General Information

Overview

Language and literacy are critical for children's engagement within the contemporary world. The acquisition and development of multiliteracies occurs within the diverse contexts within which children participate. This unit introduces you to socio-cultural theory as a basis for understanding language acquisition and use and for identifying pedagogical approaches to support literacy learning through arts, play, creativity, and exploration. In this unit you will examine the strategies used by educators to support the development of oracy and build on the home, community and real-world literacy practices of children. Pedagogies to support children to engage with the multiple ways that they make and communicate meaning about their world will be examined and enacted. You will complete a 15 day placement with children (3 - 4 years) where you will connect theory with practice.
