General Information

Overview

Building upon concepts in earlier units, you will explore the notion of community, safety, education and their role in the prevention, preparedness and response to emergency and disaster situations and contexts. You will identify theories that specifically support social approaches to learning and apply those approaches to emergency and disaster management. Using real-world examples and situations this unit also considers the variables that impact community safety and education and the design of activities for individuals and groups within the community, particularly those with complex needs.

Previous Student Feedback

Feedback, Recommendations and Responses

Every unit is reviewed for enhancement each year. At the most recent review, the following staff and student feedback items were identified and recommendations were made.

Feedback from Student Unit Evaluation comments

Students appreciate the preparation and organisation of various learning materials and resources.

Recommendation

Continue to provide a range of resources to support students' learning and accommodate various learning styles and needs.

Feedback

Students felt the two templates provided for assessments was confusing and that one template would be clearer to follow.

Recommendation

Only one template for the assessments will be provided to students for clarity.
