General Information

Overview

This unit will provide you with specialist knowledge of responses and interventions to domestic and family violence, with a focus on the concepts of risk and safety as they apply to victims and perpetrators in the domestic and family violence context. Critical use is made of evidence-based research and practice and policy documents addressing domestic and family violence issues. This will enable you to explore some of the complex practice and theoretical challenges that arise from working to prevent domestic and family violence at a community level and working with distinct client groups of victims and perpetrators. You will learn more about domestic and family violence as it affects people from vulnerable populations, such as Culturally and Linguistically Diverse (CALD) and Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander communities. Legal and safety considerations that arise from working in this context and ethical, professional and self-management implications for practice are explored in this unit.

Assessment Grading

This is a graded unit: your overall grade will be calculated from the marks or grades for each assessment task, based on the relative weightings shown in the table above. You must obtain an overall mark for the unit of at least 50%, or an overall grade of 'pass' in order to pass the unit. If any 'pass/fail' tasks are shown in the table above they must also be completed successfully ('pass' grade). You must also meet any minimum mark requirements specified for a particular assessment task, as detailed in the 'assessment task' section (note that in some instances, the minimum mark for a task may be greater than 50%). Consult the University's Grades and Results Policy for more details of interim results and final grades.

Previous Student Feedback

Feedback, Recommendations and Responses

Every unit is reviewed for enhancement each year. At the most recent review, the following staff and student feedback items were identified and recommendations were made.

Feedback from unit evaluations

Feedback

assessment related information

Recommendation

additional assessment-related information is being provided via special tutorials leading up to each assessment item due date.

assessment feedback; criticism related to turnaround time of up to 10 working days; it has been explained to students that as much as we try to be as quick as possible, we cannot expect markers to mark a certain number of assessment pieces and coordinators to finalise and publish marks in less than 10 working days; students have been assured that similar to previous terms feedback will always be available at least one week before the next assessment piece is due

Recommendation

we will continue to mark and return feedback on items in a maximum of 10 working days; we are further ensuring that feedback on assessment pieces is always available at least one week prior to the next due date (we have three assignments spread out across the term to allow for staggered and ongoing feedback)

Feedback from unit evaluations

assessment feedback

Recommendation

we currently provide in text and summary comments, suggestions for improvement and feedback; we will ask students for feedback on how useful markers' feedback was after return of the first assessment piece for T2

Unit Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Assessment Tasks

1 News media analysis

Assessment Type

Portfolio

Task Description

This assessment allows you to examine news media reporting of DFV and discuss its implications on victim-survivors, their families and the broader community. You are asked to highlight key features of specific news reports, identify concerns reported in the academic literature and what implications they have for service delivery for either victim-survivors OR perpetrators of DFV. Please note that you need to write about only one of these client groups. Discuss how media news reporting may improve or hinder service delivery for your target population (victim-survivors or perpetrators).

Task

Critically analyse the following statement by Lloyd and Ramon (2017): 'News media are in a position to project certain perspectives on domestic violence while marginalizing others, which has implications for public understanding and policy development' (p. 114).

Guiding questions:

What is the nature of the reporting – what types of DFV are discussed / omitted?

What contentious issues are highlighted – what issues are not reported?

What benefits and challenges are associated with framing DV in the news reports?

What implications are there for your target client group, family members/friends, and the broader society?

A minimum of six academic references (i.e. journal articles) published 2010 or later are required for this assessment piece. In addition, you may utilise as many news media reports as you deem appropriate.

The assignment should be presented in essay format using Times News Roman 12 point font with 1.5 spacing. You should provide a brief introduction to the topic; a discussion of the relevant key issues and implications for service delivery; and a conclusion (no new information and no citations) that summarises the key points and provides suggestions for future directions.

2 Factsheet

Assessment Type

Portfolio

Task Description

This assessment provides you with the opportunity to thoroughly investigate a key issue in Domestic and Family Violence (DFV): the complex and specific concerns associated with DFV as experienced by Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples as it is related to women with disabilities.

'The issue of violence against women with disabilities is complex and profound. However, a proactive approach that is sensitive to the additional needs and vulnerabilities of these women can help to prevent further violence and increase safety.' (1800 RESPECT, 2015).

