General Information

Overview

This advanced unit equips you with the strategic capabilities to lead and manage digital transformation initiatives within complex, globally connected environments. With a strong focus on leadership, you will critically examine how emerging technologies can be leveraged to drive innovation, improve organisational performance, and sustain competitive advantage. Through the analysis of real-world case studies, you will develop and apply leadership strategies that address the cultural, technological, and organisational challenges of digital transformation. The unit emphasises high-level decision-making, change leadership, and the ability to influence across diverse stakeholder groups in the pursuit of digital excellence.
