

LITR19057 Contemporary Australian Literature

Term 2 - 2017

Profile information current as at 09/05/2024 04:28 am

All details in this unit profile for LITR19057 have been officially approved by CQUniversity and represent a learning partnership between the University and you (our student). The information will not be changed unless absolutely necessary and any change will be clearly indicated by an approved correction included in the profile.

General Information

Overview

The aim of Contemporary Australian Literature is to show how Australia as a nation is imagined through various contemporary works of literature (fiction, poetry, short stories, poetry), particularly from the immediate post-war period until now (1945 onwards). Students will explore the ways in which Australian identities are constituted, changed and challenged by these texts, through a variety of critical perspectives and contexts of reception.

Assessment Grading

This is a graded unit: your overall grade will be calculated from the marks or grades for each assessment task, based on the relative weightings shown in the table above. You must obtain an overall mark for the unit of at least 50%, or an overall grade of 'pass' in order to pass the unit. If any 'pass/fail' tasks are shown in the table above they must also be completed successfully ('pass' grade). You must also meet any minimum mark requirements specified for a particular assessment task, as detailed in the 'assessment task' section (note that in some instances, the minimum mark for a task may be greater than 50%). Consult the University's Grades and Results Policy for more details of interim results and final grades.

Task Description

Hugh Mackay argues that myths and generation gaps 'aren't biologically inevitable: they are simply the result of different generations spending their formative years in different social, cultural, economic and technological environments' (Mackay, H 1997, Generations, Macmillian Sydney, p. 1). Discuss the tensions to which Mackay alludes by exploring some of these differences using direct evidence from George Johnston's My brother Jack.

Written Assessment

Task Description

Choose one of the following topics.

NB. Texts used in this essay should not be used in the research essay.

Topics

1. 'There's a time for sowin', and a time for reapin' (Summer of the Seventeenth Doll, 2001, p. 287). Do you agree with Emma's comment? Why? [Week 3]
2. What makes Les Murray's poem 'The Last Hellos' Australian? [Week 4]
3. In Patrick White's The eye of the storm, Elizabeth Hunter's 'desire for the illusion of beauty' shapes her identity and taints her memories. Discuss. [Week 5]
4. In The Orchard, what is the significance of the re-growth of the hands (p.267)? [Week 6]
5. 'Tim Winton's characters in Dirt Music inhabit a place that is both physically and emotionally at the very frontier of existence. This changes them in destructive ways'. Discuss.
6. Because Bliss is a story about stories, it is also a story about the effects of the folk theories which make up our cultural orthodoxies. How do some of these folk theories become stories that affect our cultural orthodoxies? [Week 8]
7. The slap, by Christos Tsiolkas, has been described as literary soap opera: lots of bubbles and froth but not much substance. Discuss. [Week 9]

8. Devlin-Glass suggests that Alexis Wright's Carpentaria 'melds satire with a new form of magic realism based in Indigenous knowledge' (Devlin-Glass, F 2008, 'A politics of the dreamtime: destructive and regenerative rainbows in Alexis Wright's Carpentaria', Australian Literary Studies, vol.23, no.4, p.392). How does this process work and what effect does it have on our understanding of Indigenous issues? [Week 10]
9. The major theme of Andrew Bovell's 'Speaking in tongues' is betrayal, but without much guilt and even less self-reflection. Discuss. [Week 11]

Length: No less than 1600 words

Task Description

Topics:

Choose one of the following (NB. Texts used in other assignments should not be used in this research essay):

1. 'Australian land and urban-scapes, frequently barren in themselves, are often metaphors for psychic and emotional quests characterised by disintegration and loss'. Discuss with reference to at least two of the set texts (or one of the set texts and a selection of Australian poetry).

2. Sneja Gunew and Kateryna Longley argue that 'Those who don't fit into the dominant historical narrative, who are not assimilated, either exist as boundary markers, token figures, or are consigned to the margin and thus either to invisibility or to permanent opposition.' Discuss with reference to at least two of the set texts (or one of the set texts and a selection of Australian poetry).

Academic Integrity Statement

As a CQUniversity student you are expected to act honestly in all aspects of your academic work.

Any assessable work undertaken or submitted for review or assessment must be your own work. Assessable work is any type of work you do to meet the assessment requirements in the unit, including draft work submitted for review and feedback and final work to be assessed.

When you use the ideas, words or data of others in your assessment, you must thoroughly and clearly acknowledge the source of this information by using the correct referencing style for your unit. Using others' work without proper acknowledgement may be considered a form of intellectual dishonesty.

Participating honestly, respectfully, responsibly, and fairly in your university study ensures the CQUniversity qualification you earn will be valued as a true indication of your individual academic achievement and will continue to receive the respect and recognition it deserves.

As a student, you are responsible for reading and following CQUniversity's policies, including the Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure. This policy sets out CQUniversity's expectations of you to act with integrity, examples of academic integrity breaches to avoid, the processes used to address alleged breaches of academic integrity, and potential penalties.

What is a breach of academic integrity?

A breach of academic integrity includes but is not limited to plagiarism, self-plagiarism, collusion, cheating, contract cheating, and academic misconduct. The Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure defines what these terms mean and gives examples.

Why is academic integrity important?

A breach of academic integrity may result in one or more penalties, including suspension or even expulsion from the University. It can also have negative implications for student visas and future enrolment at CQUniversity or elsewhere. Students who engage in contract cheating also risk being blackmailed by contract cheating services.

Where can I get assistance?

For academic advice and guidance, the Academic Learning Centre \(ALC\) can support you in becoming confident in completing assessments with integrity and of high standard.

What can you do to act with integrity?

Be Honest

If your assessment task is done by someone else, it would be dishonest of you to claim it as your own

Seek Help

If you are not sure about how to cite or reference in essays, reports etc, then seek help from your lecturer, the library or the Academic Learning Centre (ALC)

Produce Original Work

Originality comes from your ability to read widely, think critically, and apply your gained knowledge to address a question or problem
