General Information

Overview

In an increasingly mobile world, many people are experiencing periods of time immersed in different cultural contexts, either as part of our work, study, volunteering or leisure. This unit provides you with theoretical and scholarly support for cultural immersion at the point of experiencing it in order to help deepen your understanding of yourself and of your new cultural context. Cultural immersion can be a potentially powerful transformative learning experience if undertaken with such support and can develop effective cultural competence skills and knowledge. As this unit explores cultural disruption, it is recommended you take this unit at the beginning of a cultural immersion experience. The unit content will help you to make sense of the disruption and support you in developing strategies and resources to facilitate cultural integration and the development of respectful cross-cultural relationships.

Assessment Overview

Assessment Grading

This is a graded unit: your overall grade will be calculated from the marks or grades for each assessment task, based on the relative weightings shown in the table above. You must obtain an overall mark for the unit of at least 50%, or an overall grade of 'pass' in order to pass the unit. If any 'pass/fail' tasks are shown in the table above they must also be completed successfully ('pass' grade). You must also meet any minimum mark requirements specified for a particular assessment task, as detailed in the 'assessment task' section (note that in some instances, the minimum mark for a task may be greater than 50%). Consult the University's Grades and Results Policy for more details of interim results and final grades.

Previous Student Feedback

Feedback, Recommendations and Responses

Every unit is reviewed for enhancement each year. At the most recent review, the following staff and student feedback items were identified and recommendations were made.

Feedback from Informal feedback from students

Feedback

Students enjoy real life examples that relate the material in the unit to experiences they have had or might have working in the field of Public Health.

Recommendation

The study guide and supplementary materials on Moodle should link theory to real life experiences through examples students are familiar with, especially drawing on current Public Health issues discussed in the media and hence known to students.

Feedback from Unit Cordinator's observations

Feedback

Students benefit from collaboration, brainstorming, and mutual discussion of unit contents.

Recommendation

Classes should be structured to allow students to work together in small groups on activities designed to support interaction and collaboration as well as scaffold learning.

Unit Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

1. Explain the experiences of cultural disruption and integration
2. Identify community and institutional strategies and resources that enable cultural integration
3. Critically reflect on own experiences of cultural disruption and integration
4. Critically reflect on developing and maintaining respectful cross-cultural relationships.
