Profile information current as at 30/04/2024 10:55 am

All details in this unit profile for OCCT12002 have been officially approved by CQUUniversity and represent a learning partnership between the University and you (our student). The information will not be changed unless absolutely necessary and any change will be clearly indicated by an approved correction included in the profile.

General Information

Overview

In this unit, you will be introduced to the evolving concept of occupational justice and explore situations where people are deprived of meaningful occupation. You will use an occupational justice lens to look from a local and global perspective at situations where people are experiencing challenges with occupational participation and engagement. The role of the occupational therapist as a facilitator of occupational justice will be examined, using both an occupational justice framework and also occupational therapy practice models. You will develop an understanding of how occupational justice sits with social justice concepts and considerations, including concepts such as social innovation.

Previous Student Feedback

Feedback, Recommendations and Responses

Every unit is reviewed for enhancement each year. At the most recent review, the following staff and student feedback items were identified and recommendations were made.

Feedback from Have Your Say Direct feedback to unit coordinator

Feedback

Following their T1 on-campus experience in 2021, this cohort requested the option of online learning via Zoom and via Huddle Spaces. Zoom and Huddle Spaces were offered to all students in this T2 offering. Upon completion of the term and during the period of Have Your Say evaluations, numerous students provided feedback that they would prefer on-campus attendance and participation.

Recommendation

It is recommended, following feedback and discussion with the occupational therapy academic team, that OCCT classes in T1 2022 for this cohort will be routinely scheduled for on-campus attendance, allowing for the occasional online delivery as class content permits.

Unit Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

1. Articulate the concept of occupational justice at a local and global level.
2. Identify and describe situations where people are deprived of meaningful occupation and explore the causes.
3. Articulate the role of the occupational therapy in promoting occupational justice.
4. Identify and describe occupational injustice occurring in a local community and the programs and measures being taken to address those injustice issues.

Assessment Tasks

1 20% Presentation assessment - Application of Occupational Justice concepts to occupational therapy practice

Assessment Type

Presentation

Task Description

This assessment requires you to prepare and deliver a Presentation in student pairs/groups based on an analysis of a piece of occupational justice literature. This assessment is designed to facilitate early engagement in the unit material.

You are required to present on one journal paper as allocated in week 1 by the teaching staff. The list of papers to be covered is supplied in your Unit Profile and will also be available on Moodle. Your one allocated paper is within the list of numerous peer-reviewed publications in the week 5 sections of the Unit Profile Schedule and the week 5 Moodle tile.

Use of power-point or similar to prepare the key points is recommended for effective communication of your content to the audience. Individual marks will be allocated to students based on presentation skills and ability to respond to peer and examiner questions. These may occur throughout the presentation or at the conclusion of the presentation, dependent on the flow of the content. All sources must be acknowledged using APA 7th referencing style.

Use the following as a guide to prepare your presentation slides:

1. Study title & aim of the paper (1 slide)
 2. Background – key literature that provides justification for the paper (2 slides max)
 3. The occupational justice issues raised (2-4 slides)
 4. Your appraisal – what are the implications for occupational therapy practice? What are the possible implications for future occupational therapy research? (up to 6 slides)
 5. Identification of questions or key take-home messages you have as a result of this article (up to 6 slides). How has this article enhanced your knowledge? What more do you need to know? What were you surprised by? How has this impacted your worldview?
- (Individuals must each contribute to this as there will be a corresponding assessment criterion where each is allocated an individual mark).

You will not be able to effectively complete steps 3, 4 and 5 in the guide above without drawing on literature from the OCCT12002 reading list and other relevant references. In order for a thorough analysis and reflection to be presented, it is recommended that you draw upon approximately five pieces of literature, which must be included in your reference list.

The presentation is required to be for a length of 15 minutes. Penalties will be applied if the presentation is less than 13 minutes and if it exceeds 17 minutes. There must be time to allow for individuals to respond to questions from the peer cohort and assessor. Questions and discussion may arise from your presentation (and hopefully will) but this must occur within the upper limit of 17 minutes.

Assessment Due Date

Week 5 Thursday (11 Aug 2022) 8:00 am AEST

Upload your presentation to Moodle by 8am on the day of the class presentations

Return Date to Students

2 35% Written Assessment occupational justice at the collective level or global level

Assessment Type

Written Assessment

Task Description

You are required to complete an 1800 word written essay on 'Occupational Justice at the Collective Level or Global Level'. This task is designed to give you an understanding and perspective of occupational injustices affecting collectives/groups when so much of our work is typically with individuals/families. It develops your consideration of moving beyond the individual and identifying collective occupations and working with groups/communities.

Some students may choose to move their focus away from local issues to a more global situation.

It will assist you to develop skills in reflection, analysis, professional reasoning and report-writing, particularly in relation to occupational justice. Your research must include journal articles and text-book sources as provided in the unit materials and you must demonstrate evidence of wider reading of the professional, peer-reviewed literature. Please select 10-15 contemporary papers to make your work as up-to-date as possible and to obtain the best possible mark.

Your essay must include the following:

- a description of the issues including a summary of any relevant and contemporary media coverage
- identification of any advocacy groups who work to present facts, raise awareness and move people to action on this issue
- presentation and explanation of occupational injustices featured in this collective issue
- explanation of how you would apply the POJF and/or the CORE approach to address the occupational injustices and enact change on this issue

Your topic = Occupational injustices experienced by a group of your choosing. Examples include older people in residential aged care, homelessness in regional Australian communities, higher incarceration rates of ethnic groups in international settings, refugee situations based on civil unrest and wars.....

