Term 2 - 2017

Profile information current as at 20/05/2024 06:21 am

All details in this unit profile for OLTC20005 have been officially approved by CQUniversity and represent a learning partnership between the University and you (our student). The information will not be changed unless absolutely necessary and any change will be clearly indicated by an approved correction included in the profile.

General Information

Overview

Adult learning theories inform a wide range of contexts in which humans learn. Adult Learning in Practice addresses approaches to adult learning in formal and informal settings. In this unit you will examine how theories are used to inform and develop your teaching practice. You will explore a variety of teaching methods and learning theories across a number of learning environments. You will apply reflective practice and scholarship to develop your teaching philosophy and inform your teaching practice. You will develop the knowledge and skills to adapt your teaching to meet the needs of a variety of cohorts in various environments.

Assessment Tasks

1 Teaching Philosophy and Teaching Presentation

Assessment Type

Presentation and Written Assessment

Task Description

For the first part of this assessment you are to prepare a one page teaching philosophy.

The purpose of a teaching philosophy is to share your teaching values, beliefs and goals with a broader audience. Your teaching philosophy will provide a set of criteria for others to judge the quality of your teaching.

Your teaching philosophy will be based on reflective practice and your beliefs about learning and teaching. It will be informed by learning theories. You will include concrete examples of what you do or anticipate doing. Your teaching philosophy will be contextualised to your discipline and teaching context, and supported by evidence.

Your teaching philosophy will

- be no more than one A4 page long. The reference list only can be placed on a second page.
- use a font type and size that makes the text easy to read. For example 11 or 12 point and a font of Ariel, Calibri or similar.
- be written to an academic standard. (well written with correct spelling and grammar, and referenced).
- display evidence of your examination of your personal and professional growth as an educator and improvements (or planned improvements) in your teaching practice.

The second part of this assessment is to produce a 7 minute engaging teaching video.

In the video, using Sweller's cognitive load theory, you are to teach a single concept from your discipline. You will need to succinctly explain this concept to a novice. The link between your teaching philosophy and your teaching should be clearly evident.

Your video will be

- no more than 7 minutes long.
- MP4 format or a YouTube link.
- no larger than 100MB in size (if not a YouTube link).
- Innovative, creative and persuasive - considering the audience and tailoring to their needs.
- Display clarity of purpose and be cohesive in expression.
- Your video should reflect your teaching philosophy.

All assessment items will be made available to all members of your class.

Assessment Criteria

Assessment Criteria

This assessment task is marked according to how well you have met the specified requirements, and in accordance with the assessment criteria outlined below.

Integration – roles and responsibilities as an educator in the tertiary education context are discussed and aligned with consideration of personal dispositions, learning theories and scholarly literature. Views, beliefs and theoretical foundations of student learning and teaching practice are discussed. The context is considered. There is a clear link between your teaching philosophy and your presentation.

Reflection –critical reflection is evidenced. Demonstrate a variety of measures have been used to evaluate performance. Examines development of personal and professional growth and improvements in teaching practices.

Communication and presentation– all work is of an academic standard (well written with correct spelling and grammar and referenced). Presentation is persuasive and compelling and takes account of diverse audience needs. Clarity of purpose and coherence of expression (vocalisation, spelling, grammar, syntax); appropriate oral and written conventions used.

Innovation--creativity in response to pedagogical solution to the topic. Considers the audience and tailors presentation to meet their needs.

Technological implementation - clearly communicated ideas that enabled a well-executed presentation. Competency in the technology that supports your presentation and topic.

Academic Integrity Statement

As a CQUniversity student you are expected to act honestly in all aspects of your academic work.

Any assessable work undertaken or submitted for review or assessment must be your own work. Assessable work is any type of work you do to meet the assessment requirements in the unit, including draft work submitted for review and feedback and final work to be assessed.

When you use the ideas, words or data of others in your assessment, you must thoroughly and clearly acknowledge the source of this information by using the correct referencing style for your unit. Using others' work without proper acknowledgement may be considered a form of intellectual dishonesty.

Participating honestly, respectfully, responsibly, and fairly in your university study ensures the CQUniversity qualification you earn will be valued as a true indication of your individual academic achievement and will continue to receive the respect and recognition it deserves.

As a student, you are responsible for reading and following CQUniversity's policies, including the Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure. This policy sets out CQUniversity's expectations of you to act with integrity, examples of academic integrity breaches to avoid, the processes used to address alleged breaches of academic integrity, and potential penalties.

What is a breach of academic integrity?

A breach of academic integrity includes but is not limited to plagiarism, self-plagiarism, collusion, cheating, contract cheating, and academic misconduct. The Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure defines what these terms mean and gives examples.

Why is academic integrity important?

A breach of academic integrity may result in one or more penalties, including suspension or even expulsion from the University. It can also have negative implications for student visas and future enrolment at CQUniversity or elsewhere. Students who engage in contract cheating also risk being blackmailed by contract cheating services.

Where can I get assistance?

For academic advice and guidance, the Academic Learning Centre \(ALC\) can support you in becoming confident in completing assessments with integrity and of high standard.

What can you do to act with integrity?

Be Honest

If your assessment task is done by someone else, it would be dishonest of you to claim it as your own

Seek Help

If you are not sure about how to cite or reference in essays, reports etc, then seek help from your lecturer, the library or the Academic Learning Centre (ALC)

Produce Original Work

Originality comes from your ability to read widely, think critically, and apply your gained knowledge to address a question or problem
