General Information

Overview

In this unit, you will explore composition and production techniques for professional film and game audio in the creation of an original score for visual media. You will analyse the composition and sound design techniques of a range of visual media from film to game audio and learn a range of techniques that underpin these styles. You will further explore advanced recording, synthesis and sampling techniques in composing for visual media. In the major portfolio assessment, you will be required to plan for and create an original score and sound design elements for a piece of visual media.

Previous Student Feedback

Feedback, Recommendations and Responses

Every unit is reviewed for enhancement each year. At the most recent review, the following staff and student feedback items were identified and recommendations were made.

Feedback from Student Feedback

Feedback

Students indicated a need for clearer unit and assessment instructions, highlighting uncertainty around expectations and task requirements.

Recommendation

Review and refine all unit documentation, including weekly instructions, assessment briefs, and example resources. Provide more explicit guidance in class and through Moodle, and introduce step-by-step breakdowns of assessment tasks to support clarity and consistency for future cohorts.
