General Information

Overview

Development and Learning through Life introduces students to theoretical perspectives on human development and learning that acknowledge the significance of the diversity of children, their social and cultural contexts and the systems of relationships that influence their development. Students develop knowledge and understanding of the complex interactions between physical, social, emotional, linguistic and intellectual aspects of development and reflect on that knowledge to interpret the impact of social and cultural contexts on learning, engagement, and the educational pathways and outcomes of students with diverse socioeconomic, linguistic and cultural backgrounds. Theoretical perspectives are applied to challenge notions of universal and predictable pathways of learning and draw implications for the importance of connectedness, positive learning environments and experiences, quality care and responsive education provision in the early years and in school settings.

Previous Student Feedback

Feedback, Recommendations and Responses

Every unit is reviewed for enhancement each year. At the most recent review, the following staff and student feedback items were identified and recommendations were made.

Feedback from Student Feedback via email, in class and in phone calls.

Feedback

Students have requested more constructive feedback from markers on the first assessment task so they can use it to guide their second assessment task.

Recommendation

Provide tutors and external markers with guidance around providing explicit and detailed constructive feedback within the submitted assignment in addition to comments on the criteria sheet, so that students have a reference point for improvement.

Feedback from Student feedback via email, class, phone & moodle

More explicit and consistent assessment explanations across all campuses and online learning environments for both assessment tasks. Students felt there were inconsistencies between each learning setting and therefore were concerned they didn't have the same understandings as others.

Recommendation

Provide tutors with explicit and detailed task descriptors for both assessment tasks to ensure that they understand these thoroughly and a consistent message about assessment requirements is distributed across all learning environments. Provide these also to all students undertaking the unit both via moodle and tutors.

Unit Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

1. Analyse observations of children's learning and behaviour through reference to theoretical perspectives on development and the influence of social and cultural contexts
2. Explain the impact that factors such as gender, socio-economic, linguistic and cultural background and identity can have on educational pathways, experiences and outcomes
3. Identify factors, including the use of ICTs, that influence the development of dispositions to lifelong learning
4. Propose strategies to promote engagement, relevance and connectedness for young children and school-aged students with diverse linguistic, cultural, religious and socioeconomic backgrounds.

Successful completion of this unit provides opportunities for students to engage with the Australian Professional Standards for Teachers (Graduate Career Stage) focus areas of:

- 1.1 Physical, social and intellectual development and characteristics of students
- 1.2 Understand how students learn
- 1.3 Students with diverse linguistic, cultural, religious and socioeconomic backgrounds
- 3.4 Select and use resources
- 4.1 Support student participation

In addition, competency elements from the Diploma of Children's Services (Early Childhood Education and Care) are taught and assessed in this unit.

Assessment Tasks

1 Assessment Task 1 Child Study

Assessment Type

Practical and Written Assessment

Task Description

This task requires you to collect information related to one child in the form of observations of aspects of development, as well as their ecological contexts to draw conclusions about the possible risk or protective factors that may impact on his/ her entry to primary school.

To complete this task, follow the steps outlined below.

1. You will be allocated one child from the ABC Life Series. Analyse the videos (Life at 1 and Life at 3 series only) to extract evidence of the child's physical, social, emotional, cognitive and linguistic development and the interaction between these characteristics and the contexts he/she experiences. Note: A model for this process will be provided throughout the course.

a. Keep records of your observations of the child in the table provided for this task (Australian Professional Standards for Teachers 1.1).

b. Analyse the observations you have made and collected in the table to identify what these tell us about the child's development in the five domains: physical, cognitive, linguistic, social and emotional (Australian Professional Standards for Teachers 5.4).

c. Identify and describe the implications of these understandings for their teachers (Australian Professional Standards for Teachers 1.3 & 1.5).

d. This table of observations, analysis and implications should be located as an appendix at the end of your paper.

2. Construct a table describing possible risk and protective factors and the possible consequences of the interaction between these factors on the child's areas of development and entry to primary school. You may construct your table using colour, images, arrows, symbols, words or any other codes you devise to show connections between the ideas (Australian Professional Standards for Teachers 4.4). This table should be located as an appendix at the end of your paper.

