Term 1 - 2019

Profile information current as at 30/04/2024 11:53 am

All details in this unit profile for JOUR11005 have been officially approved by CQUniversity and represent a learning partnership between the University and you (our student). The information will not be changed unless absolutely necessary and any change will be clearly indicated by an approved correction included in the profile.

General Information

Overview

This unit will introduce you to historical, social and political contexts of journalistic practice. Topics covered include the history of 'journalism' in western and eastern cultures, a number of different genres of journalism, journalism as an institution, and media ethics. You will also consider the future of journalism and reflect on examples of best (and worst) practice as part of the unit.

Assessment Grading

This is a graded unit: your overall grade will be calculated from the marks or grades for each assessment task, based on the relative weightings shown in the table above. You must obtain an overall mark for the unit of at least 50%, or an overall grade of 'pass' in order to pass the unit. If any 'pass/fail' tasks are shown in the table above they must also be completed successfully ('pass' grade). You must also meet any minimum mark requirements specified for a particular assessment task, as detailed in the 'assessment task' section (note that in some instances, the minimum mark for a task may be greater than 50%). Consult the University's Grades and Results Policy for more details of interim results and final grades.

CQUniversity Policies

All University policies are available on the CQUniversity Policy site.

You may wish to view these policies:

Previous Student Feedback

Feedback, Recommendations and Responses

Every unit is reviewed for enhancement each year. At the most recent review, the following staff and student feedback items were identified and recommendations were made.

Feedback from Term 1 2018 Student Evaluation comments.

Feedback

Students commented that the modules were laid out in a very organised manner which assisted during assessment.

Recommendation

It is recommended to maintain Moodle unit design for future terms.

Feedback from Term 1 2018 Student Evaluation comments.

Feedback

Students commented on the strong links between the unit content and assessment pieces and how much they enjoyed the tasks.

Recommendation

It is recommended to maintain relevant unit content with strong links to the assessment.

Feedback from Term 1 2018 Student Evaluation comments.

Feedback

Students questioned the validity of the group element of the assessments, given they could work individually just as effectively.

Recommendation

It is recommended to provide further support around the requirements of group assessments.

Feedback from Term 1 2018 Student Evaluation comments.

Feedback

One student commented on whether the lecture material would be made available in PDF.

Recommendation

It is recommended to maintain current layout for future units to allow student access on all mobile devices.

Unit Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

1. Discuss the social and historical development of journalism from a range of cultural perspectives
2. Explain differences between journalism genres and the way in which genre influences journalistic practice
3. Critique and discuss issues relevant to journalistic practice in a contemporary media environment

Assessment Tasks

1 News Analysis

Assessment Type

Written Assessment

Task Description

This task requires you to analyse news in order to compare genres and approaches to journalistic practice. You should select and analyse three (3) contemporary news stories (published in the last month), including:

One (1) Sports news story; AND

One (1) Police or Court news story; AND

One (1) Political news story.

At least one (1) of these three stories should be of extended length (more than 1000 words), either a feature item, investigative piece, media interview or current affairs segment.

You will need to submit copies of the three (3) news stories you have chosen as appendices to your essay. These appendices can be scanned copies of print articles, transcripts (if the story was broadcast), or a 'cut and paste' of an online article. The appendices of the news stories need to be in such a form that teaching staff can refer to the original material. You will also need to include the details of the news stories as references in your assessment's Reference List.

Analyse EACH of the three stories using the following criteria.

1. List the who, what, where, when, why and how of each story.
2. List and justify the dominant news values in each of the news stories.
3. List the sources used in each article.
4. Identify the target audience based on the placement / presentation of each article. Which section? Was the story front page? Was it the top link? Was it the most prominent sports story?

Compare and contrast the three stories incorporating the following information.

Compare the differences in sources used in the three articles such as quoted facts and figures, personalities and/or identities.

What are the differences in the way the stories are written and presented? Account for differences in style, format and presentation. Consider the angle or the way the story is framed.

Discuss the significance of the three (3) stories in terms of their prominence and placement in the media outlet you have chosen.

What do the prominence and presentation of the three (3) stories tell you about the readership or audience of the local or state outlets in which they appear?

You are expected to reference your discussion. The word count is 1,500 words.

NOTE: WORD COUNT for written assignments

The word count is considered from the first word of the introduction to the last word of the conclusion. It excludes the cover page, abstract, contents page, reference page and appendices. It includes in-text references and direct quotations.

Assessment Due Date

2 Discovery Project

Assessment Type

Group Discussion

Task Description

Task Description

There are two parts to this assessment: 1) Presentation and discussion (Team) AND 2) Written submission (Individual).

1) Presentation and discussion (25%) (Team):

This assessment requires students to review the work of TWO journalists and present findings on those journalists.

As a group assignment, students will generally work in pairs with exceptions where necessary.

Each team must support your analysis with a slide presentation. Your final slide will include references.