Task

In your role as practitioner of a DFV support service, you have been asked by your manager to develop a 'Factsheet' that could be used as a hand out to clients and/or poster specifically addressing the issue of DFV with reference to working with Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander women with disabilities. The manager wants you to integrate the quote above as well as identification of the target audience as well as definition(s), prevalence data, specific key issues, and intervention/prevention-related information.

Guidelines

You should provide an aesthetically appealing 'Factsheet' with information that demonstrates understanding of the specific vulnerability of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander women with disabilities (you may address a specific form of disability if you wish), barriers the target group faces and how these can be addressed and overcome through considerate human service delivery and cultural sensitivity.

A minimum of five references (including journal articles published 2010 or later) should be integrated. In addition, you may draw on Australian statistics from government websites (e.g. Australian Bureau of Statistics, Australian Institute of Health and Welfare).

3 Academic Essay - Integrated Responses

Assessment Type

Written Assessment

Task Description

Task

You are asked to review national and international literature on 'best practice' in integrated responses to Domestic and Family Violence (DFV). You are required to write an academic essay that provides you with the opportunity to thoroughly investigate and critique integrated service responses to DFV.

Guidelines

The following information should be integrated:

- Definition of the concept 'integrated response'
- Explanation of what makes an effective 'integrated response' a best practice approach
- Comparison and differentiation of the concepts of 'integrated response' with 'inter-agency responses, 'collaborative responses' or 'partnership responses'
- Identification and discussion of challenges associated with forming integrated responses to DFV (e.g. agency specific, and legislative) and how these might be overcome
- Consideration of the benefits of integrated responses for victim-survivors, perpetrators, and services involved
- Discussion of relevance for highly vulnerable population groups

A minimum of ten academic references (i.e. journal articles) published 2010 or later are required for this assessment piece. In addition, you may draw on relevant practice guidelines and published reports or service manuals.

The assignment should be presented in essay format using Times New Roman 12 point font with 1.5 spacing. You should provide a brief introduction to the topic, a discussion of the different key points, and a conclusion (no new information and no citations) that summarises the key points and provides suggestions for future directions.

Academic Integrity Statement

As a CQUniversity student you are expected to act honestly in all aspects of your academic work.

Any assessable work undertaken or submitted for review or assessment must be your own work. Assessable work is any type of work you do to meet the assessment requirements in the unit, including draft work submitted for review and feedback and final work to be assessed.

When you use the ideas, words or data of others in your assessment, you must thoroughly and clearly acknowledge the source of this information by using the correct referencing style for your unit. Using others' work without proper acknowledgement may be considered a form of intellectual dishonesty.

Participating honestly, respectfully, responsibly, and fairly in your university study ensures the CQUniversity qualification you earn will be valued as a true indication of your individual academic achievement and will continue to receive the respect and recognition it deserves.

As a student, you are responsible for reading and following CQUniversity's policies, including the Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure. This policy sets out CQUniversity's expectations of you to act with integrity, examples of academic integrity breaches to avoid, the processes used to address alleged breaches of academic integrity, and potential penalties.

What is a breach of academic integrity?

A breach of academic integrity includes but is not limited to plagiarism, self-plagiarism, collusion, cheating, contract cheating, and academic misconduct. The Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure defines what these terms mean and gives examples.

Why is academic integrity important?

A breach of academic integrity may result in one or more penalties, including suspension or even expulsion from the University. It can also have negative implications for student visas and future enrolment at CQUniversity or elsewhere. Students who engage in contract cheating also risk being blackmailed by contract cheating services.

Where can I get assistance?

For academic advice and guidance, the Academic Learning Centre \(ALC\) can support you in becoming confident in completing assessments with integrity and of high standard.

What can you do to act with integrity?

Be Honest

If your assessment task is done by someone else, it would be dishonest of you to claim it as your own

Seek Help

If you are not sure about how to cite or reference in essays, reports etc, then seek help from your lecturer, the library or the Academic Learning Centre (ALC)

Produce Original Work

Originality comes from your ability to read widely, think critically, and apply your gained knowledge to address a question or problem
