

EDSE12023 Individuals, Families & Communities

Term 1 - 2024

Profile information current as at 09/05/2024 05:34 pm

All details in this unit profile for EDSE12023 have been officially approved by CQUniversity and represent a learning partnership between the University and you (our student). The information will not be changed unless absolutely necessary and any change will be clearly indicated by an approved correction included in the profile.

General Information

Overview

In this unit, you will engage in authentic learning experiences that introduce you to the policies, ideologies and practices that underpin the Home Economics discipline. Internationally, the profession focuses on achieving optimal and sustainable health and wellbeing for individuals, families and communities in their everyday living environments. To understand this professional aim, you will explore policy texts and social trends that impact on the health and wellbeing of individuals, families and communities and develop the skills to interact with service organisations that support people in challenging times. You will select a local community-based experience to examine social innovation in action. Through guided self-reflective practice, you will explore how to develop meaningful relationships with self and others, and how to take action and implement positive change in people's lives in professional, ethical and culturally appropriate ways.

- Mixed Mode

Attendance Requirements

All on-campus students are expected to attend scheduled classes – in some units, these classes are identified as a mandatory (pass/fail) component and attendance is compulsory. International students, on a student visa, must maintain a full time study load and meet both attendance and academic progress requirements in each study period (satisfactory attendance for International students is defined as maintaining at least an 80% attendance record).

Website

Assessment Grading

This is a graded unit: your overall grade will be calculated from the marks or grades for each assessment task, based on the relative weightings shown in the table above. You must obtain an overall mark for the unit of at least 50%, or an overall grade of 'pass' in order to pass the unit. If any 'pass/fail' tasks are shown in the table above they must also be completed successfully ('pass' grade). You must also meet any minimum mark requirements specified for a particular assessment task, as detailed in the 'assessment task' section (note that in some instances, the minimum mark for a task may be greater than 50%). Consult the University's Grades and Results Policy for more details of interim results and final grades.

CQUniversity Policies

Assessment Tasks

1 Exploration of a health and wellbeing issue

Assessment Type

Report

Task Description

Purpose and structure of this unit's assessment

As an educator or health professional, you will become a valuable member of the community within which you live and work. You need to be able to identify and research issues that impact the individuals, families and communities in your local area. You will also need the skills to engage and collaborate with local families, community members and organisations. The three assessment items for this unit are interrelated and are a little different from "usual" university assignments. The assessment tasks have been designed to facilitate and encourage learning using a deep and authentic approach to assessment and pedagogy. The learning goal for these assessments is to immerse you in a health and wellbeing issue relevant to your local area, support you as you "reach out" into your community to organise a community engagement activity, and then guide a personal and professional reflection on your experiences. The combination of assessment tasks will assist you to develop communication skills, critical thinking, disciplinary knowledge, cultural sensitivity, leadership skills and reflective practice.

Ensure you read all three assessment tasks together, so that you understand their relationship and progression:

- Item 1: Report
- Item 2: Community-based activity (applied project)
- Item 3: Reflection

Item 1: Exploration of a health and wellbeing issue (written report 1500 words)

This written report will provide you with the necessary background information to engage in your community-based activity (Item 2) and inform your reflection (Item 3). You may choose to show your report to your selected community organisation and receive feedback or guidance, so make sure that your report is professionally presented.

Your written report needs to address all of the following:

1. Identify various community services available in your local area (within approximately 5-10 kilometres from your geographic location) that support individuals, families or communities. You may use a table to present this information in your report (organisation, purpose/services offered, location, contact details). Locate a minimum of 10 suitable organisations. You can include face-to-face services, telehealth services or internet-based services. Must be government services or registered organisations (not blogs or unofficial websites).
2. Select one focus health and wellbeing issue and locate an appropriate organisation in your local community that addresses that issue.
3. Research and analyse information about the health and wellbeing issue you selected and include in your report:
 - Relevant statistics about the issue - use Australian Bureau of Statistics and/or World Health Organisation

- statistics;
- Background information about your selected organisation (philosophy, mission statement, clients or target audience, services provided, key personnel, structure, funding, general information, history)
- Different approaches that have been used to address the health and wellbeing issue - what works, what hasn't worked (benefits and barriers);
- Academic research journal articles (minimum of 3) that support the approaches taken to the issue;
- Identify recommendations for "best practice" or how to tackle the issue, how to engage or communicate with clients (individuals, families, communities, the environment); and
- What else needs to be considered about the issue (complexity) - for example, cultural sensitivity, geographic location, funding, education, and so forth.

Guidelines for completing your report

- Use CQUniversity Library databases to locate academic journal articles. Ensure that you critically analyse all information for credibility, accuracy, and reliability. Do not use inappropriate internet sources.
- Use a report structure (sample provided). Use appropriate headings and sub-headings to "signpost" your report and to indicate that you have addressed each section. To guide you, your report should have a title page, an introduction (approximately 250 words) that states the issue you are researching, body (approximately 1000 words), conclusion (approximately 250 words), and reference list.
- The word count is considered from the first word of the introduction to the last word of the conclusion. It excludes the cover page, abstract, contents page, reference page and appendices. It includes in-text references and direct quotations.
- You may include pictures and diagrams but only if they enhance your report.
- Use a table when listing local services; however, the bulk of the report is to be written in full sentences and use appropriate paragraph structures, spelling and grammar.
- Edit your work before submission. Use "Studiosity" to edit/proof your work. Remember that you are becoming a professional and your own levels of literacy need to be of a high standard.
- Use APA 7th Edition Style of referencing (in-text) and reference list.

