

LITR19057 Contemporary Australian Literature

Term 2 - 2020

Profile information current as at 07/05/2024 03:47 pm

All details in this unit profile for LITR19057 have been officially approved by CQUniversity and represent a learning partnership between the University and you (our student). The information will not be changed unless absolutely necessary and any change will be clearly indicated by an approved correction included in the profile.

General Information

Overview

The aim of Contemporary Australian Literature is to show how Australia as a nation is imagined through various contemporary works of literature (fiction, poetry, short stories, poetry), particularly from the immediate post-war period until now (1945 onwards). Students will explore the ways in which Australian identities are constituted, changed and challenged by these texts, through a variety of critical perspectives and contexts of reception.

- Online

Attendance Requirements

All on-campus students are expected to attend scheduled classes - in some units, these classes are identified as a mandatory (pass/fail) component and attendance is compulsory. International students, on a student visa, must maintain a full time study load and meet both attendance and academic progress requirements in each study period (satisfactory attendance for International students is defined as maintaining at least an 80% attendance record).

Website

This unit has a website, within the Moodle system, which is available two weeks before the start of term. It is important that you visit your Moodle site throughout the term. Please visit Moodle for more information.

Class and Assessment Overview

Recommended Student Time Commitment

Each 6-credit Undergraduate unit at CQUniversity requires an overall time commitment of an average of 12.5 hours of study per week, making a total of 150 hours for the unit.

Assessment Grading

This is a graded unit: your overall grade will be calculated from the marks or grades for each assessment task, based on the relative weightings shown in the table above. You must obtain an overall mark for the unit of at least 50%, or an overall grade of 'pass' in order to pass the unit. If any 'pass/fail' tasks are shown in the table above they must also be completed successfully ('pass' grade). You must also meet any minimum mark requirements specified for a particular assessment task, as detailed in the 'assessment task' section (note that in some instances, the minimum mark for a task may be greater than 50%). Consult the University's Grades and Results Policy for more details of interim results and final grades.

Previous Student Feedback

Feedback, Recommendations and Responses

Every unit is reviewed for enhancement each year. At the most recent review, the following staff and student feedback items were identified and recommendations were made.

Feedback from Student response (unit evaluation)

Feedback

The support and scaffolding for essay writing was very helpful and beneficial. Lecturer responded promptly to questions posed and gave excellent feedback.

Recommendation

Unit coordinator continue to provide students with a supportive and positive learning experience.

Feedback from Student response (unit evaluation) and self-evaluation

Feedback

Student online Moodle participation was almost non existent (not the fault of the lecturer), making it difficult to discuss aspects of the selected material.

Recommendation

Develop strategies to encourage more forum/Zoom participation to assist students. One may be to have these form part of the assessment.

Feedback

There are too many novels/texts to cover adequately in only 12 weeks. For 3 assessments that means most students are only going to read/engage with the novels/texts applicable to their assessments.

Recommendation

Recommend providing novel excerpts/readings relevant to the weekly topics from all novels to encourage engagement with the material for each week, then offering the choice to read 3 of the novels in full for the 3 assessment tasks.

Unit Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

1. Identify and analyse a range of contemporary Australian literary texts and authors, as well as the historical contexts in which these texts were written and are read;
2. Identify, analyse and evaluate significant critical debates surrounding the reception of contemporary Australian literature;
3. Demonstrate clear critical thinking skills in sound textual and thematic analyses; and,
4. Collect, analyse and organise information and ideas about Australian literature, and to convey those ideas clearly in writing

1 Short Paper

Assessment Type

Written Assessment

Task Description

My Brother Jack is a bildungsroman which explores a range of contextual themes pertinent to Davey and those around him. Choose one of these themes (e.g. wartime nationalism, propaganda, post-war trauma, the working class, gender stereotyping, the search for identity, sibling rivalry, domestic violence, drunkenness) and using evidence from the novel, show how Davey thinks it is significant.

Word Length: No less than 1000 words

2 Short Paper #2

Assessment Type

Written Assessment

Task Description

Choose one of the following topics.

NB. Texts used in this essay should not be used in the research essay.

