General Information

Overview

This unit prepares you for the clinical workplace through the development of skills in sonographic scanning techniques for the abdomen and urinary tract. You will be required to demonstrate the skills, knowledge and professional behaviours needed to work in a clinical setting, and will be assessed within a simulated environment. This unit prepares you for entry into the sonographic clinical environment using the Assessment of Readiness for Clinical tool (ARC) in conjunction with other assessment tasks.

Previous Student Feedback

Feedback, Recommendations and Responses

Every unit is reviewed for enhancement each year. At the most recent review, the following staff and student feedback items were identified and recommendations were made.

Feedback from SUTE data Student feedback

Some students identified that the tutorial time was difficult to manage along with lab commitments.

Recommendation

Request timetabling changes to ensure the weekly tutorial time is well clear of other competing learning activities.

Feedback from SUTE data Self-reflection

Feedback

A lack of connection was sometimes noted between the protocol and the marking tool by students and tutors.

Recommendation

Prioritise review and revision of marking tools and protocol for all modules before the term begins.