3. Write a paper describing the findings of your child study, using your tables to justify the conclusions you have drawn and which clearly shows your understanding of the impact of potential risk and protective factors on a child's development. Your findings should:

a. Written in third person.

b. Be no more than 1200 words.

c. Indicate why you have identified a particular characteristic as a possible influence on learning and successful transition to primary school by making reference to one or more of the developmental theories studied throughout the course (Australian Professional Standards for Teachers 1.2).

d. You should consider both positive and negative influences and ways in which potential risk or protective factors are offset by other influences operating in the child's family and / or community contexts (Australian Professional Standards for Teachers 4.4).

e. Include references used to construct the written component using APA style (6th edition).

4. Your entire paper should be presented using APA style format.

WORD COUNT for written assignments:

2 Assessment Task 2 Child Profile

Assessment Type

Practical and Written Assessment

Task Description

This is a written task that builds on your child study completed for Assessment Task 1. This task requires you to construct a profile that describes your focus child at age twelve. Although the profile will be invented, you should use your knowledge of the child's characteristics and contextual factors experienced up to the age of five, seven and nine as identified in the "Life Series" examined in this course. You are also expected to draw on course readings that describe the changes that occur as children move from early to middle childhood.

To complete this task, follow the steps outlined below:

1. Describe the child's physical, social, emotional, linguistic and cognitive characteristics at twelve years of age.
2. Describe any events or interaction in social contexts that could have shaped the child's development, including the relationship between their identity, wellbeing and their learning.
3. Describe protective and risk factors which may impact the child's engagement in schooling and learning including behaviour and attitude, school culture, teacher expectations, self-image, self-identity and social interactions.
4. Research and describe teaching strategies and possible resources, including Information Communication Technologies (ICTs) that are responsive to "your" child's identified strengths, interests and developmental needs and that encourage his/her active participation in classroom activities; promote learning; and support the development of social relationships and self-esteem.

5. Use theories/theorists and other authoritative sources to support your claims and assumptions about your child's development, protective and risk factors, and why you have chosen particular teaching strategies and resources.

6. Your entire paper should be presented using APA format.

The total word limit of this assignment is a maximum of 2000 words.

WORD COUNT for written assignments:

Academic Integrity Statement

As a CQUniversity student you are expected to act honestly in all aspects of your academic work.

Any assessable work undertaken or submitted for review or assessment must be your own work. Assessable work is any type of work you do to meet the assessment requirements in the unit, including draft work submitted for review and feedback and final work to be assessed.

When you use the ideas, words or data of others in your assessment, you must thoroughly and clearly acknowledge the source of this information by using the correct referencing style for your unit. Using others' work without proper acknowledgement may be considered a form of intellectual dishonesty.

Participating honestly, respectfully, responsibly, and fairly in your university study ensures the CQUniversity qualification you earn will be valued as a true indication of your individual academic achievement and will continue to receive the respect and recognition it deserves.

As a student, you are responsible for reading and following CQUniversity's policies, including the Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure. This policy sets out CQUniversity's expectations of you to act with integrity, examples of academic integrity breaches to avoid, the processes used to address alleged breaches of academic integrity, and potential penalties.

What is a breach of academic integrity?

A breach of academic integrity includes but is not limited to plagiarism, self-plagiarism, collusion, cheating, contract cheating, and academic misconduct. The Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure defines what these terms mean and gives examples.

Why is academic integrity important?

A breach of academic integrity may result in one or more penalties, including suspension or even expulsion from the University. It can also have negative implications for student visas and future enrolment at CQUniversity or elsewhere. Students who engage in contract cheating also risk being blackmailed by contract cheating services.

Where can I get assistance?

For academic advice and guidance, the Academic Learning Centre \(ALC\) can support you in becoming confident in completing assessments with integrity and of high standard.

What can you do to act with integrity?

Be Honest

If your assessment task is done by someone else, it would be dishonest of you to claim it as your own

Seek Help

If you are not sure about how to cite or reference in essays, reports etc, then seek help from your lecturer, the library or the Academic Learning Centre (ALC)

Produce Original Work

Originality comes from your ability to read widely, think critically, and apply your gained knowledge to address a question or problem
