General Information

Overview

This unit provides you with a broad overview of the education of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples in Australia. It begins by looking at traditional ways of educating Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander children, before examining a history of Indigenous education since the colonisation of Australia by white settlers, and seeing how racism still has a major influence on Indigenous education. You will look at the impact of social factors, such as health issues, housing, remoteness, and poverty on education; and also see how different cultural factors, including Aboriginal and Torres Strait identities, different ways of teaching and learning, and language in particular, affect Indigenous education in Australia. You will look more specifically at teaching and learning in Indigenous communities, including some case studies. Finally, the unit allows you to explore trends in Indigenous early childhood education, school education, Indigenous vocational education and training (VET) and TAFE, and Indigenous tertiary education in more detail, including the influence that Indigenous Australians have had on mainstream education.

Previous Student Feedback

Feedback, Recommendations and Responses

Every unit is reviewed for enhancement each year. At the most recent review, the following staff and student feedback items were identified and recommendations were made.

Feedback from Student

Provided valued feedback that supported student learning and development. Fostered an inclusive and welcoming learning environment and actively promoted student interaction.

Recommendation

Continue providing valuable feedback that supports student learning and development while maintaining an inclusive and welcoming learning environment that encourages active participation. To further enhance student engagement and interaction, incorporate interactive oral assessments.

Feedback from Unit Coordinator

Feedback

Consider introducing interactive oral assessments within the unit, drawing on the successful experience of their implementation in Indigenous Australians and Health. This approach would enhance student engagement, provide opportunities for authentic demonstration of learning, strengthen communication skills, and support academic integrity through improved assessment security and learning assurance.

Recommendation

Introduce interactive oral assessments within the unit, drawing on the successful experience of their implementation in Indigenous Australians and Health.
