

EMER12001 Emergency Services and the Community

Term 2 - 2019

Profile information current as at 08/05/2024 05:25 pm

All details in this unit profile for EMER12001 have been officially approved by CQUUniversity and represent a learning partnership between the University and you (our student). The information will not be changed unless absolutely necessary and any change will be clearly indicated by an approved correction included in the profile.

General Information

Overview

Drawing upon your experience in emergency service contexts, this unit will examine individuals and groups within the community who contribute to or participate in some way to emergency service organisations and situations. You will examine different types of participation, national and international trends in community-based activity and how this impacts upon work in the emergency services. By working with authentic examples you will explore key concepts and apply your learning within your individual context.

Attendance Requirements

All on-campus students are expected to attend scheduled classes – in some units, these classes are identified as a mandatory (pass/fail) component and attendance is compulsory. International students, on a student visa, must maintain a full time study load and meet both attendance and academic progress requirements in each study period (satisfactory attendance for International students is defined as maintaining at least an 80% attendance record).

Website

Assessment Grading

This is a graded unit: your overall grade will be calculated from the marks or grades for each assessment task, based on the relative weightings shown in the table above. You must obtain an overall mark for the unit of at least 50%, or an overall grade of 'pass' in order to pass the unit. If any 'pass/fail' tasks are shown in the table above they must also be completed successfully ('pass' grade). You must also meet any minimum mark requirements specified for a particular assessment task, as detailed in the 'assessment task' section (note that in some instances, the minimum mark for a task may be greater than 50%). Consult the University's Grades and Results Policy for more details of interim results and final grades.

Term Specific Information

Assessment Tasks

1 Assessment One: Volunteerism and the emergency services industry.

Assessment Type

Written Assessment

Task Description

This assessment asks you to reflect upon and analyse volunteering and its relationship to the provision of emergency services in Australia and a particular emergency services context you select, for example, fire services, police services, ambulance or State Emergency Services. You will select one model or approach, for example, the traditional 'high commitment' model or spontaneous volunteering, and provide an analysis of that. You will then analyse volunteering within an organisation that you select. As such, Assessment Task One is broken into two separate but linked sections.

Section 1) Argue your understanding of the concept of volunteering broadly plus one particular model or approach (that you select) and how that links to the academic literature and to the views of your fellow students. In your response, you will need to incorporate ideas from two activity posts: one of your own post plus at least one from another student in the group.

Section 2) Discuss the characteristics of emergency services organisations. To do this, you will select one emergency services organisation and then explore the role of and contribution of volunteering by the community to that emergency services context (which you selected). To guide your discussion, you will incorporate information on the following:

- Name of the organisation
- Organisational charter
- Key organisational demographics (including workforce demographics)
- Role volunteering plays within the selected organisation
- Types of functions volunteers perform within the organisation
- Summary statement about whether volunteering in your selected organisation is typical of volunteering more broadly in the emergency management sector or is not typical of volunteering.

The assessment task is based on your engagement with the unit content, the broader academic literature and the posts you and your fellow students make to the activity forums and will be between 1200 - 1500 words and importantly, your response must be supported by appropriate literature.

Presentation Guidelines:

You are free to present the response in a written format that best suits you, however, you must respond to each requirement (between 1200 - 1500 words) and include as a minimum:

- a) Title Page
- b) Concept of volunteering plus one particular model or approach (that you select).
- c) Emergency management and emergency services in the Australian community and one particular emergency services context (which you select).
- d) Direct copy of the forum posts being utilised in Section 1) (Note: this is NOT included in word count).

Note: your response must be supported with appropriate literature (please see the assessment criteria rubric).

Presentation Style: Font: Arial 11 or 12, Line Spacing: 1.5 or double spaced.

Assessment Criteria

The assessment criteria for this Unit are in the form of a rubric, which is available from the Moodle Unit site.

