Term Specific Information

Note:

Like traditional dissertations, the two components of the Master of Letters (Creative Writing) completed in HUMT20016 (creative artefact) and HUMT20017 (exegesis) are assessed on a single dissertation submitted for examination. The final creative artefact together with the exegesis as a combined Dissertation document will be assessed by external examination involving two separate examiners. This process mimics the 'blind review' method adopted for MA (Creative Writing) and PhD (Creative Writing) examination. This process will be undertaken at the conclusion to HUMT20017 Research Dissertation: Creative Writing B. The external examination process typically takes around 6 - 8 weeks. Be aware therefore that while you will receive feedback on all assessment items for HUMT20016 (and HUMT20017), you will not receive a final grade until the external examination process has been completed. As such, an interim letter grade of DA ('Deferred Assessment') will appear on your transcript (for HUMT20016 and HUMT20017) until the external examination process has been completed. That is, once your complete Dissertation comprising the creative artefact and the exegesis (completed in HUMT20016 and HUMT20017) has been submitted for external examination and returned, only then will your final letter grade (based on said external examination) appear on your transcript. As before, the external examination process typically takes around 6 - 8 weeks.

Return Date to Students

Exam Week Friday (25 Oct 2019)

Return of this item is subject to the external examination process, which typically takes around 6 - 8 weeks.

Weighting

10%

Assessment Criteria

The Annotated Bibliography and Literature Review will be assessed based on the way the submission:

1. Establishes creative writing research territory;
2. Establishes significance of creative writing territory;
3. Establishes creative writing research niche. (Briefly reviews what has been found, and then identifies a gap. Discusses what has been found, but points out inconsistency of results.);
4. Motivates next part of creative writing literature review;
5. Further justifies the need to investigate the impact of research methodology on creative writing praxis;
6. Reviews the chronological development of research in creative writing (an approach that is useful at times, but not always the best). Discusses one key paper at a time by describing its methods and key findings, but then identifies weaknesses in the method and/or limitations in the findings. Then discusses how the next researchers tried to address these problems;
7. Presents a flawlessly prepared item including close attention to grammar and a perfected approach to Harvard style referencing.

2 Written Assessment 2 - Exegesis

Assessment Type

Written Assessment

Task Description

The exegesis should be constituted by a piece of critical writing focused on the processes of creating the creative artefact. The exegesis will be the result of extensive research into the various aspects of the creative writing project: the characteristics of the genre, the theoretical and literary influence of the context and the shaping elements in a literary work of art. To satisfy the requirements of the degree the exegesis must demonstrate substantial conceptualisation of the characteristics of the genre, the influence of the context and the shaping elements in a creative work.

The exegesis will be assessed as a contextualisation of the research undertaken in the form of critical writing, and not as a separate research paper. In other words, the creative writing component constitutes the research outcome and the exegesis is intended to comment on that research as it was applied to the student's creative process.

Assessment Due Date

Return Date to Students

Return of this item is subject to the external examination process, which typically takes around 6 - 8 weeks.

Weighting

40%

Assessment Criteria

The exegesis ('explanation or interpretation') is a piece of 'critical' writing (to distinguish this from the 'creative' writing of the artefact). Typically, an exegesis is no more than 25-33% of the dissertation/creative artefact.

To satisfy the requirements of the degree the exegesis must demonstrate substantial conceptualisation of the characteristics of the genre, the influence of the context and the shaping elements in a creative work. The exegesis will be assessed as a contextualisation of the research undertaken in the form of critical writing, and not as a separate research paper. In other words, the creative writing component constitutes the research outcome and the exegesis is intended to comment on that research as it was applied to the student's creative process.

External examination of the Exegesis (completed in HUMT20017) will be based on the extent to which the Exegesis:

1. Makes a contribution to knowledge and creativity

- Characteristics of the corresponding interrelated creative exegesis demonstrating a substantial and original contribution to the knowledge/s of the discipline/s.
- The exegesis represents a theoretically informed critical commentary of the enterprise of literary creativity.

