General Information

Overview

This unit is designed to introduce the importance of critical thinking to the process of decision-making in a managerial setting. The key aspects of critical thinking and reasoning, including knowledge, comprehension, analysis and application are considered. You will develop significant skills in building effective arguments by constructing, analysing, and critically evaluating arguments in the process of effective decision-making. You will apply these skills to data and information related to typical business decisions. The aim is to communicate effectively and collaborate with others in order to generate solutions to multi-faceted business problems in a simulated business environment. You will also be introduced to a range of techniques available to assist better group decision-making and how such skills may be applied in real-life business situations.

Assessment Overview

Assessment Grading

This is a graded unit: your overall grade will be calculated from the marks or grades for each assessment task, based on the relative weightings shown in the table above. You must obtain an overall mark for the unit of at least 50%, or an overall grade of 'pass' in order to pass the unit. If any 'pass/fail' tasks are shown in the table above they must also be completed successfully ('pass' grade). You must also meet any minimum mark requirements specified for a particular assessment task, as detailed in the 'assessment task' section (note that in some instances, the minimum mark for a task may be greater than 50%). Consult the University's Grades and Results Policy for more details of interim results and final grades.
