General Information

Overview

The unit Indigenous Studies and Learning develops knowledge and understanding of historical factors that impact on the engagement of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander learners and families in education and care settings. The policy and action of governments and media representations are analysed, discussed and compared with indigenous perspectives on race relations and past events with an emphasis on developing understanding and appreciation of contemporary Indigenous Australian identity and culture. Pedagogies for working effectively and appropriately with indigenous Australians, families and communities including current systemic initiatives and policies are evaluated in terms of their suitability for students in rural, remote and urban Australian communities. You will consider Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander world views and your own and others attitudes to Indigenous people to defend the selection of teaching strategies aimed at promoting reconciliation and effective learning relationships with students, families and communities.

Term Specific Information

- If you are enrolled in a Term 3 course offered by the School of Education and the Arts for the first time this year, you may not be aware that the timing of Unit delivery is different from your enrollment in Units scheduled for delivery during Term 1 and Term 2 of the academic year.
The Dean of the School of Education and the Arts has requested that all Education Units are offered in intensive mode over a period of 6 weeks rather than the usual 12 week study schedule. Many staff take leave over this period and the decision has also been made in consideration of the Christmas / New Year break when the study schedule of many students is interrupted by family and school holiday periods.
This intensive course delivery applies only to Units that are core to Education programs e.g. CC12, CC13 and CC14 rather than elective discipline Units that secondary students may be required to undertake that are offered by other schools within the university.
- You should note that the Unit Profile includes only 6 weekly topics. Each of these weeks is comprised of intensive study that is equivalent to the amount of work usually covered over a two-week period. This means that week 1 includes 4 hours of face-to-face tutorials on campus, or online tutorial sessions for distance students. All of the Unit content is delivered within six weeks so it is important that you keep up and realise that you should double the usual time allocated to a Unit during this period i.e. allocate at least 20 to 24 hours study time for each week.
- To allow everyone time to synthesise knowledge and understanding of Unit content, we have set the due date for Assessment Task 2 in Week 11.
It is important to remember, however, that you should be able to complete both assessment tasks by Week 6 as all tutorials and Unit content will have been delivered by then.
It is also wise to be aware that returning to the Unit to complete an assessment task after the Christmas break requires a planned approach. You need to plan the most appropriate time to complete the required assessment given your personal commitments over Term 3 and your need for a break from study so that you return to university refreshed to commence your second year.
You will be able to upload Assessment Task 2 at any time prior to Week 11 and it is certainly recommended that you complete a draft or make significant progress on the task while the content is fresh in your mind.

Assessment Tasks

1 Assessment Task 1

Assessment Type
Written Assessment

Task Description

Context for this assessment task

Statistics show that despite increased government spending on Indigenous education, there are still serious differences in the educational outcomes achieved by Indigenous and non-Indigenous Australians (Gray & Beresford, 2008). Many writers claim that policies that aim to close this gap for Australian Indigenous students will only achieve successful educational outcomes if schools and teachers acknowledge and address the impact that the past has had on the present for these students (Gray & Beresford, 2008; Vass, 2012; Ford, 2012). This assessment is designed to help you explain your newly developed understanding of the challenges faced by Indigenous school students, based on your engagement with courseware and learning experiences you encounter in this Unit.

Structure and expectations for your written response

Write a scholarly report of no more than 1500(+/-10%) words that establishes your previous and current understanding of the statements made in the "context for this assessment task" above. Your response must:

1. be written in a scholarly manner which includes supporting all of your assertions with reference to the scholarly literature. This means that the vast majority of the sources you cite should be articles from peer reviewed journals, books and conference papers. You can and should reference government websites where they are the primary source of policy information.
2. use references from the unit readings to show your knowledge and understanding of the impact of past and present representations of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples and government policy on race relations between Indigenous and non-Indigenous Australians.
3. include your reflections on the impact of our shared Australian history (and your cultural background) on the attitudes and views you have formed of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people as students and learners.
4. make reference to your participation in at least three (3) learning experiences from the unit activities that have shaped your understanding on the importance of teachers' acknowledgement, recognition and respect for Indigenous history and culture
5. demonstrate teacher strategies for supporting the identity needs of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander students and promoting reconciliation within classroom contexts and the broader school community by:
 - acknowledging and teaching our shared Australian history,
 - learning and embracing the local Indigenous culture, and
 - developing strong relationships with the local Indigenous community.

2 Assessment Task 2

Assessment Type

Practical and Written Assessment

Task Description

Throughout the course, you have examined a range of strategies and resources for working with Indigenous learners, families and communities and for teaching the history of Australia in respectful ways that promote reconciliation. For this task, you will select and describe the strategies you would use to engage Indigenous students in learning in educational settings and explain why you think they would work.

Task Details

1. You must identify strategies that show consideration of students' cultural, linguistic and identity needs AND strategies for working effectively and sensitively with families and communities to support the learning and engagement of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander students. Your work can be presented in a format of your choice such as a table, matrix, written report or a multimodal form that includes diagrams, flowcharts or any other format suitable for identifying and describing the chosen strategies. A word limit of 800 words (or equivalent for tables, diagrams, etc) applies to this section of the task.
2. You will write a justification of no more than 1000 words that clearly explains why these strategies would meet the learning, language, cultural and identity needs of Indigenous learners and that identifies any limitations on the effectiveness of these strategies in a range of different contexts. This justification should consider the diversity of needs of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander students in rural, remote and urban areas and educational settings made up solely of Indigenous learners as well as those where only a small minority of students are Indigenous. The justification should be supported by references from course readings and your set text.

Academic Integrity Statement

As a CQUniversity student you are expected to act honestly in all aspects of your academic work.

Any assessable work undertaken or submitted for review or assessment must be your own work. Assessable work is any type of work you do to meet the assessment requirements in the unit, including draft work submitted for review and feedback and final work to be assessed.

When you use the ideas, words or data of others in your assessment, you must thoroughly and clearly acknowledge the source of this information by using the correct referencing style for your unit. Using others' work without proper acknowledgement may be considered a form of intellectual dishonesty.

Participating honestly, respectfully, responsibly, and fairly in your university study ensures the CQUniversity qualification you earn will be valued as a true indication of your individual academic achievement and will continue to receive the respect and recognition it deserves.

As a student, you are responsible for reading and following CQUniversity's policies, including the Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure. This policy sets out CQUniversity's expectations of you to act with integrity, examples of academic integrity breaches to avoid, the processes used to address alleged breaches of academic integrity, and potential penalties.

What is a breach of academic integrity?

A breach of academic integrity includes but is not limited to plagiarism, self-plagiarism, collusion, cheating, contract cheating, and academic misconduct. The Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure defines what these terms mean and gives examples.

Why is academic integrity important?

A breach of academic integrity may result in one or more penalties, including suspension or even expulsion from the University. It can also have negative implications for student visas and future enrolment at CQUniversity or elsewhere. Students who engage in contract cheating also risk being blackmailed by contract cheating services.

Where can I get assistance?

For academic advice and guidance, the Academic Learning Centre \(ALC\) can support you in becoming confident in completing assessments with integrity and of high standard.

What can you do to act with integrity?

Be Honest

If your assessment task is done by someone else, it would be dishonest of you to claim it as your own

Seek Help

If you are not sure about how to cite or reference in essays, reports etc, then seek help from your lecturer, the library or the Academic Learning Centre (ALC)

Produce Original Work

Originality comes from your ability to read widely, think critically, and apply your gained knowledge to address a question or problem
