General Information

Overview

While much of the criminal justice system is oriented toward street crime there are important mechanisms that seek to regulate the crimes of the powerful including white collar crime, organised crime, institutional crime and corruption. In this unit you will examine the distinctive position of each of these forms of crime and the major hurdles they present for law enforcement and the courts. You will critically examine the different institutional responses to crimes of the powerful particularly in structures of accountability and the creation of regulatory agencies. You will also discuss emerging areas of study such as systemic inequality and generational crime. This knowledge will be applied through the development of an organisational audit or compliance plan that regulates illegal behaviour.

Previous Student Feedback

Feedback, Recommendations and Responses

Every unit is reviewed for enhancement each year. At the most recent review, the following staff and student feedback items were identified and recommendations were made.

Feedback from Qualitative SUTE data

Feedback

Real world perspectives and engaging conversations are encouraging critical thinking about crimes of the powerful.

Recommendation

Further develop content and activities to encourage critical thinking and analysis, whilst applying concepts and theories to concrete situations. Maintain focus on contemporary real-world events via engaging conversations.

Feedback

The teaching style is engaging and encourages meaningful study.

Recommendation

Continue with the current approach to teaching and keep activities that encourage exploration, curiosity and open conversation.

Feedback from Qualitative SUTE data

Feedback

Clarity of assessment expectations and feedback could be improved.

Recommendation

Expectations for assessments will be made clearer, and teaching staff will encourage questions and discussion of requirements. Notifications will be made to students about feedback and where to access it.

Feedback

Content could be more socially critical and contemporary.

Recommendation

Continue to revise and add socially critical content that examine power structures, inequality, and systemic harm to deepen critical engagement.
