bullet points are appropriate.

Students should include a separate reference list at the end of the portfolio for all material cited. Referencing must adhere to American Psychological Association (APA) guidelines, which can be found here. The reference list is not included in the word limit. More information relating to referencing can be found here.

Lecture notes should not be used as part of the reference list, instead students should find the original source/author.

Remember to avoid non-scholarly sources such as dictionaries and Wikipedia.

Submission guidelines

The first page of the assignment is to be a title page containing: the assessment title, your name and student identification, the unit name and unit code, and the due date.

A contents page is required at the beginning of the portfolio and pages should be numbered.

Use 11 or 12 point font size, a sensible font, and 1.5 or double line spacing.

Submission is via Moodle.

Assessment Type

Online Quiz(zes)

Task Description

This test will consist of both multiple choice and short answer questions.

The quiz will open on Wednesday at 9am (AEST) in week 8 (08/09/21) and close on Wednesday in week 9 (15/09/21) at 9am (AEST).

This is an online multiple choice and short answer assessment. The questions will be drawn from the material from weeks 1-7. The quiz will include material from lectures, workshops, readings and other resources

The quiz will consist of 20 questions. Students will have to complete this assessment in one session. Multiple attempts will not be available, so think carefully about your responses. You will not be able to go back and change your responses.

This assessment item:

- is a school based activity
- is an individual activity

3 Case Study

Assessment Type

Case Study

Task Description

A case study requires you to analyse and write about a person, a scenario, an event or an organisation. You will be given a choice of topics on which to base your case study, and these will be drawn from the modules covered in the unit. The purpose of a case study is to apply the concepts and theories you have learnt about in Crime & Control unit to the particular case you have selected.

What is a case?

A case can be an event, a problem, a process, an activity, an organisation, an individual person or a group of people.

What is a case study?

A case study is an in-depth exploration or examination of one of the above. A case study should be highly descriptive, nuanced, detailed and should emphasise the specific context(s) of the example being examined.

Your case study will be focusing on a deviant or marginalised group in society.

Assessment instructions

For this assessment you are required to produce a case study focusing on the legal and/or societal regulation of a deviant or marginalised group in society. You will explore:

- Who the marginalised or deviant group is
- the reasons for control (these may be legal or social or both)
- the regulatory strategies employed
- the balancing protections in place such as human rights and civil liberties

Students will be able to choose their case from a choice of topics provided, which will be drawn from the Crime & Control modules. You can choose to focus your case within an Australian context or another global context, or you can compare and contrast various global and political contexts from around the world.

You are required to identify, describe and explain the current issues related to the deviant or marginalised group and the current regulatory policies in place to control that particular group.

1. Identify and describe the marginalised or deviant group that you have selected for the case study
 2. Describe and explain the current issues or problems relating to the group you have selected for the case study
 3. Describe the historical and current context of the issue or problem
- Why is the group considered problematic in their country/culture/society?
 - Has this changed or developed over time or during different political periods?
4. Critically evaluate how the issues are framed or positioned by the government or by society, drawing on theoretical perspectives from the unit
 5. Describe and explain the current laws and policies that shape or are designed to respond to the problem
 6. Describe and explain the current balancing protections in place e.g. human rights and civil liberties. The balancing protections may be formal or informal, organised by charities, NGOs, etc
 7. Conclude the case study by providing an overview of the main points

Content:

Make sure you provide a short summary of the case at the beginning. This will provide context for the rest of your analysis. The main part of the assessment will involve you discussing the issues and problems relating to the case and applying the concepts and theories you have learnt about to the case study. This means that you will be referencing research and theory to support your ideas. You should also include details of relevant policies and laws if these are important to your case.

Structure:

A case study can be structured in the same way as an essay, with an introduction, a series of body paragraphs and a conclusion. However, unlike essays, case studies usually have headings based on information in the task description or marking criteria. It is strongly suggested that you include subheadings to structure the case study, for example Summary of the case, Identification of main issues, Regulatory strategies etc. the choice of subheadings will depend on the topic and content of the case study.