Please note the following additional details:

- as a guideline, the length of the main body of your essay should be approximately 1800 words excluding references. Submissions that are substantially longer (e.g. 2300 words) or shorter than this (1300 words) are unlikely to score as highly as those that make the best use of the 1800 word length. Marks will not be deducted based on word count.
- you are required to use APA 7th edition guidelines for style and formatting. This includes your font size, spacing, indents and any use of headings and tables. Please refer to your CQUniversity APA 7th edition style guide.
- please save and upload your file in a Word format (.doc or .docx) rather than PDF

3 45% Report (with summary presentation) - Advocacy, Change-making and Social Innovation through an Occupational Justice Lens

Assessment Type

Report

Task Description

This final assessment piece has two components, both due the same week. Both must be completed in order to pass the assessment. The first component is a 2500 word written report submitted prior to class in the allocated assessment week. The second component is a 5-minute professional oral presentation summary to your assessor and peers during class time in the allocated week of assessment, accompanied by one poster slide summarising your topic and findings.

You are required to draw upon the co-design literature and occupational therapy/disability/technology/health professions' literature to investigate one example of a 'wicked problem' and how it is being addressed. You will use your knowledge from CQ University's Social Innovation i-Change module which you have already completed in your studies. That knowledge will inform you to consider what a 'wicked problem' or 'grand challenge' is and to understand that many of the solutions in the occupational therapy/disability/technology/health professions' literature address a 'direct service' approach to those problems. This builds upon your knowledge from earlier assessments where you have taken your perspective from an individual therapeutic approach to a more collective approach, but this time the focus is more on diagnostic groups/wicked problems and co-design.

Your overall topic must be a different one from the topic studied in the previous assessment. Your knowledge from that assessment, giving you a collective perspective, will now form a foundation to extend your skills and knowledge further.

There are a range of examples in contemporary literature, some of which include: virtual/remote home visiting; co-design in the manufacture of customised assistive technology for hand injuries; co-design for people with dementia and their carers; co-design of social networking platforms for adolescents with ASD; self-management apps for people with spinal cord injury....to name a few.

The written report of 2500 words must cover the following, with each section supported by relevant and appropriate peer-reviewed references from the OCCT12002 reading list and your own literature search:

- identify and describe the 'wicked problem'/'grand challenge' targeted by the initiative
- present the solution being proposed/trialled/implemented
- analyse how the solution may be an example of advocacy and/or change-making and/or social innovation
- articulate which occupational injustices the solution is attempting to address and in what way
- explain how the solution proposed or being provided promotes occupational engagement and participation

The five-minute oral presentation summary will be a synopsis of the key points in your written report, accompanied by a visual presentation to support learner engagement.

You may use Powerpoint or Prezi or have a PDF poster document generated to accompany your presentation.

Students will be allocated a time slot within the class schedule in the final week of term for their five-minute presentation. All students are required to attend for the entire duration of the allocated class as this is a peer learning experience in addition to an assessment.

Please note the following additional details:

- as a guideline, the length of the main body of your report should be 2500 words excluding references. Report that are substantially longer (e.g. 3000 words) or shorter than this (2000 words) are unlikely to score as highly as those that make the best use of the 2500 word length. Marks will not be deducted based on word count.
- you may use headings to structure your report
- you are required to use APA 7th edition guidelines for style and formatting. This includes your font size, spacing, indents and any use of headings and tables. Please refer to your CQUniversity APA 7th edition style guide.
- please save and upload your file in a Word format (.doc or .docx) rather than PDF
- please enclose a PDF of your slide on the presentation day as an appendix in your written submission

Academic Integrity Statement

As a CQUniversity student you are expected to act honestly in all aspects of your academic work.

Any assessable work undertaken or submitted for review or assessment must be your own work. Assessable work is any type of work you do to meet the assessment requirements in the unit, including draft work submitted for review and feedback and final work to be assessed.

When you use the ideas, words or data of others in your assessment, you must thoroughly and clearly acknowledge the source of this information by using the correct referencing style for your unit. Using others' work without proper acknowledgement may be considered a form of intellectual dishonesty.

Participating honestly, respectfully, responsibly, and fairly in your university study ensures the CQUniversity qualification you earn will be valued as a true indication of your individual academic achievement and will continue to receive the respect and recognition it deserves.

As a student, you are responsible for reading and following CQUniversity's policies, including the Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure. This policy sets out CQUniversity's expectations of you to act with integrity, examples of academic integrity breaches to avoid, the processes used to address alleged breaches of academic integrity, and potential penalties.

What is a breach of academic integrity?

A breach of academic integrity includes but is not limited to plagiarism, self-plagiarism, collusion, cheating, contract cheating, and academic misconduct. The Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure defines what these terms mean and gives examples.

Why is academic integrity important?

A breach of academic integrity may result in one or more penalties, including suspension or even expulsion from the University. It can also have negative implications for student visas and future enrolment at CQUniversity or elsewhere. Students who engage in contract cheating also risk being blackmailed by contract cheating services.

Where can I get assistance?

For academic advice and guidance, the Academic Learning Centre \(ALC\) can support you in becoming confident in completing assessments with integrity and of high standard.

What can you do to act with integrity?

Be Honest

If your assessment task is done by someone else, it would be dishonest of you to claim it as your own

Seek Help

If you are not sure about how to cite or reference in essays, reports etc, then seek help from your lecturer, the library or the Academic Learning Centre (ALC)

Produce Original Work

Originality comes from your ability to read widely, think critically, and apply your gained knowledge to address a question or problem
