

LAWS11065 Constitutional Law

Term 2 - 2018

Profile information current as at 01/05/2024 05:49 pm

All details in this unit profile for LAWS11065 have been officially approved by CQUniversity and represent a learning partnership between the University and you (our student). The information will not be changed unless absolutely necessary and any change will be clearly indicated by an approved correction included in the profile.

General Information

Overview

LAWS11065 Constitutional law examines the organization, source and limits of Commonwealth and State powers, and the relations between the three branches of government at Commonwealth and State levels. In this unit you will examine State and Commonwealth constitutions and constitutional systems; the constitution and operation of the legislature, executive and judiciary; the relationship between the different institutions of government and the separation of powers; and the relationship between the different levels of government. This unit meets the LPAB requirements for federal and state constitutional law.

Assessment Grading

This is a graded unit: your overall grade will be calculated from the marks or grades for each assessment task, based on the relative weightings shown in the table above. You must obtain an overall mark for the unit of at least 50%, or an overall grade of 'pass' in order to pass the unit. If any 'pass/fail' tasks are shown in the table above they must also be completed successfully ('pass' grade). You must also meet any minimum mark requirements specified for a particular assessment task, as detailed in the 'assessment task' section (note that in some instances, the minimum mark for a task may be greater than 50%). Consult the University's Grades and Results Policy for more details of interim results and final grades.

Previous Student Feedback

Feedback, Recommendations and Responses

Every unit is reviewed for enhancement each year. At the most recent review, the following staff and student feedback items were identified and recommendations were made.

Feedback from Student survey and emails

Feedback

The unit should be taught in year 2.

Recommendation

The Law Discipline should strongly consider making the unit a year 2 unit. This move would be consistent with the practices of most Australian LLB programs.

Feedback from Student survey and emails

Feedback

The 30-minute drop-in sessions (in addition to the regular weekly tutorials) were strongly appreciated by the students and assisted in their learning.

Recommendation

This practice should be continued. Over 20% of the cohort attended the drop-in sessions which provided further opportunity to dig deeper into and amplify on complex Constitutional Law concepts and cases.

Feedback from Student survey and emails

Feedback

The group assessment caused problems for some students.

Recommendation

Whilst the value of group assessments is recognised in the literature, it might be important to provide opportunities for students to do group assessment individually especially when there are insurmountable difficulties coordinating or contacting fellow distance students or when relationships and communications break down. As well, the formation of groups should not be finalised until after the Census Date.

Feedback from Student survey

Feedback

Assessments were returned on time and with adequate feedback.

Recommendation

All the assessments were returned on time and provided with adequate feedback to ensure that students understood their strengths and the areas for improvement. This was accomplished mainly because all the marking was done by the Unit Coordinator. The use of casual markers had caused major problems in the past.

Unit Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

1. Explain and discuss key constitutional law principles such as Australian federalism, the constitution and operation of the legislature, executive and judiciary, the relationship between the different institutions of government and the doctrine of separation of powers, constitutionalism, rule of law, parliamentary sovereignty, the relationship between the different levels of government, and responsible and representative government
2. Research case law and demonstrate critical thinking in applying case law, and key provisions and legal principles of the Australian Commonwealth Constitution, State constitutions, and statutes, to constitutional law issues and problems
3. Critically examine, evaluate, and explain the theoretical and actual operation and relationship of the Australian legislature, executive, and judiciary, at both federal and state levels.

Assessment Tasks

1 Summarise a resource for a team member

Assessment Type

Group Work

Task Description

There will be four research topics posted to the Moodle site during semester. You are to choose one to be the focus of your research assignment.

For this assessment, you are to pair up with someone who has selected one of the other topics (not the same as the one you have chosen).

To assist each other, you will prepare a summary of a resource related to your team member's chosen topic. In return, they will produce a summary of a resource on your chosen topic.

These summaries are to be discussed between the pairs.

Submit the summary you prepared for the other student to Moodle.

The summaries should be 500 words in length.

More details TBA.

2 Research Paper

Assessment Type

Written Assessment

Task Description

This is a written assessment which will allow you to research one of four topics proposed by the coordinator. It should refer to both cases and commentary on Constitutional law, and show a critical understanding of the law, including connections to social, political and/or theoretical perspectives. You may draw on current political or historical events in the research paper.

Expected length is 2000 words.

This exercise ties in with the group exercise (see above).

Topics will be released on the Moodle site during semester.

Academic Integrity Statement

As a CQUniversity student you are expected to act honestly in all aspects of your academic work.

Any assessable work undertaken or submitted for review or assessment must be your own work. Assessable work is any type of work you do to meet the assessment requirements in the unit, including draft work submitted for review and feedback and final work to be assessed.

When you use the ideas, words or data of others in your assessment, you must thoroughly and clearly acknowledge the source of this information by using the correct referencing style for your unit. Using others' work without proper acknowledgement may be considered a form of intellectual dishonesty.

Participating honestly, respectfully, responsibly, and fairly in your university study ensures the CQUniversity qualification you earn will be valued as a true indication of your individual academic achievement and will continue to receive the respect and recognition it deserves.

As a student, you are responsible for reading and following CQUniversity's policies, including the Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure. This policy sets out CQUniversity's expectations of you to act with integrity, examples of academic integrity breaches to avoid, the processes used to address alleged breaches of academic integrity, and potential penalties.

What is a breach of academic integrity?

A breach of academic integrity includes but is not limited to plagiarism, self-plagiarism, collusion, cheating, contract cheating, and academic misconduct. The Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure defines what these terms mean and gives examples.

Why is academic integrity important?

A breach of academic integrity may result in one or more penalties, including suspension or even expulsion from the University. It can also have negative implications for student visas and future enrolment at CQUniversity or elsewhere. Students who engage in contract cheating also risk being blackmailed by contract cheating services.

Where can I get assistance?

For academic advice and guidance, the Academic Learning Centre \(ALC\) can support you in becoming confident in completing assessments with integrity and of high standard.

What can you do to act with integrity?

Be Honest

If your assessment task is done by someone else, it would be dishonest of you to claim it as your own

Seek Help

If you are not sure about how to cite or reference in essays, reports etc, then seek help from your lecturer, the library or the Academic Learning Centre (ALC)

Produce Original Work

Originality comes from your ability to read widely, think critically, and apply your gained knowledge to address a question or problem