All photographs used within the presentation must also be referenced. On-campus students can present this in class or preferably submit via the Moodle site; distance students will submit their presentation via Moodle. All presentations submitted online will need to include an embedded voice-over (maximum of 10 minutes). Guidance about creating effective presentations will be provided on the course website.

Ideally you will work in pairs for this task, but if you have extenuating circumstances, you may discuss the possibility of individual work with the Unit Coordinator. You will also be required to contribute to discussions about each journalist, and this discussion will be guided by teaching staff during class/on the forum.

You will need to choose one pair of journalists from the two options below and nominate your preference via the relevant Moodle forum. The unit coordinator will assign groups no later than Week 5, with the group presentation due in Week 10.

- Option 1
Kate McClymont (Australia)
Jamal Khashoggi (Saudi Arabia/USA)

or

- Option 2
Anderson Cooper (USA)
Emma Alberici (Australia)

The following criteria will help guide your research/structure for your presentations:

1. Provide a summary of this person's work.
2. Justify whether this person is a 'real' journalist using the definition of journalism in your textbook.
3. Explain whether the journalist's work reflects the ideals of The Fourth Estate.
4. Explain the genre for which the journalist is renowned.
5. Describe the journalist's most significant contribution to public knowledge or interest.
6. Describe the journalist's practice in terms of law and ethics.
7. List and explain the journalist's limitations/shortcomings.
8. Describe what you personally like the most about this journalist's work, and why.
9. Describe what you personally dislike about this journalist's work, and why.
10. Explain how the journalist might influence your approach to journalism as a profession, and why.

This is an introductory level task, and aims to: encourage you to meet and work with fellow students even if you're working by distance; introduce you to key concepts in journalism through practice; introduce you to research and presentation. It is supposed to be enjoyable. You are allowed to have fun.

All students working in a team will conduct a self and peer assessment, whereby each team member will evaluate the performance of themselves and their peers. Details about how to conduct a self and peer assessment will be provided. This process does not influence your grade unless it is clear that there is an issue, in which case teaching staff will talk to you. We know many students don't like to work in teams for a range of reasons, but our experience is also that learning to work effectively in teams comes from experience, a bit of training and support.

All members of a team will receive the same mark for the presentation component of this assessment.

2) Written submission (Individual) (25%):

All students will submit an individual written report that ranks (in their opinion) six (6) journalists in order, using the ranking criteria provided on Moodle with number 1 being 'the best'. This should be 2000 - 2500 words. You must discuss each of the four journalists from Part 1, plus an additional two (2) journalists of your choice. A list of suggested journalists will be provided, but you can choose anyone who fulfils the definition of "journalist". Choose wisely. They need not be practicing as a journalist now (and they need not be alive). You will draw upon the concepts you have learned during the term in your presentation and discussions, and each journalist should have a paragraph summary, followed by a sentence as to why you ranked them in the order you have. An example will be posted on Moodle. Referencing is required, and does not count towards the word count. You will need at least two sources per journalist.

NOTE: WORD COUNT for written assignments:

The word count is considered from the first word of the introduction to the last word of the conclusion. It excludes the cover page, abstract, contents page, reference page and appendices. It includes in-text references and direct quotations.

Academic Integrity Statement

As a CQUniversity student you are expected to act honestly in all aspects of your academic work.

Any assessable work undertaken or submitted for review or assessment must be your own work. Assessable work is any type of work you do to meet the assessment requirements in the unit, including draft work submitted for review and feedback and final work to be assessed.

When you use the ideas, words or data of others in your assessment, you must thoroughly and clearly acknowledge the source of this information by using the correct referencing style for your unit. Using others' work without proper acknowledgement may be considered a form of intellectual dishonesty.

Participating honestly, respectfully, responsibly, and fairly in your university study ensures the CQUniversity qualification you earn will be valued as a true indication of your individual academic achievement and will continue to receive the respect and recognition it deserves.

As a student, you are responsible for reading and following CQUniversity's policies, including the Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure. This policy sets out CQUniversity's expectations of you to act with integrity, examples of academic integrity breaches to avoid, the processes used to address alleged breaches of academic integrity, and potential penalties.

What is a breach of academic integrity?

A breach of academic integrity includes but is not limited to plagiarism, self-plagiarism, collusion, cheating, contract cheating, and academic misconduct. The Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure defines what these terms mean and gives examples.

Why is academic integrity important?

A breach of academic integrity may result in one or more penalties, including suspension or even expulsion from the University. It can also have negative implications for student visas and future enrolment at CQUniversity or elsewhere. Students who engage in contract cheating also risk being blackmailed by contract cheating services.

Where can I get assistance?

For academic advice and guidance, the Academic Learning Centre \(ALC\) can support you in becoming confident in completing assessments with integrity and of high standard.

What can you do to act with integrity?

Be Honest

If your assessment task is done by someone else, it would be dishonest of you to claim it as your own

Seek Help

If you are not sure about how to cite or reference in essays, reports etc, then seek help from your lecturer, the library or the Academic Learning Centre (ALC)

Produce Original Work

Originality comes from your ability to read widely, think critically, and apply your gained knowledge to address a question or problem
