DFVP20005 Men's Behaviour Change Interventions and Practice
Term 1 - 2023

Profile information current as at 28/04/2024 09:41 pm

General Information

Overview

This unit will provide you with opportunities to develop specialist knowledge of men's behaviour change interventions and practice with a specific focus on working with voluntary and involuntary clients in domestic and family violence work. Critical use is made of evidence-based research, and practice and policy documents addressing issues related to working with male perpetrators of violence. You will explore the origins of men's behaviour change interventions, and the legal and safety considerations that arise from working with this client group, particularly as they apply to group work modalities. You will consider ethical, professional and self-management implications for practice. Domestic and family violence perpetration as it affects people from priority populations, such as Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples and people from Culturally and Linguistically Diverse (CALD) communities will be considered in this unit.

Assessment Overview

Assessment Grading
This is a graded unit: your overall grade will be calculated from the marks or grades for each assessment task, based on the relative weightings shown in the table above. You must obtain an overall mark for the unit of at least 50%, or an overall grade of 'pass' in order to pass the unit. If any 'pass/fail' tasks are shown in the table above they must also be completed successfully ('pass' grade). You must also meet any minimum mark requirements specified for a particular assessment task, as detailed in the 'assessment task' section (note that in some instances, the minimum mark for a task may be greater than 50%). Consult the University's Grades and Results Policy for more details of interim results and final grades.

Unit Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

1. Assess the complexities of working with voluntary and involuntary clients who use violence in relation to the influence of gender, ethnicity, and culture.
2. Investigate the history and development of men's behaviour change programs and their applicability, across a range of contexts.
3. Formulate strategies to address the safety issues for the family members of users of violence.
4. Identify and analyse legal, safety and ethical principles in working with users of violence.
