General Information

Overview

This unit offers a broad overview of the history of interaction between Aborigines, Torres Strait Islanders, and the wider Australian community from 1788 to the present. It begins by posing questions about what constitutes indigenous history, how should it be written, and by whom. It then surveys pre-colonial Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander societies, examining among other things western theories and indigenous perceptions of origins, social organisation, social values, kinship, and material culture. It goes on to describe and analyse 'first contact', and conflict on the colonial frontier, before embarking on a critical appraisal of government 'native' policy. The unit examines issues such as the 1960s Equal Pay cases, Land Rights and the 'stolen generations', in their historical context, and traces the emergence of a vigorous indigenous political culture.

Assessment Tasks

Assessment Type

Portfolio

Task Description

During weeks one to five, you are to build a personal weekly portfolio of two relevant resources that you have located and researched for each week's topic.

To complete this assessment task, do as follows:

- For each week, locate and read/ view/ listen to two resources (1 Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander authored & 1 Mainstream authored) that are relevant to that week's topic (do not include any of the set unit materials or readings).
- The resources can include journal articles, books, video clips, audio podcasts, reports, newspaper articles, substantial and informed blog postings.
- At least one resource should be located through CQUniversity Library's online scholarly journal databases, or in the general collection of books and reports.
- You can use the web to search for and find one other resource for each week.
- Read, compare and evaluate each resource; write a brief summary (150 words) describing what the resource is about and how it is relevant to the weekly topic.
- In the summary provide a personal viewpoint.

Before submitting your assignment in Week 6, ensure that all your resources are collated into one Portfolio document. Include at the beginning the Cover and Criteria sheet found in Assessment block of the Moodle site. Then list your portfolio items in the following order: Week number. Full reference for first resource. Summary describing first resource. Full reference for second resource. Summary describing second resource. (Repeat this for each of the five weeks - when the task is complete, you should have ten resources listed and summarised in your portfolio).

2 Written Assessment - Positional pieces

Assessment Type

Written Assessment

Task Description

Choose a contested event or period from Australian history that deals with Aboriginal and/ or Torres Strait Islander people or communities and write two positional pieces (700-750 words each) to contrast opposing perspectives about your chosen event.

Possible options may include:

- The Great Australian Silence in telling Australia's history.
- Terra Nullius - Settlement or invasion by the British Empire?
- The 'language of concealment' in the telling of Australian history.
- The structural violence of the colonisation of Australia.
- The 'breeding out' of the Australian 'Aborigine'.
- Negotiated option with your Unit Coordinator.

While researching the historical event thoroughly, you are to gather evidence from various perspectives, identifying contradictory, supportive and /or counter arguments relating to the event or historical period. You are then to write the two (2) positional pieces that present alternative perspectives of the historical event or period as revealed through your research.

The two positional pieces you choose could include any combination of the following:

- Letter to the editor
- News article
- Diary account
- Blog posting

The aim of the task is to show contrasting perspectives on a single historical event or period. While the assessment task could be written in the first person (where appropriate for the genre) and may be creative, fictitious pieces of writing, both pieces must be based on historical evidence and as such you must include the sources that you have drawn on to inform your writing.

*You may use either the Harvard or Turabian system of referencing (use one only, do not mix them).

Academic Integrity Statement

As a CQUniversity student you are expected to act honestly in all aspects of your academic work.

Any assessable work undertaken or submitted for review or assessment must be your own work. Assessable work is any type of work you do to meet the assessment requirements in the unit, including draft work submitted for review and feedback and final work to be assessed.

When you use the ideas, words or data of others in your assessment, you must thoroughly and clearly acknowledge the source of this information by using the correct referencing style for your unit. Using others' work without proper acknowledgement may be considered a form of intellectual dishonesty.

Participating honestly, respectfully, responsibly, and fairly in your university study ensures the CQUniversity qualification you earn will be valued as a true indication of your individual academic achievement and will continue to receive the respect and recognition it deserves.

As a student, you are responsible for reading and following CQUniversity's policies, including the Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure. This policy sets out CQUniversity's expectations of you to act with integrity, examples of academic integrity breaches to avoid, the processes used to address alleged breaches of academic integrity, and potential penalties.

What is a breach of academic integrity?

A breach of academic integrity includes but is not limited to plagiarism, self-plagiarism, collusion, cheating, contract cheating, and academic misconduct. The Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure defines what these terms mean and gives examples.

Why is academic integrity important?

A breach of academic integrity may result in one or more penalties, including suspension or even expulsion from the University. It can also have negative implications for student visas and future enrolment at CQUniversity or elsewhere. Students who engage in contract cheating also risk being blackmailed by contract cheating services.

Where can I get assistance?

For academic advice and guidance, the Academic Learning Centre \(ALC\) can support you in becoming confident in completing assessments with integrity and of high standard.

What can you do to act with integrity?

Be Honest

If your assessment task is done by someone else, it would be dishonest of you to claim it as your own

Seek Help

If you are not sure about how to cite or reference in essays, reports etc, then seek help from your lecturer, the library or the Academic Learning Centre (ALC)

Produce Original Work

Originality comes from your ability to read widely, think critically, and apply your gained knowledge to address a question or problem
