General Information

Overview

This unit will provide you with the knowledge of the health and healthcare needs of a range of people within Australia's culturally diverse society with an emphasis on Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander health perspectives. You will review contemporary models of health services used to provide healthcare to populations in urban, rural and remote locations. You will explore the social determinants of health by analysing health conditions and the provision of quality and culturally safe health care. The role of the government will also be analysed in terms of the provision of health care. You will use your judgement in a range of simulated scenarios across these contextual factors in order to contribute to meaningful and responsive care.

Previous Student Feedback

Feedback, Recommendations and Responses

Every unit is reviewed for enhancement each year. At the most recent review, the following staff and student feedback items were identified and recommendations were made.

Feedback from data smart

overall happy with Unit coordinator Simone Ohlin

Recommendation

Continue to explain the unit in real-world terms.

Feedback

This was a fantastic unit and made me realise the lack of cultural safety in my previous practice. I'm now confident that my skills are dramatically improved and I have a greater awareness of my responsibilities. The second assignment was appreciated as an opportunity to analyse a position and how it fits with my abilities. It's fantastic to have this exercise and feedback from Simone to improve my job applications in the future. This was a fantastic unit and a really positive experience. I'm very grateful for everything I've learnt.

Recommendation

Continue to align Unit outcomes to assessment.
