General Information

Overview

This unit of study builds on the prerequisite unit to teach visual storytelling concepts and narrative film-making techniques. You will learn how to create a visual story narrative by employing principles and elements of story design. You will develop practical film-making skills related to directing and cinematography during the production of a narrative short film. You will learn how to constructively critique screen production work through an exploration of screen culture and history.

Previous Student Feedback

Feedback, Recommendations and Responses

Every unit is reviewed for enhancement each year. At the most recent review, the following staff and student feedback items were identified and recommendations were made.

Feedback from Formal student unit evaluation

The workload was high and some assessment activities did not seem relevant.

Recommendation

Assessment tasks will be revised to include more direct scaffolding to assist students with managing the 12.5 hour weekly workload. Assessment workbooks will be reviewed to reinforce the connection between analytical and practical tasks.

Feedback from Staff observations

Feedback

There was not enough time after assessment 2 was submitted for students to get feedback prior to shooting their films.

Recommendation

Incorporate a formal one-on-one feedback session with each student's tutor into assessment 2 so that students get feedback on their preproduction materials and can make appropriate adjustments well in advance of going into production.