Topics

1. 'There's a time for sowin', and a time for reapin' (Summer of the Seventeenth Doll, 2001, p. 287). How does this comment help us to understand the major themes of the play?
2. Cynthia Ozick tells us that insight comes from the redemptive frisson between memory and experience. Explore the significance of the insights Dante gains from his reminiscences in David Malouf's Johnno.
3. Bliss is a story about the stories the characters tell in order to make sense of the world they live in. Discuss.
4. In The orchard, what is the significance of the persistent imagery of the hands?
5. In Sonya Harnett's Of a boy, the 'fictional' disappearance of the Metford children echoes the real-life story of the Beaumont children who disappeared in Adelaide in 1966. The novel portrays the suburbs of Australia, the place where most Australians live, not as the idyllic site of the Australian dream - the quarter-acre block with a brick-veneer 'castle' and a Hills Hoist - but as a dull, conformist, violent and perverse place. Drawing on some of the images in the novel, explore these two different views of the Australian suburbs.

6. The slap, by Christos Tsiolkas, has been described as literary soap opera: lots of bubbles and froth but not much substance. Discuss.
7. In Kim Scott's That deadman dance, Bobby Wabalanginy says: 'We thought making friends was the best thing... We learned your words and songs and stories, but you didn't want to hear ours'. Bearing this comment in mind, explain the significance of some of the ways Bobby and members of his Noongar tribe engage with the 'horizon people'.
8. Madeleine St John's The women in black is a coming-of-age story of women in the 1950s. Drawing evidence from the novel, explore the message that these pioneers are sending today's generation of young women.
9. 'Tim Winton's characters in Dirt Music inhabit a place that is both physically and emotionally at the very frontier of existence. This changes them in destructive ways'. Discuss.
10. In Too Much Lip, Melissa Lucashenko gives life to Durrungo, a small country town that one might come across in any part of regional NSW. Who are these people and why do their lives matter?

Written Assessment

Task DescriptionTopics:

Choose one of the following (NB. Texts used in other assignments may not be used in this research essay):

1. 'Australian land and urban-scapes, frequently barren in themselves, are often metaphors for psychic and emotional quests characterised by disintegration and loss'. Discuss with reference to at least two of the set texts.
2. Sneja Gunew and Kateryna Longley argue that 'Those who don't fit into the dominant historical narrative, who are not assimilated, either exist as boundary markers, token figures, or are consigned to the margin and thus either to invisibility or to permanent opposition.' Discuss with reference to two of the set texts.

Academic Integrity Statement

As a CQUniversity student you are expected to act honestly in all aspects of your academic work.

Any assessable work undertaken or submitted for review or assessment must be your own work. Assessable work is any type of work you do to meet the assessment requirements in the unit, including draft work submitted for review and feedback and final work to be assessed.

When you use the ideas, words or data of others in your assessment, you must thoroughly and clearly acknowledge the source of this information by using the correct referencing style for your unit. Using others' work without proper acknowledgement may be considered a form of intellectual dishonesty.

Participating honestly, respectfully, responsibly, and fairly in your university study ensures the CQUniversity qualification you earn will be valued as a true indication of your individual academic achievement and will continue to receive the respect and recognition it deserves.

As a student, you are responsible for reading and following CQUniversity's policies, including the Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure. This policy sets out CQUniversity's expectations of you to act with integrity, examples of academic integrity breaches to avoid, the processes used to address alleged breaches of academic integrity, and potential penalties.

What is a breach of academic integrity?

A breach of academic integrity includes but is not limited to plagiarism, self-plagiarism, collusion, cheating, contract cheating, and academic misconduct. The Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure defines what these terms mean and gives examples.

Why is academic integrity important?

A breach of academic integrity may result in one or more penalties, including suspension or even expulsion from the University. It can also have negative implications for student visas and future enrolment at CQUniversity or elsewhere. Students who engage in contract cheating also risk being blackmailed by contract cheating services.

Where can I get assistance?

For academic advice and guidance, the Academic Learning Centre \(ALC\) can support you in becoming confident in completing assessments with integrity and of high standard.

What can you do to act with integrity?

Be Honest

If your assessment task is done by someone else, it would be dishonest of you to claim it as your own

Seek Help

If you are not sure about how to cite or reference in essays, reports etc, then seek help from your lecturer, the library or the Academic Learning Centre (ALC)

Produce Original Work

Originality comes from your ability to read widely, think critically, and apply your gained knowledge to address a question or problem
