General Information

Overview

This unit enables students to acquire a sound knowledge of the Australian taxation system and the compliance requirements. It also provides students with an awareness of the key provisions of the relevant taxation legislation, and enables them to apply the relevant legislative concepts to determine taxation consequences. Topics include: the Constitution and taxation power; the concept, source and derivation of income; trading stock, exempt income, allowable deductions; tax offsets; and the determination of taxable income; decline in value; and miscellaneous business deductions; tax administration; fringe benefits tax; and goods and services tax. If you have successfully completed the unit LAWS20023 you should not enrol in this unit.

Previous Student Feedback

Feedback, Recommendations and Responses

Every unit is reviewed for enhancement each year. At the most recent review, the following staff and student feedback items were identified and recommendations were made.

Feedback from Student feedback

More practical examples needed to enhance learning

Recommendation

To ensure that the local sessional lecturers have a good practical knowledge of Australian taxation law and in particular the practical application of the law to a variety of situations.

Students must ensure that when they seek information on taxation law that they are referring to the latest information as taxation law changes every year particularly the income tax rates

Recommendation

To ensure that when information is obtained from the ATO website that it is the most up-to-date information. For example, the immediate write-off for plant and equipment in this financial year is only $20,000. The law was changed only recently.
