

PSYC12013 Personality

Term 3 - 2017

Profile information current as at 01/05/2024 02:58 am

All details in this unit profile for PSYC12013 have been officially approved by CQUniversity and represent a learning partnership between the University and you (our student). The information will not be changed unless absolutely necessary and any change will be clearly indicated by an approved correction included in the profile.

General Information

Overview

This unit introduces major perspectives of studying personality, including psychoanalytic, humanistic, cognitive, dispositional, and behavioural. Representative theories within each approach will be discussed with the consideration of both theory and application. Apart from requiring students to familiarise with theoretical materials and research findings regarding personality studies, this unit also encourages students to look at their own personality and tries to interest student by exploring the practical applications of the theories to several issues relevant to people's daily lives. The approach adopted in this unit towards the study of various theories is experiential and involves personal reflections. It is a requirement of enrolment in the unit that students have access to the CQU World Wide Web site via the Internet.

Assessment Grading

This is a graded unit: your overall grade will be calculated from the marks or grades for each assessment task, based on the relative weightings shown in the table above. You must obtain an overall mark for the unit of at least 50%, or an overall grade of 'pass' in order to pass the unit. If any 'pass/fail' tasks are shown in the table above they must also be completed successfully ('pass' grade). You must also meet any minimum mark requirements specified for a particular assessment task, as detailed in the 'assessment task' section (note that in some instances, the minimum mark for a task may be greater than 50%). Consult the University's Grades and Results Policy for more details of interim results and final grades.

Previous Student Feedback

Feedback, Recommendations and Responses

Every unit is reviewed for enhancement each year. At the most recent review, the following staff and student feedback items were identified and recommendations were made.

Feedback from Course evaluation

Feedback

The relaxation of formality in the discussion forum assessment was popular with the students as it allowed engagement with the material and interaction with peers without the expectation that the contributions be abstract and impersonal in nature.

Recommendation

This lends weight to the idea that informal discussion forums seem to increase participation and engagement

Feedback from Course evaluation

Feedback

Consideration of increasing the weighting of Assessment 1 to 10% of the overall unit grade.

Recommendation

A change of weighting to 10% for the forum discussion assessment should be implemented for term 1 2018

Unit Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

1. distinguish the study of personality as a psychology discipline from the talk of personality as an everyday common sense
2. identify basic issues in contemporary personality research
3. recognise six major domains of knowledge about personality functioning outlined in the text
4. understand significant ideas and themes of major theories within each domains in the textbook covered by the unit
5. display certain critical thinking skills in evaluating, comparing and applying various theories
6. have an appreciation of the importance of the contextual factors in personality cultivation and development, including environmental and cultural influences and their implications for personal growth

This unit is to introduce the field of human personality as a branch of scientific study within psychology through the study of representative personality theories applied to major domains of personality studies.

Group Discussion

Task Description

Task Description

Due Date: Sunday of each week by 11:55pm (weeks 1-12)

Weighting: 5%

Length: Approximately 100 to 200 words per contribution

Objectives: Contributions to discussion forums are aimed to facilitate virtual interactions between peers enabling students to demonstrate learning outcomes and experience personal growth within a different domain. This assessment item relates to all learning outcomes

Task

Every student is required to participate in the weekly discussion forums. Ten genuine contributions to twelve different weekly topics are expected. In general, there will be one discussion topic each week which will be posted in the weekly topic area on Moodle. The content of your contribution is expected to be around that topic. It is expected that students contribute to the discussion forums by providing meaningful thoughts, constructive critiques, helpful answers, or suggestions, and other relevant information in relation to the weekly topic and/or fellow students' messages and/or by starting other worthy threads relevant to the topic of personality. It is up to the student to give thought to the topic or responses of others and contribute something meaningful to the discussion. Therefore the word limit of about 100 to 200 words is just a guideline. Proper references should be given in your discussion where it is relevant and applicable.

Assessment Criteria

This assessment task is informal in nature and has been designed to aid students in engaging with the topic material. Rather than awarding marks for style, referencing etc., marks will be awarded for genuine contributions that show students have reflected on the questions and posted meaningful replies.

Assessment Details

Assessment Item 1 : Essay

Due Date: Check below for the due date

Weighting: 30%

Length: 1500- 2500 words

Objectives

The purpose of the essay is to give students the opportunity to study a selected area of personality theory in greater depth. In general this will involve comprehensive reading of primary sources (wherever possible), a critical approach to the material, and the development of an argument reflecting students' own reasoning and viewpoint about the topic. This assessment item closely relates to the the course learning outcomes 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6.

Task

You are required to write an original essay on the topic that will be provided on the course website. Be sure to make the argument logical, convincing and backed up by appropriate sources. First hand readings (i.e., original journal articles) of empirical studies are essential to enhance the quality of your writing. It is NOT appropriate to use the prescribed textbook for this course (or any first year psychology textbook) as a reference for the essay although, other books and publications on personality theory/theorists are acceptable.

The essay must be between 1500-2500 words in length, must be presented in APA style, and must include a title page and an Abstract. Your essay must include an introduction of not more than 2 paragraphs. The body of your essay should address your chosen topic question which will be provided at the beginning of the term. You should also provide a conclusion of no more than 2 paragraphs, and a complete reference list. Be sure that any statements made in answer to your topic question are supported by supporting evidence from peer-reviewed literature. Remember to write clearly and in a well-organised manner.

APA Format 6th edition is to be followed

Academic Integrity Statement

As a CQUniversity student you are expected to act honestly in all aspects of your academic work.

Any assessable work undertaken or submitted for review or assessment must be your own work. Assessable work is any type of work you do to meet the assessment requirements in the unit, including draft work submitted for review and feedback and final work to be assessed.

When you use the ideas, words or data of others in your assessment, you must thoroughly and clearly acknowledge the source of this information by using the correct referencing style for your unit. Using others' work without proper acknowledgement may be considered a form of intellectual dishonesty.

Participating honestly, respectfully, responsibly, and fairly in your university study ensures the CQUniversity qualification you earn will be valued as a true indication of your individual academic achievement and will continue to receive the respect and recognition it deserves.

As a student, you are responsible for reading and following CQUniversity's policies, including the Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure. This policy sets out CQUniversity's expectations of you to act with integrity, examples of academic integrity breaches to avoid, the processes used to address alleged breaches of academic integrity, and potential penalties.

What is a breach of academic integrity?

A breach of academic integrity includes but is not limited to plagiarism, self-plagiarism, collusion, cheating, contract cheating, and academic misconduct. The Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure defines what these terms mean and gives examples.

Why is academic integrity important?

A breach of academic integrity may result in one or more penalties, including suspension or even expulsion from the University. It can also have negative implications for student visas and future enrolment at CQUniversity or elsewhere. Students who engage in contract cheating also risk being blackmailed by contract cheating services.

Where can I get assistance?

For academic advice and guidance, the Academic Learning Centre \(ALC\) can support you in becoming confident in completing assessments with integrity and of high standard.

What can you do to act with integrity?

Be Honest

If your assessment task is done by someone else, it would be dishonest of you to claim it as your own

Seek Help

If you are not sure about how to cite or reference in essays, reports etc, then seek help from your lecturer, the library or the Academic Learning Centre (ALC)

Produce Original Work

Originality comes from your ability to read widely, think critically, and apply your gained knowledge to address a question or problem
