General Information

Overview

You will deeply consider education and learning in the cultural interface, that is where Indigenous and non-Indigenous cultures have met and continue to meet. As you journey through the unit, you develop your awareness on: how rights of Indigenous Australians were disregarded under colonisation; Indigenous peoples' struggle for justice; and how non-Indigenous colonial systems have resisted ceding control. You reflect critically and ethically on non-Indigenous systems; the need for decolonisation and how to enable the rights of First Nation people, as defined by (UNDRIP- United Nations Declaration of the Rights of Indigenous Peoples). Your learning journey is one of knowledge acquisition and enabling your critical and ethical reflection as you deeply consider colonisation and then decolonisation, including the role of discourse in this space. In this unit you will develop your conceptual thinking to enable the ideas in the unit to foster your future role as an active and socially innovative citizen and professional, capable of decolonisation and so fostering a more just society where First Nation rights, and non-Indigenous awareness and obligations, are brought to the fore.

Assessment Tasks

1 Content Analysis Report

Assessment Type

Written Assessment

Task Description

Content Analysis Report - 40%

DUE: 18 August 2021, 11:45 PM AEST

The purpose of this assessment is for you to demonstrate your awareness of the representation of Aboriginal and/ or Torres Strait Islander Australians in contemporary media and the overt and covert messages the media convey. Select 3 articles, through a content analysis of the articles you will investigate and critically analyse the portrayal of Australia's First Nations people and consider the social and cultural reproduction in Australian media articles. Write 1,600 words in total (about the articles) in the format of a written report.

Your report will be assessed on quality of your engagement with appropriate articles; quality and capacity to make links to the unit content and readings; your research on representation of Indigenous Australians; and your conclusion/s.

Select 3 news articles about Aboriginal and/ or Torres Strait Islander Australians, events or issues from Australian news outlets (e.g. newspapers). Provide a critical analysis of these articles. Include an introduction outlining the content. After you have completed the content analysis of each of the 3 articles you then write a summary conclusion of your findings. You may do the summary conclusion individually (article by article) or collectively (considering the 3 articles together).

You can source your articles on-line

A reference is required for each article (include as far as possible the author, date, title and source). Include a link to the article or attach them to the back of your content analysis report as an appendix.

Advice

Here are some examples of the issues your media analysis could consider:

Does the article portray a negative or positive image?
How much space is devoted to the article; is it in a prominent or less obvious position, and what does this impute?
How accurate do you believe the story was?
What media outlet did the article appear in and how is this relevant?
Is the article implying a hidden message about Indigenous people? If so how or why?
Does the article reinforce any stereotypes: if so are they positive or negative or ambiguous?
Is there overt or covert racism?
Does the language 'other' Indigenous Australian people- if so how?
Other issues or questions about the article you consider are important.

WORD COUNT: The word count is considered from the first word of the introduction to the last word of the conclusion. It excludes the cover page, abstract, contents page, reference page and appendices. It includes in-text referencing, direct quotations and words contained within tables that are in the body of the assignment.

Assessment Type

Written Assessment

Task Description

To gain awareness of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Australians and their cultures, it is important to understand how the past may influence the lived experience of First Nations people in contemporary Australian society. The past also impacts on how many non-Indigenous people interact with First Australians. Write a 2000 word academic essay on ONE of the following topics

- Identify three major policies or practices that have been discussed in the unit. Your major focus should be to describe and critically analyse each policy/practice for its impact on First Nation Australians. Finally, critically reflect on the impact of these policies/practices (collectively or individually) on relationships and learnings between First Nation and non-Indigenous Australians. Attach as an appendix one of your discussion forum posts which outlines your reflections on the policies or practices.

OR

- Drawing on academic literature, outline and critically reflect on: the premises of 'terra nullius' when proclaimed; and the key reasons terra nullius was overthrown in the High Court. Then briefly outline the key requests of the Uluru Statement from the Heart. Finally, in the context of both discussions, critically and ethically reflect on your view of a just constitutional future for non-Indigenous and First Nation Australians. Attach as an appendix one of your discussion forum posts which outlines your reflections on terra nullius or the Uluru Statement from the Heart.

Students need to research the literature and use at least five sources for their assignment. All sources used must be accurately referenced using APA. Weight: 60%. Due Date: Wednesday 6 October 2021.

Any assessable work undertaken or submitted for review or assessment must be your own work. Assessable work is any type of work you do to meet the assessment requirements in the unit, including draft work submitted for review and feedback and final work to be assessed.

When you use the ideas, words or data of others in your assessment, you must thoroughly and clearly acknowledge the source of this information by using the correct referencing style for your unit. Using others' work without proper acknowledgement may be considered a form of intellectual dishonesty.

Participating honestly, respectfully, responsibly, and fairly in your university study ensures the CQUniversity qualification you earn will be valued as a true indication of your individual academic achievement and will continue to receive the respect and recognition it deserves.

As a student, you are responsible for reading and following CQUniversity's policies, including the Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure. This policy sets out CQUniversity's expectations of you to act with integrity, examples of academic integrity breaches to avoid, the processes used to address alleged breaches of academic integrity, and potential penalties.

What is a breach of academic integrity?

Why is academic integrity important?

A breach of academic integrity may result in one or more penalties, including suspension or even expulsion from the University. It can also have negative implications for student visas and future enrolment at CQUniversity or elsewhere. Students who engage in contract cheating also risk being blackmailed by contract cheating services.

For academic advice and guidance, the Academic Learning Centre \(ALC\) can support you in becoming confident in completing assessments with integrity and of high standard.

What can you do to act with integrity?

Be Honest

If your assessment task is done by someone else, it would be dishonest of you to claim it as your own

Seek Help

If you are not sure about how to cite or reference in essays, reports etc, then seek help from your lecturer, the library or the Academic Learning Centre (ALC)

Produce Original Work

Originality comes from your ability to read widely, think critically, and apply your gained knowledge to address a question or problem