You will be assessed in relation to:

- Knowledge of volunteering in the Australian context
- Knowledge of voluntary participation by individuals and groups in Australian emergency service contexts
- Application of knowledge and skills in participation by individuals and groups in emergency service contexts
- Communication and presentation of knowledge and skills

Learning Outcomes Assessed

- Identify different types of participation by individuals and groups within the community in emergency service contexts.
- Analyse different models and theories related to participation.
- Discuss the impact community participation has on emergency service contexts and settings.

Graduate Attributes

- Communication
- Information Literacy
- Information Technology Competence

2 Assessment Two: Enhancing volunteerism within Australian emergency service contexts.

Assessment Type

Written Assessment

Task Description

Using the analysis from assessment task one, you will explore in more detail the nature of volunteering in the emergency services context you have selected, including how the characteristics synonymous with the context enable and constrain volunteering efforts. From this basis you will then consider the future, potential opportunities and ways in which you could enhance volunteering and its sustainability with the chosen context. Importantly, you must show the way in which you propose the emergency management sector and individual emergency service organisation work with their community in order to address volunteer sustainability.

As such, assessment task two is broken into two separate but linked sections:

Section 1) Exploration of the nature of volunteering (explored through and thereby linked to a model or approach to volunteering from the literature) in relation to the chosen emergency services context. Your analysis should include the characteristics synonymous with the context and how these enable and constrain volunteering efforts. Note: I recommend you utilise the model / approach from assessment task one, however, you can change.

Section 2) A postulate future. Exploration of opportunities and ways in which the emergency management sector and emergency services organisation can work collaboratively (e.g. with the community) to enhance volunteer sustainability. The assessment task will be approximately 1500 - 2000 words in total and importantly your response must be supported by appropriate literature (please see the assessment criteria rubric).

Presentation Guidelines:

You are free to present the response in a written format that best suits you, however, it must include as a minimum:

- a) Title page
- b) Introduction
- c) Section 1
- d) Section 2
- e) Conclusion

Note: your response must be supported by appropriate literature (please see the assessment criteria rubric).

Presentation Style: Font: Arial 11 or 12, Line Spacing: 1.5 or double spaced.

Academic Integrity Statement

As a CQUniversity student you are expected to act honestly in all aspects of your academic work.

Any assessable work undertaken or submitted for review or assessment must be your own work. Assessable work is any type of work you do to meet the assessment requirements in the unit, including draft work submitted for review and feedback and final work to be assessed.

When you use the ideas, words or data of others in your assessment, you must thoroughly and clearly acknowledge the source of this information by using the correct referencing style for your unit. Using others' work without proper acknowledgement may be considered a form of intellectual dishonesty.

Participating honestly, respectfully, responsibly, and fairly in your university study ensures the CQUniversity qualification you earn will be valued as a true indication of your individual academic achievement and will continue to receive the respect and recognition it deserves.

As a student, you are responsible for reading and following CQUniversity's policies, including the Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure. This policy sets out CQUniversity's expectations of you to act with integrity, examples of academic integrity breaches to avoid, the processes used to address alleged breaches of academic integrity, and potential penalties.

What is a breach of academic integrity?

A breach of academic integrity includes but is not limited to plagiarism, self-plagiarism, collusion, cheating, contract cheating, and academic misconduct. The Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure defines what these terms mean and gives examples.

Why is academic integrity important?

A breach of academic integrity may result in one or more penalties, including suspension or even expulsion from the University. It can also have negative implications for student visas and future enrolment at CQUniversity or elsewhere. Students who engage in contract cheating also risk being blackmailed by contract cheating services.

Where can I get assistance?

For academic advice and guidance, the Academic Learning Centre \(ALC\) can support you in becoming confident in completing assessments with integrity and of high standard.

What can you do to act with integrity?

Be Honest

If your assessment task is done by someone else, it would be dishonest of you to claim it as your own

Seek Help

If you are not sure about how to cite or reference in essays, reports etc, then seek help from your lecturer, the library or the Academic Learning Centre (ALC)

Produce Original Work

Originality comes from your ability to read widely, think critically, and apply your gained knowledge to address a question or problem
