MGMT29013 Professional Practice and Career Development
Term 2 - 2026

Profile information current as at 08/01/2025 09:22 pm

General Information

Overview

This unit supports you in your preparation for your professional life beyond graduation. You will learn about contemporary perspectives on professional practice, professionalism, and careers, and you will develop your understanding of how these concepts are related to your future career choices. You will develop awareness of the labour market, as well as the competencies required in the pursuit of various career options. Throughout this unit, you will rely on self-analysis and reflection to establish your own level of competence and personal development needs. Based on understanding the environment, career options, and your current situation, you will strategise for future career success by setting career goals, working towards them, and planning for continued success through lifelong learning and continuous professional development.

Previous Student Feedback

Feedback, Recommendations and Responses
Every unit is reviewed for enhancement each year. At the most recent review, the following staff and student feedback items were identified and recommendations were made.

Feedback from Teaching team; self-reflection.

Feedback
Artificial Intelligence (AI) is used in the labour market and the students need to be educated on how they may encounter AI in their career management process.

Recommendation
Include relevant content on Artificial Intelligence in the career and labour market context.

Feedback from SUTE comments; student feedback

Feedback
Practical career-related activities are important and useful.

Recommendation
Retain the approach of focusing on practical activities for career management in this unit.

Feedback from Student feedback

Feedback
Guest speaker from the Careers team was well received.

Recommendation
Retain involvement of guest speaker and seek to include an additional speaker in future iterations.
