Term 1 - 2019

Profile information current as at 09/05/2024 01:14 am

All details in this unit profile for EDSE12023 have been officially approved by CQUniversity and represent a learning partnership between the University and you (our student). The information will not be changed unless absolutely necessary and any change will be clearly indicated by an approved correction included in the profile.

General Information

Overview

In this unit, you will engage in authentic learning experiences that introduce you to the policies, ideologies and practices that underpin the Home Economics discipline. Internationally, the profession focuses on achieving optimal and sustainable health and wellbeing for individuals, families and communities in their everyday living environments. To understand this professional aim, you will explore policy texts and social trends that impact on the health and wellbeing of individuals, families and communities and develop the skills to interact with service organisations that support people in challenging times. You will have the option to select either a local or international community-based experience to examine social innovation in action. Through guided self-reflective practice, you will explore how to develop meaningful relationships with self and others, and how to take action and implement positive change in people's lives in professional, ethical and culturally appropriate ways.

- Mixed Mode

Attendance Requirements

All on-campus students are expected to attend scheduled classes – in some units, these classes are identified as a mandatory (pass/fail) component and attendance is compulsory. International students, on a student visa, must maintain a full time study load and meet both attendance and academic progress requirements in each study period (satisfactory attendance for International students is defined as maintaining at least an 80% attendance record).

Website

Assessment Grading

This is a graded unit: your overall grade will be calculated from the marks or grades for each assessment task, based on the relative weightings shown in the table above. You must obtain an overall mark for the unit of at least 50%, or an overall grade of 'pass' in order to pass the unit. If any 'pass/fail' tasks are shown in the table above they must also be completed successfully ('pass' grade). You must also meet any minimum mark requirements specified for a particular assessment task, as detailed in the 'assessment task' section (note that in some instances, the minimum mark for a task may be greater than 50%). Consult the University's Grades and Results Policy for more details of interim results and final grades.

CQUniversity Policies

All University policies are available on the CQUniversity Policy site.

You may wish to view these policies:

Term Specific Information

WORK-INTEGRATED LEARNING (WIL) AND SOCIAL INNOVATION

CQUniversity defines social innovation as “engaging with our communities to address entrenched social issues”. WIL activities integrate academic learning with its application in the workplace. In this unit, exploring social innovation and WIL consists of options for community-based activity or a COUGlobal short-term outbound program. Both options are embedded into this unit and have associated assessment tasks.

Local Option: An important skill for educators and health professionals is learning to identify, communicate and "reach-out" to a potential partner organisation. In this Local Option, students will do background research about services that support individuals, families and communities in their local area and then approach a non-partisan organisation to negotiate and complete a minimum of 2 days community-service work. This learning has two important purposes: 1) interacting with humans in challenging circumstances; and 2) provide students with strategies to confidently approach and communicate with a potential community partner. This experience will give students an invaluable insight into social innovation principles and the challenges of engaging with community.

Nepal Option: 12 day Nepal student experience includes an extended stay with Seven Women NGO as an intermediate level Social Innovation case study. Approximate dates are 29 December 2019 to 12 January 2020 (may change depending on available flights). Student numbers for the Nepal Option are limited to 10. Eligible students may apply for New Colombo Plan (NCP) funding to assist with flights and expenses. All applications will be considered but acceptance and travel is not guaranteed. Application forms, information and instructions will be provided during tutorial sessions and in weekly Moodle content.

For more information see Assessment Information and the unit's Moodle site.

Assessment Tasks

1 Exploration of a health issue

Assessment Type

Report

Task Description

1500 word report that addresses each of the following:

1. Identify various community services available in a target area that support individuals, families or communities.
2. Select one (1) focus issue and an appropriate organisation in a target community that addresses that issue.
3. Collate and analyse information about the organisation and issue.

Local Option: Students doing a community-service activity in their local area will complete this report before your community-service project. This report will provide vital background information about your organisation and health issue.

Nepal Option: Complete a report about issues that effect the health and wellbeing of individuals, families and communities in Nepal.

Detailed assessment instructions and support available on Moodle site.

