General Information

Overview

Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR) examines the theory and application of procedures for the resolution of disputes as an alternative to a judicial process. In this unit you will examine ADR methods such as negotiation, mediation, conciliation and arbitration and theoretical developments such as Collaborative Law. You will develop basic skills in listening, negotiation and mediation. You will also explore how to design ADR approaches suitable to help resolve client disputes, quickly, at minimal cost and consistent with the principles of access to justice.

Previous Student Feedback

Feedback, Recommendations and Responses

Every unit is reviewed for enhancement each year. At the most recent review, the following staff and student feedback items were identified and recommendations were made.

Feedback from Workshop comments

Feedback

Most students found the family law practitioner Q&A informative and interesting.

Recommendation

The 2026 unit offering should continue to have professional Q&A sessions.

Most students enjoyed the 'open mic' part of each workshop because it allowed them to discuss their past personal experiences with ADR.

Recommendation

The 2026 unit offering should continue to have an 'open mic' ADR discussion in workshops.

Feedback from Student surveys

Feedback

Some students found the final exam novel and interesting, while others found it challenging due to time constraints.

Recommendation

The 2026 unit offering will replace the time-based final exam with two practical assessments.
