General Information

Overview

This unit advances your preparation for the clinical workplace through the development of ultrasound scanning skills in the areas of lower extremity veins, carotid artery and transvaginal female pelvis. Psychomotor skills and professional behaviour techniques gained in previous scanning skills units and during clinical placement will be built upon, with an emphasis on problem solving techniques required to produce appropriate clinical outcomes. You are required to demonstrate the skills, knowledge, and professional behaviours needed to work in a clinical setting, and will be assessed within a simulated environment.

Previous Student Feedback

Feedback, Recommendations and Responses

Every unit is reviewed for enhancement each year. At the most recent review, the following staff and student feedback items were identified and recommendations were made.

Feedback from SUTE comments

Feedback

Tutorial engagement was high although some students found it hard to keep up with bi-weekly delivery in this double credit point unit.

Recommendation

Consider a reduction to weekly regular tutorials, but keeping several additional ones at key points through the term.

Feedback from SUTE comments

Feedback

Some of the new demonstration video resources did not have good audio quality.

Recommendation

Assess which videos are affected and replace with new videos.

Feedback from Student emails

Assessment 2 Part B (end of term) submissions were problematic for some students when using different types of electronic devices.

Recommendation

Explore alternate possibilities for students to submit their reflections from the term, peer feedback and speed round images.