2 Community-service activity (Local or Nepal)

Assessment Type

Project (applied)

Task Description

Rationale

An important skill for educators and health professionals is learning to identify, communicate and "reach-out" to partner organisations. This learning experience has two important purposes: 1) interacting with humans in challenging circumstances; and 2) provide students with strategies to confidently approach and communicate with a potential community partner. This community-service experience will give students a invaluable insight into the challenges of engaging with community and strategies to overcome these challenges.

Local Option

Direct or indirect?

There are two potential types of projects: direct service and indirect service. If you choose a direct service project, you will spend most of your time actively working with an organisation in its day-to-day functions. An example of a direct service project could be volunteering at a soup kitchen or an aged care facility. An indirect service project, you will spend most of your time doing some "behind the scenes" research and communicating your findings to an organisation in your target community. An example of an indirect service project would be gathering data that assesses the impact of a social service provider on their clients or doing some office work as directed by the organisation.

What type of organisation are you allowed to choose?

The two most important criteria are that 1) you already have a relationship or solid connection to the organisation; and 2) that the organisation is oriented toward the provision of "public service", broadly defined. Organisations should be non-partisan which means that the organisation is not biased or partisan, towards any particular political or religious group. If they are religiously based (for example, the Salvation Army), they should offer a social or community service in addition to spiritual guidance. Not-for-Profit or Non-Government Organisations (NGOs) are most likely to meet these criteria. If you are interested in working with an organisation that does not have this status (such as a social business venture, a specific religious institution, or an organisation that is working to achieve NGO status), please contact your tutor or unit coordinator.

How many hours are required?

Because each project is unique, there is no specific hour requirement. However, for planning purposes, a good range is 15-25 hours outside of allocated university study time, with a minimum of 2 contact days at the organisation, completed during the suggested Schedule timing. You must clearly communicate and negotiate your availability and limitations with the community organisation. The ratio of time spent between direct contact and behind the scenes research will vary depending on your project and the structure of the organisation. (This time also includes things like transportation, emails, background research, talking with people, and “hanging out” in the organisation).

Nepal Option

12 day student experience in Nepal including an extended stay with Seven Women NGO as an intermediate level Social Innovation case study. Approximate departure is 29 December 2019. Student numbers for the Nepal Option are limited to 10. Applications are due on 29 March 2019 (Week 3). Your application may be considered but acceptance and travel is not guaranteed. If your application is not accepted, you will need to complete the Local Option.

Academic Integrity Statement

As a CQUniversity student you are expected to act honestly in all aspects of your academic work.

Any assessable work undertaken or submitted for review or assessment must be your own work. Assessable work is any type of work you do to meet the assessment requirements in the unit, including draft work submitted for review and feedback and final work to be assessed.

When you use the ideas, words or data of others in your assessment, you must thoroughly and clearly acknowledge the source of this information by using the correct referencing style for your unit. Using others' work without proper acknowledgement may be considered a form of intellectual dishonesty.

Participating honestly, respectfully, responsibly, and fairly in your university study ensures the CQUniversity qualification you earn will be valued as a true indication of your individual academic achievement and will continue to receive the respect and recognition it deserves.

As a student, you are responsible for reading and following CQUniversity's policies, including the Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure. This policy sets out CQUniversity's expectations of you to act with integrity, examples of academic integrity breaches to avoid, the processes used to address alleged breaches of academic integrity, and potential penalties.

What is a breach of academic integrity?

A breach of academic integrity includes but is not limited to plagiarism, self-plagiarism, collusion, cheating, contract cheating, and academic misconduct. The Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure defines what these terms mean and gives examples.

Why is academic integrity important?

A breach of academic integrity may result in one or more penalties, including suspension or even expulsion from the University. It can also have negative implications for student visas and future enrolment at CQUniversity or elsewhere. Students who engage in contract cheating also risk being blackmailed by contract cheating services.

Where can I get assistance?

For academic advice and guidance, the Academic Learning Centre \(ALC\) can support you in becoming confident in completing assessments with integrity and of high standard.

What can you do to act with integrity?

Be Honest

If your assessment task is done by someone else, it would be dishonest of you to claim it as your own

Seek Help

If you are not sure about how to cite or reference in essays, reports etc, then seek help from your lecturer, the library or the Academic Learning Centre (ALC)

Produce Original Work

Originality comes from your ability to read widely, think critically, and apply your gained knowledge to address a question or problem
