General Information

Overview

This foundation unit will deepen your understanding of responses and interventions to address domestic and family violence. You will make critical use of evidence-based research, practice and policy documents to explore some of the complex practice and theoretical challenges that arise from working to prevent domestic and family violence at a community level and working with distinct client groups of victims and perpetrators. You will learn more about domestic and family violence responses for priority populations. Legal, ethical and safety considerations that arise from working in this context will be explored to determine how they impact your and other professionals' values, ethics and perspectives.

Assessment Overview

Assessment Grading

This is a graded unit: your overall grade will be calculated from the marks or grades for each assessment task, based on the relative weightings shown in the table above. You must obtain an overall mark for the unit of at least 50%, or an overall grade of 'pass' in order to pass the unit. If any 'pass/fail' tasks are shown in the table above they must also be completed successfully ('pass' grade). You must also meet any minimum mark requirements specified for a particular assessment task, as detailed in the 'assessment task' section (note that in some instances, the minimum mark for a task may be greater than 50%). Consult the University's Grades and Results Policy for more details of interim results and final grades.

Previous Student Feedback

Feedback, Recommendations and Responses

Every unit is reviewed for enhancement each year. At the most recent review, the following staff and student feedback items were identified and recommendations were made.

Feedback from Student evaluation

Feedback

Students appreciated the focus on practice in their assessment items, as it highlighted the relevance of what they were learning to their work.

Recommendation

Continue to provide practice-focused assignments for students.

Feedback from Student evaluation

Feedback

Students highlighted the strengths of the unit learning material in terms of demonstrating how domestic violence responses are delivered, including practical examples.

Recommendation

Continue to provide learning material on the specifics of domestic violence response delivery, and keep updating the material with practice advances and up-to-date practice examples.

Feedback from Student evaluation

Feedback

Students would appreciate more instructions on the assignment than is provided in written instructions and pre-recorded assessment videos.

Recommendation

Hold drop-in sessions specifically for questions on the assignments.

Unit Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

1. Differentiate among primary, secondary and tertiary responses to domestic and family violence.
2. Evaluate organisational structures, behaviours and perspectives which are relevant to domestic and family violence responses.
3. Appraise responses to people experiencing/perpetrating domestic and family violence, incorporating a focus on priority populations.
4. Reflect on own values, ethics and perspectives in the area of domestic and family violence.
