General Information

Overview

In an increasingly complex and dynamic environment, educational leaders effectively manage change and also capitalise on opportunities to innovate. In this unit, you will engage in the theory and practice of implementing and evaluating change in an educational setting. You will review a current educational improvement agenda and evaluate it against a range of contemporary educational leadership research and make recommendations about, or justifications for, that agenda. You will evaluate educational governance structures and the implications of these on your role as a leader. You will also compare and contrast industry approaches to innovation for school-specific application.

For example, does the school/ centre have a council or board, is it part of a system and organisational structures, particularly if it is a large organisation?
- b) A SWOT analysis of the current situation, referencing current educational literature (i.e. does the initiative align to research on school improvement).
- c) Recommendations to the school/ centre board and/or leadership team on any gaps in the initiative or improvements that could be made that would increase the likelihood of positive impacts on students and their learning.

2 Design a Technological Tool for Educational Application

Assessment Type

Written Assessment

Task Description

Design an educational tool for an educational setting of your choice that utilises information and communication technology. This assessment task requires you to identify a “problem” that educational leaders and /or teachers are faced with in their educational setting (e.g. Early Education setting, unit, school, or regional role). Examples may include, but are not limited to: using a “flipped classroom” technology to maximise face to face teaching time, developing an app for improving communication and parental engagement in learning. This innovation does not need to be developed or introduced into an educational setting. The assessment task may be a collaboration with another student undertaking the unit. The task is to be presented in two parts.

Part A - The “pitch” - 500 words maximum. The task is to include a succinct but compelling “pitch” outlining the problem and the innovation that will address the problem. The purpose of the ‘pitch’ is to get others to “invest” in the project. The ‘others’ may be colleagues, your supervisor, or even venture capitalists if you need finance to progress the innovation.

Part B - Detail your innovation - 2000 words - This part of the assessment will explain your innovation in more detail. It will include a detailed description of the problem, the solution including the technologies being accessed (data bases, cloud computing, artificial intelligence/machine learning, Virtual Reality) and the innovation framework model used to develop the idea. This will reference approaches to innovation used in creative industries and explain how the idea was generated, what ideas “bumped into each other”, and what collaborations were required (if any). While a written assessment, the task can be supported and enhanced by diagrams, graphs, graphics and illustrations. The scope or of the project is not being considered but rather how compelling the need is and how creative the “solution”.

Exam Week Friday (19 June 2020)

Weighting

Assessment Criteria

The task will be assessed according to the following criteria:

1. The quality of the “pitch” in terms of conciseness and articulation of the problem and solution.
2. The examination of the problem and the synthesis of ideas, data, trends, and technological advances accessed in solving the problem.
3. The level of innovation displayed in the solution and the creativity displayed in solving the problem presented.
4. A model for the development of the idea (the Innovation Framework) linked to academic writings on the innovation process and how creative industries approach innovation.
5. The written piece has clarity, a professional style and tone and is accurate in terms of referencing, spelling, grammar and punctuation.

Academic Integrity Statement

As a CQUniversity student you are expected to act honestly in all aspects of your academic work.

Any assessable work undertaken or submitted for review or assessment must be your own work. Assessable work is any type of work you do to meet the assessment requirements in the unit, including draft work submitted for review and feedback and final work to be assessed.

When you use the ideas, words or data of others in your assessment, you must thoroughly and clearly acknowledge the source of this information by using the correct referencing style for your unit. Using others' work without proper acknowledgement may be considered a form of intellectual dishonesty.

Participating honestly, respectfully, responsibly, and fairly in your university study ensures the CQUniversity qualification you earn will be valued as a true indication of your individual academic achievement and will continue to receive the respect and recognition it deserves.

As a student, you are responsible for reading and following CQUniversity's policies, including the Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure. This policy sets out CQUniversity's expectations of you to act with integrity, examples of academic integrity breaches to avoid, the processes used to address alleged breaches of academic integrity, and potential penalties.

What is a breach of academic integrity?

A breach of academic integrity includes but is not limited to plagiarism, self-plagiarism, collusion, cheating, contract cheating, and academic misconduct. The Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure defines what these terms mean and gives examples.

Why is academic integrity important?

A breach of academic integrity may result in one or more penalties, including suspension or even expulsion from the University. It can also have negative implications for student visas and future enrolment at CQUniversity or elsewhere. Students who engage in contract cheating also risk being blackmailed by contract cheating services.

Where can I get assistance?

For academic advice and guidance, the Academic Learning Centre \(ALC\) can support you in becoming confident in completing assessments with integrity and of high standard.

What can you do to act with integrity?

Be Honest

If your assessment task is done by someone else, it would be dishonest of you to claim it as your own

Seek Help

If you are not sure about how to cite or reference in essays, reports etc, then seek help from your lecturer, the library or the Academic Learning Centre (ALC)

Produce Original Work

Originality comes from your ability to read widely, think critically, and apply your gained knowledge to address a question or problem