More information is available in the Assessment Section in Moodle.

2 Community-based Activity

Assessment Type

Project (applied)

Task Description

Item 2: Community-based activity rationale

An important skill for educators and health professionals is learning how to identify, communicate and "reach-out" to a partner organisation. This assessment and learning experience has two important purposes:

1. interacting with humans in challenging circumstances; and
2. provide you with strategies to confidently approach and communicate with a potential community partner.

This authentic community-service experience will give you an invaluable insight into the challenges of engaging with community and strategies to overcome these challenges.

Selecting a Community Project

There are two potential types of projects: direct service and indirect service. If you choose a direct service project, you will spend most of your time actively working with a local organisation in its day-to-day functions. An example of a direct service project could be volunteering at a soup kitchen or a youth centre. You must consider the organisation's health and safety precautions and in-place government advice. Alternatively, you may select an indirect service project, you will spend most of your time doing some "behind the scenes" research and communicating your findings to an organisation in your local community. An example of an indirect service project would be gathering data that assesses the impact of a social service provider on their clients, doing some office work as directed by the organisation or developing an awareness campaign for them.

What types of organisations are you allowed to choose?

The two most important criteria are that:

- you already have a relationship or solid connection to the organisation; and
- that the organisation is oriented toward the provision of "public service", broadly defined.

Organisations should be non-partisan which means that the organisation is not biased or partisan, towards any particular political or religious group. If they are faith or religious-based organisation (for example, the Salvation Army), they should offer a social or community service in addition to spiritual guidance.

Not-for-Profit or Non-Government Organisations (NGOs) are most likely to meet these criteria. If you are interested in working with an organisation that does not have this status (such as a social business venture, a specific religious institution, or an organisation that is working to achieve NGO status), please contact your lecturer.

How many hours are required?

Because each project will be unique, there is no specific hour requirement. However, for planning purposes, a good range is 15-25 hours outside of allocated university study time, with a minimum of 2 contact days with the organisation and its people, completed during the suggested schedule timing (weeks 6-10). You must clearly communicate and negotiate your availability and limitations with the community organisation. The ratio of time spent between direct contact and indirect service will vary depending on your project and the structure of the organisation. This time also includes things like transportation, emails, background research, talking with people, and "hanging out" in the organisation.

How is work structured?

The ideal of community-based engagement is that your project builds knowledge in ways that simultaneously benefit your academic learning and benefits the community partner. This focus on the collaborative process of knowledge building is cultivated through a series of briefs. Specific instructions and guidelines for each brief are found in the Assessment Section on our Moodle.

You will determine the actual activities, timelines and products in dialogue with the organisation.

To achieve this dialogue, it will be important for you to quickly identify a contact person within the organisation who is both willing and able to discuss your project. Part of the planning process will include a discussion with the contact person about their schedule and expectations.

What to submit?

Single Word document or .pdf (template provided) that outlines organisation/s contacted, dates of contact including visits, activities undertaken, challenges you face.

Why are you submitting a templated document?

Record keeping is an essential professional skill. The depth of response and accuracy of record-keeping will be taken into consideration when marking.

Academic Integrity Statement

As a CQUniversity student you are expected to act honestly in all aspects of your academic work.

Any assessable work undertaken or submitted for review or assessment must be your own work. Assessable work is any type of work you do to meet the assessment requirements in the unit, including draft work submitted for review and feedback and final work to be assessed.

When you use the ideas, words or data of others in your assessment, you must thoroughly and clearly acknowledge the source of this information by using the correct referencing style for your unit. Using others' work without proper acknowledgement may be considered a form of intellectual dishonesty.

Participating honestly, respectfully, responsibly, and fairly in your university study ensures the CQUniversity qualification you earn will be valued as a true indication of your individual academic achievement and will continue to receive the respect and recognition it deserves.

As a student, you are responsible for reading and following CQUniversity's policies, including the Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure. This policy sets out CQUniversity's expectations of you to act with integrity, examples of academic integrity breaches to avoid, the processes used to address alleged breaches of academic integrity, and potential penalties.

What is a breach of academic integrity?

A breach of academic integrity includes but is not limited to plagiarism, self-plagiarism, collusion, cheating, contract cheating, and academic misconduct. The Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure defines what these terms mean and gives examples.

Why is academic integrity important?

A breach of academic integrity may result in one or more penalties, including suspension or even expulsion from the University. It can also have negative implications for student visas and future enrolment at CQUniversity or elsewhere. Students who engage in contract cheating also risk being blackmailed by contract cheating services.

Where can I get assistance?

For academic advice and guidance, the Academic Learning Centre \(ALC\) can support you in becoming confident in completing assessments with integrity and of high standard.

What can you do to act with integrity?

Be Honest

If your assessment task is done by someone else, it would be dishonest of you to claim it as your own

Seek Help

If you are not sure about how to cite or reference in essays, reports etc, then seek help from your lecturer, the library or the Academic Learning Centre (ALC)

Produce Original Work

Originality comes from your ability to read widely, think critically, and apply your gained knowledge to address a question or problem
