The project could involve researching an academic topic or involve using practical skills or relate to a work placement in an approved organisation. NOTE: The unit is only offered subject to the availability of an appropriate supervisor, who will stipulate the learning activities and the precise assessment task(s) to be completed by students. Students considering this unit are advised to contact a potential supervisor(s) and the unit coordinator. Once a topic or a work placement has been agreed, the course advisor will confirm the student's enrolment in the unit.

Term Specific Information

Storytelling on Shared Ground Project
In Term 2 2025, this Unit will be run in conjunction with teaching staff and screen production students from Dalarna University (Sweden), Girffith Film School (Brisbane), and CQUniversity (Cairns). Students will undertake an initial shared 12 day storytelling project work with the communities of Cooktown and Hopevale in far North Queensland followed by post production work and reflective practice.

Collaborating with Traditional Owners, artists, and community members, students will create a series of short documentaries and other visual and written works that explore local knowledge systems, historical narratives and the natural environment, revealing the enduring relationships between people and place – in a location that continues to shape conversations around reconciliation and identity in Australia today.

Assessment Tasks

1 Storytelling on Shared Ground

Assessment Type
Written Assessment

Task Description
This assessment is in 2 parts and is drawn from the project work and activities undertaken during your 12-day stay in Cooktown and surrounding areas. Additional information is available on the Assessment Tile on the Unit Moodle site.

PART A: Stories on Shared Ground 60%; Creative Synthesis
Part A consists of three production exercises that explore place, history, and intercultural collaboration. Each piece contributes to a larger collection of shared stories that reflect on how histories are made, remembered, and reimagined.

Exercise 1. Reframing the Past - Multi-camera collaborative recording of the 1770 Re-enactment
Students work as one production team to record multi-camera coverage of the annual reenactment of the landing of Captain Cook in 1770 and his meeting with the Guugu Yimithirr Bamaat at the heritage-listed Reconciliation Rocks in Cooktown. This exercise emphasises collective authorship, technical coordination, and ethical storytelling when reinterpreting historical events. Each student is to submit a 5 min excerpt of the multi-cam production they have edited themselves with a 100 word statement outlining their decision making process.

Exercise 2. Creative Custodians
In consultation with First Nations collaborators and university teaching staff, students will choose 1 story (2-3 minutes) that would be suitable for broadcast on ICTV. (https://ictv.com.au) Students will partake in discussions with individuals and community around consent and approval processes. Students will then post-produce the story to a standard suitable for broadcast. Suggestions for this exercise include portraits of artists at the Hope Vale Arts Centre, language stories, cultural practice stories and place stories. This exercise focuses on building trust, highlighting creative practices grounded in community, and experimenting with visual storytelling techniques.

Exercise 3. Grounded Reflections - Individual essay film; 3-5-minutes
This exercise facilitates students to produces a personal essay film that weaves together their experience of place, personal reflections and thoughts on their encounter with nature and traditional knowledge. Drawing from observation and introspection, this exercise invites students to connect their own story with Guugu Yimithirr country.

Purpose
The Production exercises are designed to provide a framework to test and develop your technical and creative skills both individually in a team.

PART B: Reflective Diary 40%
Document and reflect on your learning, using daily diary entries in the form of written reflections, video diaries, photographs, drawings, audio notes, or any other creative medium that helps you frame your experience. We will encourage you to share your notes during group conversations and reflective dialogue.

Purpose: The Reflective Diary asks you to engage as a reflective practitioner – documenting and analysing your evolving understanding of screen production and storytelling in an intercultural, community-engaged context.

Reflection Framework

- Production Practices: How have your screen production skills developed? Have you experimented with new techniques, tools, or collaborative methods?

- Professional Context: What have you learned from the creative and technical exchanges during this project? Is there a standout skill/process? What challenges arose from working interculturally? How have you adapted your thinking or creative process in response? How does working alongside community members, artists, and other students shape your understanding of professional practice and responsibility? What have you learned and negotiated with community members about IP and consent?
- Shaping History & Place: How have you engaged with place, history, culture and environment? Use your senses in this reflection, sight, sound, smell and feel. How has screen technology supported or hindered your engagement? Has the experience (re)shaped your sense of how stories shape history and the communities that hold it, rather than merely record 'facts'?

AI Assessment scale tool:
Level 3: You may use AI to assist with specific tasks such as drafting text, refining and evaluating your work. You must critically evaluate and modify any AI-generated content you use. Any misuse or lack of disclosure regarding the use of AI tools will be considered a breach of academic integrity.

Submission Format: A curated selection of diary entries (a traditional written diary or curated multimodal portfolio), to be is agreed in collaboration with the Unit Coordinator. This is to be accompanied by a brief framing statement (approx. 200–300 words) outlining what is being presented, key learnings & personal/professional development. Use a minimum of 3 references using APA 7th Ed. Completed movies are to be exported in a format appropriate for the intended platform/audience and uploaded to Echo360. All documents are to be uploaded to Moodle in PDF format.

Academic Integrity Statement

As a CQUniversity student you are expected to act honestly in all aspects of your academic work.

Any assessable work undertaken or submitted for review or assessment must be your own work. Assessable work is any type of work you do to meet the assessment requirements in the unit, including draft work submitted for review and feedback and final work to be assessed.

When you use the ideas, words or data of others in your assessment, you must thoroughly and clearly acknowledge the source of this information by using the correct referencing style for your unit. Using others' work without proper acknowledgement may be considered a form of intellectual dishonesty.

Participating honestly, respectfully, responsibly, and fairly in your university study ensures the CQUniversity qualification you earn will be valued as a true indication of your individual academic achievement and will continue to receive the respect and recognition it deserves.

As a student, you are responsible for reading and following CQUniversity's policies, including the Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure. This policy sets out CQUniversity's expectations of you to act with integrity, examples of academic integrity breaches to avoid, the processes used to address alleged breaches of academic integrity, and potential penalties.

What is a breach of academic integrity?
A breach of academic integrity includes but is not limited to plagiarism, self-plagiarism, collusion, cheating, contract cheating, and academic misconduct. The Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure defines what these terms mean and gives examples.

Why is academic integrity important?
A breach of academic integrity may result in one or more penalties, including suspension or even expulsion from the University. It can also have negative implications for student visas and future enrolment at CQUniversity or elsewhere. Students who engage in contract cheating also risk being blackmailed by contract cheating services.

Where can I get assistance?
For academic advice and guidance, the Academic Learning Centre (ALC) can support you in becoming confident in completing assessments with integrity and of high standard.

What can you do to act with integrity?

Be Honest
If your assessment task is done by someone else, it would be dishonest of you to claim it as your own

Seek Help
If you are not sure about how to cite or reference in essays, reports etc, then seek help from your lecturer, the library or the Academic Learning Centre (ALC)

Produce Original Work
Originality comes from your ability to read widely, think critically, and apply your gained knowledge to address a question or problem