2. Indicators of significance and potential impact

- Significance of exegesis in making a contribution to knowledge in the area with which it deals (including original and new knowledge within the genre discipline/s)
- Proficiency of the exegesis in its analysis of the chosen medium and/or genre, and the extent to which it affords evidence of originality in conception, inquiry, and/or execution
- Potential significance and impact of the exegesis in relation to informing creative literature and/or literary practice

3. Indicators of quality research

- Discussion of research findings in relation to the creative component using theoretical and/or reflexive discourse
- Scope of literature consulted, synthesised and interpreted
- Use of selected theories/concepts
- Analysis and interpretation of findings
- Use of primary and secondary sources
- Choice, accuracy and rigor of methodology

4. Indicators of presentation

- Clarity and cohesion of writing and argumentation
- Quality of English expression and grammar
- Quality of editing and proofreading
- Quality of layout, presentation
- Quality of referencing using the Harvard (author-date) style

3 Written Assessment 3 - Final Complete Dissertation

Assessment Type

Written Assessment

Task Description

Students are required to submit for assessment a Dissertation comprising a major piece of creative writing (or a body of work) together with an exegesis, as well as associated information specific to the arrangement of the Dissertation document (e.g., Outside front cover, Title page, Signed declaration, Abstract, Table of contents, etc).

Both the Creative Work (the creative artefact) and the Exegesis must be produced during candidature and under supervision. Typically, the word length of the dissertation proper will be no fewer than 15 000 words, and no more than 20 000 words. With the exegesis portion of the document (completed in HUMT20017 Research Dissertation Creative Writing B) accounting for around 25% - 33% of the total word count, the word length of the creative artefact will typically range between 10 500 - 14 000 words.

To satisfy the requirements of the degree, the Dissertation must make a significant contribution to knowledge concerning literature, creative literary expression, and display mastery of the field.

The Dissertation represents the end result of extensive research into the various aspects of the creative writing project, including, but not limited to, the theoretical and literary influence of the context and the shaping elements constituting the literary work of art.

Please see the unit moodle site for more detailed and comprehensive information.

Weighting

Assessment Criteria

Examiners of the Creative Writing Dissertation will be asked to indicate whether:

- the creative work makes a significant contribution to knowledge concerning literature and culture, and displays mastery of the field
- the exegesis demonstrates substantial conceptualisation of the characteristics of the genre, the influence of the context and the shaping elements in a creative work
- the complete work contains material worthy of publication in a form suitable to the discipline
- the format and literary presentation of the creative component and the exegesis are satisfactory.

Academic Integrity Statement

As a CQUniversity student you are expected to act honestly in all aspects of your academic work.

Any assessable work undertaken or submitted for review or assessment must be your own work. Assessable work is any type of work you do to meet the assessment requirements in the unit, including draft work submitted for review and feedback and final work to be assessed.

Using others' work without proper acknowledgement may be considered a form of intellectual dishonesty.

Participating honestly, respectfully, responsibly, and fairly in your university study ensures the CQUniversity qualification you earn will be valued as a true indication of your individual academic achievement and will continue to receive the respect and recognition it deserves.

As a student, you are responsible for reading and following CQUniversity's policies, including the Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure. This policy sets out CQUniversity's expectations of you to act with integrity, examples of academic integrity breaches to avoid, the processes used to address alleged breaches of academic integrity, and potential penalties.

What is a breach of academic integrity?

A breach of academic integrity includes but is not limited to plagiarism, self-plagiarism, collusion, cheating, contract cheating, and academic misconduct. The Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure defines what these terms mean and gives examples.

Why is academic integrity important?

A breach of academic integrity may result in one or more penalties, including suspension or even expulsion from the University. It can also have negative implications for student visas and future enrolment at CQUniversity or elsewhere. Students who engage in contract cheating also risk being blackmailed by contract cheating services.

Where can I get assistance?

For academic advice and guidance, the Academic Learning Centre \(ALC\) can support you in becoming confident in completing assessments with integrity and of high standard.

What can you do to act with integrity?

Be Honest

If your assessment task is done by someone else, it would be dishonest of you to claim it as your own

Seek Help

If you are not sure about how to cite or reference in essays, reports etc, then seek help from your lecturer, the library or the Academic Learning Centre (ALC)

Produce Original Work

Originality comes from your ability to read widely, think critically, and apply your gained knowledge to address a question or problem