Make sure you have a good balance between describing your case study and analysing it. Many students fall into the trap of being too descriptive when writing about their case. Some ways to include analysis are:

Explaining and giving reasons

Comparing and contrasting

Making suggestions and recommendations

Supporting your ideas with information from sources

Style:

Case studies require you to write in the third person (people's names, he/she/they, and so forth) when discussing the theories or research of authors, the group, the professionals or the organisations involved in the case. You should write the case study in a formal, academic style. You can include images and pictures in your case study, as long as they are correctly referenced and openly available.

Submission guidance:

The first page of the assignment is to be a title page containing: the assessment title, your name and student identification, the unit name and unit code, and the due date.

Use 11 or 12point font size, a sensible font, and 1.5 or double line spacing. Do not make the text too small.

The reference list is not included in the word limit. Word limit: 1500 words.

Submission is via Moodle.

4 Case Study presentation

Assessment Type

Presentation

Task Description

Content:

For this assessment students are required to produce a 7 minute video presentation based on the topic selected for the case study assessment.

The presentation should address:

- Which marginalised or deviant group is the focus of the case study
- Provide some background about this group, including a brief overview of the reasons why they are considered to be deviant or marginalised, including examples
- Why you have selected this particular group as the focus of your case study

Style:

Students are able to use the video production software of their choice. Some examples of this software or software with a free trial include Zoom, Camtasia and Screencast-O-Matic.

You are permitted to use Powerpoint or Prezzi, however, be very selective with the content of the slides, avoid placing too much text on slides and avoid death by Powerpoint!

There is no requirement to include slides for the presentation. The choice of delivery mode for the video is up to individual students.

Be creative! Include imagery, photographs, music and captions in the videos, however, please avoid including particularly distressing or graphic imagery, and make sure you have the correct permissions and any music is royalty free. There are plenty of online sources for royalty free music and copyright free images. For example see <https://freemusicarchive.org/> and <https://pixabay.com/> for a starting point.

Submission guidelines:

The videos should be narrated in the 1st person style, meaning the use of words such as 'me/I/our/their' is permitted.

The video presentation should be around 7 minutes long, penalties will apply if the video is longer than 7 minutes 15 seconds or shorter than 6 minutes 45 seconds.

A reference list must be submitted with the video presentation.

Submission will be via Moodle.

Academic Integrity Statement

As a CQUniversity student you are expected to act honestly in all aspects of your academic work.

Any assessable work undertaken or submitted for review or assessment must be your own work. Assessable work is any type of work you do to meet the assessment requirements in the unit, including draft work submitted for review and feedback and final work to be assessed.

When you use the ideas, words or data of others in your assessment, you must thoroughly and clearly acknowledge the source of this information by using the correct referencing style for your unit. Using others' work without proper acknowledgement may be considered a form of intellectual dishonesty.

Participating honestly, respectfully, responsibly, and fairly in your university study ensures the CQUniversity qualification you earn will be valued as a true indication of your individual academic achievement and will continue to receive the respect and recognition it deserves.

As a student, you are responsible for reading and following CQUniversity's policies, including the Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure. This policy sets out CQUniversity's expectations of you to act with integrity, examples of academic integrity breaches to avoid, the processes used to address alleged breaches of academic integrity, and potential penalties.

What is a breach of academic integrity?

A breach of academic integrity includes but is not limited to plagiarism, self-plagiarism, collusion, cheating, contract cheating, and academic misconduct. The Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure defines what these terms mean and gives examples.

Why is academic integrity important?

A breach of academic integrity may result in one or more penalties, including suspension or even expulsion from the University. It can also have negative implications for student visas and future enrolment at CQUniversity or elsewhere. Students who engage in contract cheating also risk being blackmailed by contract cheating services.

Where can I get assistance?

For academic advice and guidance, the Academic Learning Centre \(ALC\) can support you in becoming confident in completing assessments with integrity and of high standard.

What can you do to act with integrity?

Be Honest

If your assessment task is done by someone else, it would be dishonest of you to claim it as your own

Seek Help

If you are not sure about how to cite or reference in essays, reports etc, then seek help from your lecturer, the library or the Academic Learning Centre (ALC)

Produce Original Work

Originality comes from your ability to read widely, think critically, and apply your gained knowledge to address a question or problem
