General Information

Overview

Organisations are facing a crisis in productivity and global business competition which is threatening their very existence in the market. Coupled with this challenge is the demand that organisations deliver an increased quality of work life to employees and comply with an intricate and complex set of laws, regulations and court decisions. This unit provides you with an introduction to human resource management (HRM), and to frameworks and models that explain the core functions of HRM such as planning, recruitment, development, reward and motivating employees. In this unit, you will examine how human resources functions, strategies, and practices help an organisation to perform efficiently and effectively, and assist organisations to achieve a sustained competitive advantage. You will also examine the role of HRM in diverse organisations and different cultural contexts to understand what constitutes ethical human resource management.

Assessment Tasks

1 Presentation

Assessment Type

Presentation

Task Description

Purpose: The primary purpose of Assessment 1 is to help you develop a critical understanding of future trends in HRM within the context of current academic literature. The second purpose is to enhance your oral communication and presentation skills.

You are expected to deliver a presentation on an article from a peer-reviewed journal, published within the last five years, focusing on one of the following topics. Your presentation will take place during your weekly workshop, corresponding to the topic you have selected (for example, if you choose the Week 4 topic, your presentation will be scheduled for the Week 4 workshop).

- Week 4 - HRIMS (From Chapter 4: HRP in a changing environment)
- Week 5 - Hybrid work arrangements - (From Chapter 5: Work design challenges in a global environment)
- Week 6 - Attracting underrepresented employee groups - (From Chapter 6: Talent attraction and selection)
- Week 7 - Artificial intelligence for T&D in organisations (From Chapter 7: Talent retention, and development)
- Week 8 - GIG Work (From Chapter 8: Management of performance)
- Week 9 - Evaluating and/or recognizing innovative employee behaviours (From Chapter 9: Strategic reward management)
- Week 10 - OH&S and flexi-work (From Chapter 10: Managing work health and safety)
- Week 11 - Negotiations in a virtual setting (From Chapter 11: Workplace negotiation processes)
- Week 12 - HR Analytics (From Chapter 12: Evaluating HRM: towards the future)

Step 1: Nominate a topic - You will nominate for a topic in class in Week 2. Only 4-5 presentations can be held each week.

Step 2: Select one article for your presentation - Start gathering ideas for your topic with a review of a relevant textbook chapter and the references at the end of the chapter. Identify a peer-reviewed journal article on the chosen topic. A few such journals include: Human Resource Management (US), Human Resource Management Journal (UK), International Journal of Human Resource Management, Personnel Review, and Asia Pacific Journal of Human Resources. The article must have been published within the last five years.

Step 3: Analysis - Critically review the chosen article to identify a key theme for current research and thinking on your topic, rather than simply summarising the article.

Step 4: Design your presentation - A template has been provided to guide your presentation with the aim to engage your class on the latest research on your HRM topic.

Presentation is to be a maximum of seven (7) minutes with a maximum of seven to ten (7-10) PowerPoint slides. You need to communicate: the title, topic, objective of the research, method for the research, argument/findings, Conclusion, and how it contributes to the week's lecture theme.

Upload your slides before the presentation day to assist with prompt in-class marking.

Assessment Due Date

During workshops from weeks 4-12 inclusive.

Return Date to Students

Presentations will be graded and written feedback will be given in one working week on the Moodle site.

Academic Integrity Statement

As a CQUniversity student you are expected to act honestly in all aspects of your academic work.

Any assessable work undertaken or submitted for review or assessment must be your own work. Assessable work is any type of work you do to meet the assessment requirements in the unit, including draft work submitted for review and feedback and final work to be assessed.

When you use the ideas, words or data of others in your assessment, you must thoroughly and clearly acknowledge the source of this information by using the correct referencing style for your unit. Using others' work without proper acknowledgement may be considered a form of intellectual dishonesty.

Participating honestly, respectfully, responsibly, and fairly in your university study ensures the CQUniversity qualification you earn will be valued as a true indication of your individual academic achievement and will continue to receive the respect and recognition it deserves.

As a student, you are responsible for reading and following CQUniversity's policies, including the Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure. This policy sets out CQUniversity's expectations of you to act with integrity, examples of academic integrity breaches to avoid, the processes used to address alleged breaches of academic integrity, and potential penalties.

What is a breach of academic integrity?

A breach of academic integrity includes but is not limited to plagiarism, self-plagiarism, collusion, cheating, contract cheating, and academic misconduct. The Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure defines what these terms mean and gives examples.

Why is academic integrity important?

A breach of academic integrity may result in one or more penalties, including suspension or even expulsion from the University. It can also have negative implications for student visas and future enrolment at CQUniversity or elsewhere. Students who engage in contract cheating also risk being blackmailed by contract cheating services.

Where can I get assistance?

For academic advice and guidance, the Academic Learning Centre \(ALC\) can support you in becoming confident in completing assessments with integrity and of high standard.

What can you do to act with integrity?

Be Honest

If your assessment task is done by someone else, it would be dishonest of you to claim it as your own

Seek Help

If you are not sure about how to cite or reference in essays, reports etc, then seek help from your lecturer, the library or the Academic Learning Centre (ALC)

Produce Original Work

Originality comes from your ability to read widely, think critically, and apply your gained knowledge to address a question or problem
