All details in this unit profile for EDCU12042 have been officially approved by CQUniversity and represent a learning partnership between the University and you (our student). General Information

Overview

History Curriculum and Pedagogy develops pre-service teachers' knowledge and understanding of the content and disciplinary approaches to teaching and learning history in primary school settings. The concept of historiography in evaluating and responding to sources is developed and applied to an analysis of the construction of the past embedded in the content of the Australian curriculum materials for this learning area. Students reflect on the knowledge base necessary for primary school teachers to structure historical inquiry and teach historical literacy skills that support learners in developing evidence-informed explanations of past events. Students analyse and select source materials and construct resources and teaching strategies that structure inquiry processes around big ideas; topics of relevance to local, national and global history; and problem solving approaches to historical perspectives including those of Indigenous and non-Indigenous Australians.

Assessment Tasks

1 Critical Analysis

Assessment Type

Written Assessment

Task Description

Phillips (2005, pp.16 -17) claims that "the authority vested in the word of the dominating view of Australian history is deemed to be unchallengeable not because it is beyond question, but simply because it has been reinforced by repetition and written text over the centuries".

Using the quote above as a stimulus, write a 2000 word critical reflection that examines the History component of the HASS curriculum to identify evidence for or against Phillips' claim with respect to Indigenous and non-indigenous views of the history of Australia. Your response should make reference to key ideas presented in the unit materials and show evidence of independent research, including information gathered from professional associations which support teachers in teaching History.

Your response should include answers to the following questions:

1. How does the curriculum document position teachers to treat the history of Australia?
2. How might an understanding of historiography affect teachers' interpretations or treatment of Australian History topics?
3. What knowledge and skills do teachers of primary school History need to promote inquiry into an historical event or period from Indigenous and non-indigenous perspectives and why is this important?
4. What strategies and resources can teachers use to help learners build their historical literacy?
5. How can teachers help students understand contestability and build respect for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander histories?

You must illustrate your response to Questions 4 and 5 by providing examples of strategies and resources that could be used for an inquiry at Year 3, 4, 5 or 6.

2 Planning for historical inquiry

Assessment Type

Group Work

Task Description

You may undertake this assessment individually or in pairs.

Choose an inquiry question from the Australian curriculum for any primary year level (F - 6) or create an appropriate key question yourself, then select at least four sources that you think would be effective in engaging learners in an inquiry to answer this question. Provide bibliographic details or copies of your chosen sources, classifying them as primary or secondary sources, and justifying their selection in terms of building understanding of a relevant historical concept (e.g. Significance) and exploring one appropriate year level content descriptor (e.g. Year 3, ACHASSK065).

Identify resources and activities, including appropriate ICTs, which would help students analyse, evaluate and pose questions on the sources you have chosen and collaborate, in both online and classroom contexts. For each source and its related activities, justify how they build one of the inquiry skills identified for that year level (e.g. ACHASS1056). Your planning should also show your application of inquiry-based learning, your ability to plan for critical and creative thinking and your ability to plan for the development of literacy and numeracy.

Your inquiry may be presented in the form of your choice (e.g. webpage, concept map, table, etc).

Academic Integrity Statement

As a CQUniversity student you are expected to act honestly in all aspects of your academic work.

Any assessable work undertaken or submitted for review or assessment must be your own work. Assessable work is any type of work you do to meet the assessment requirements in the unit, including draft work submitted for review and feedback and final work to be assessed.

When you use the ideas, words or data of others in your assessment, you must thoroughly and clearly acknowledge the source of this information by using the correct referencing style for your unit. Using others' work without proper acknowledgement may be considered a form of intellectual dishonesty.

Participating honestly, respectfully, responsibly, and fairly in your university study ensures the CQUniversity qualification you earn will be valued as a true indication of your individual academic achievement and will continue to receive the respect and recognition it deserves.

As a student, you are responsible for reading and following CQUniversity's policies, including the Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure. This policy sets out CQUniversity's expectations of you to act with integrity, examples of academic integrity breaches to avoid, the processes used to address alleged breaches of academic integrity, and potential penalties.

What is a breach of academic integrity?

A breach of academic integrity includes but is not limited to plagiarism, self-plagiarism, collusion, cheating, contract cheating, and academic misconduct. The Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure defines what these terms mean and gives examples.

Why is academic integrity important?

A breach of academic integrity may result in one or more penalties, including suspension or even expulsion from the University. It can also have negative implications for student visas and future enrolment at CQUniversity or elsewhere. Students who engage in contract cheating also risk being blackmailed by contract cheating services.

Where can I get assistance?

For academic advice and guidance, the Academic Learning Centre \(ALC\) can support you in becoming confident in completing assessments with integrity and of high standard.

What can you do to act with integrity?

Be Honest

If your assessment task is done by someone else, it would be dishonest of you to claim it as your own

Seek Help

If you are not sure about how to cite or reference in essays, reports etc, then seek help from your lecturer, the library or the Academic Learning Centre (ALC)

Produce Original Work

Originality comes from your ability to read widely, think critically, and apply your gained knowledge to address a question or problem
