Term 1 - 2024

Profile information current as at 15/05/2024 08:20 am

All details in this unit profile for DSMG20003 have been officially approved by CQUniversity and represent a learning partnership between the University and you (our student). The information will not be changed unless absolutely necessary and any change will be clearly indicated by an approved correction included in the profile.

General Information

Overview

The emergency and disaster management sector has highlighted the importance of contemporary practice being grounded in research. In this unit, you will be encouraged to explore the notion of research, plus the important questions of why and how research can and should inform the different phases of emergency and disaster management. In order to do so, you will build knowledge and skills in critically analysing research, understandings of the frameworks and practices guiding the ethical conduct of research and your role in utilising and implementing research in a professionally and ethically responsible manner. You will learn fundamental underpinning research literacies and how you can use these to inform decision-making processes grounded in evidence-based practice.

Assessment Tasks

1 Engaging with Research

Assessment Type

Written Assessment

Task Description

In assessment task one, you will explore the research literature of a topic (see scenario below) related to emergency and disaster management and work on developing your research literacy skills. In particular, you will be demonstrating your knowledge and skills in locating research and literature sources (part 1) and analysing these sources (part 2). You must use the scenario below to undertake Part 1) and Part 2).

Part 1) Searching the LiteratureScenario:

You are part of a project team focusing on the well-being of emergency and disaster management personnel in Australia. Your initial task is to research peer-reviewed literature that will inform a comprehensive report on the challenges faced by volunteers and emergency services staff, particularly focusing on fatigue. This report is critical in understanding the current state of fatigue among these workers and will help in developing strategies to mitigate its effects.

Literature Area) What peer-reviewed literature has been published in the last 10 years on trends and developments in managing volunteer and staff fatigue in emergency and disaster management services?

This area aims to analyse the evolution of strategies and practices in managing fatigue among emergency services staff over the 10 years. The focus will be on strategies, changes in policy, and the integration of new approaches to ensure the well-being of these critical workers.

Activity instructions

Based on the above scenario, you need to conduct and document a literature search (for the literature area in the above scenario). For this activity, you are required to use the CQUniversity seven (7) step literature search process, including the search techniques available within each step, to search the academic databases in the CQUniversity library catalogue. You must use the CQUniversity library catalogue and document your search using the table provided in the Assessment Task One Template (see Assessment Tile in Moodle).

You need to document your searches (for the literature area in the above scenario) in the table and this information must be sufficiently detailed so that the searches can be replicated by your project team colleagues.

Part 2) Using the literature

Using the literature searches you conducted in Part 1) you must:

1. Select five pieces of peer-reviewed literature (that you found using your searches).
2. Write a short, annotated bibliography for each source using the CQUniversity Annotated Bibliography Info Sheet published by the Academic Learning Centre (which is located in the eReading List).
3. Write a short overview of the actual or potential implications of the five pieces of peer-reviewed literature on the four (4) phases of emergency and disaster management (that is, prevention, preparedness, response and recovery). Your short overview will be up to 250 words.

Presentation requirements

You must use the Assessment Task One Template located in the Assessment Tile in Moodle.
You must submit the document as a Word file or PDF.

The articles are also located in the Reading List) and provide responses to the below:

1. What is the research question or question(s) addressed in the chosen article?

2. What is the gap in knowledge that the article addresses?
3. Identify and provide an overview of the research method/s used.
4. Outline one strength and one possible weakness (with references to support) associated with the chosen method/s.
5. What are the key findings of the research reported in the chosen article?
6. How could the findings from the chosen article be utilized to improve an area of emergency and disaster management practice?
7. Name and define one ethical issue (with references to support) that would have been relevant in undertaking the research reported in the article.
8. Outline strategies (with references to support) that could have been used to mitigate the impact of the identified ethical issue (300 to 400 words).

This exploration will include formulating recommendations for utilising and implementing the research and its findings in an organisation of your choice. Finally, you need to formulate future possible directions for research in this contemporary topic (what additional research would be useful). Assessment task three has both a written component and an audio component in the form of a PowerPoint presentation. You may select any contemporary topic related to emergency and disaster management, and as such, the interest and your assessment response will be unique to you. You may choose to continue with the topic of fatigue from assessments 1 and 2 if you wish; additionally, see Moodle for other topic ideas.

Your PowerPoint Presentation must cover the following seven (7) components including:

1. Brief description of the contemporary topic (what is it and how is it defined in the literature).
2. The rationale for your choice of contemporary topic (why is it an important issue).
3. Summary statement about what the relevant literature says about the contemporary topic.
4. Brief description of an organisation (of your choice) that might benefit from the body of literature related to the contemporary topic (what is the name of the organisation, and what is its core business).
5. One recommendation for how the findings of the body of literature related to your contemporary topic could improve a policy within your chosen organisation (what is the policy and how could it be improved due to the research findings).

Academic Integrity Statement

As a CQUniversity student you are expected to act honestly in all aspects of your academic work.

Any assessable work undertaken or submitted for review or assessment must be your own work. Assessable work is any type of work you do to meet the assessment requirements in the unit, including draft work submitted for review and feedback and final work to be assessed.

When you use the ideas, words or data of others in your assessment, you must thoroughly and clearly acknowledge the source of this information by using the correct referencing style for your unit. Using others' work without proper acknowledgement may be considered a form of intellectual dishonesty.

Participating honestly, respectfully, responsibly, and fairly in your university study ensures the CQUniversity qualification you earn will be valued as a true indication of your individual academic achievement and will continue to receive the respect and recognition it deserves.

As a student, you are responsible for reading and following CQUniversity's policies, including the Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure. This policy sets out CQUniversity's expectations of you to act with integrity, examples of academic integrity breaches to avoid, the processes used to address alleged breaches of academic integrity, and potential penalties.

What is a breach of academic integrity?

A breach of academic integrity includes but is not limited to plagiarism, self-plagiarism, collusion, cheating, contract cheating, and academic misconduct. The Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure defines what these terms mean and gives examples.

Why is academic integrity important?

A breach of academic integrity may result in one or more penalties, including suspension or even expulsion from the University. It can also have negative implications for student visas and future enrolment at CQUniversity or elsewhere. Students who engage in contract cheating also risk being blackmailed by contract cheating services.

Where can I get assistance?

For academic advice and guidance, the Academic Learning Centre \(ALC\) can support you in becoming confident in completing assessments with integrity and of high standard.

What can you do to act with integrity?

Be Honest

If your assessment task is done by someone else, it would be dishonest of you to claim it as your own

Seek Help

If you are not sure about how to cite or reference in essays, reports etc, then seek help from your lecturer, the library or the Academic Learning Centre (ALC)

Produce Original Work

Originality comes from your ability to read widely, think critically, and apply your gained knowledge to address a question or problem
