

PSYC14054 Communicating in Diverse Contexts

Term 2 - 2023

Profile information current as at 11/04/2024 08:48 am

All details in this unit profile for PSYC14054 have been officially approved by CQUniversity and represent a learning partnership between the University and you (our student). The information will not be changed unless absolutely necessary and any change will be clearly indicated by an approved correction included in the profile.

General Information

Overview

The ability to communicate effectively in a variety of formats with diverse individuals and groups is an essential skill for professionals such as psychologists which involve working with people. This unit will provide you with practical skills for effective communication, including interviewing and active listening skills. You will learn how different modes of communicating can be used for different audiences (professional, academic, peers, the general population, specific communities). You will reflect on your ongoing development of communication skills and how these apply to future work or study.

Attendance Requirements

All on-campus students are expected to attend scheduled classes – in some units, these classes are identified as a mandatory (pass/fail) component and attendance is compulsory. International students, on a student visa, must maintain a full time study load and meet both attendance and academic progress requirements in each study period (satisfactory attendance for International students is defined as maintaining at least an 80% attendance record).

Website

This unit has a website, within the Moodle system, which is available two weeks before the start of term. It is important that you visit your Moodle site throughout the term. Please visit Moodle for more information.

Class and Assessment Overview

Recommended Student Time Commitment

Each 6-credit Undergraduate unit at CQUniversity requires an overall time commitment of an average of 12.5 hours of study per week, making a total of 150 hours for the unit.

Assessment Grading

This is a graded unit: your overall grade will be calculated from the marks or grades for each assessment task, based on the relative weightings shown in the table above. You must obtain an overall mark for the unit of at least 50%, or an overall grade of 'pass' in order to pass the unit. If any 'pass/fail' tasks are shown in the table above they must also be completed successfully ('pass' grade). You must also meet any minimum mark requirements specified for a particular assessment task, as detailed in the 'assessment task' section (note that in some instances, the minimum mark for a task may be greater than 50%). Consult the University's Grades and Results Policy for more details of interim results and final grades.

Unit Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

1. Critically analyse the theory, research and practice underlying effective communication skills
2. Apply effective communication skills to diverse audiences and in a variety of contexts
3. Reflect on and critically evaluate your ongoing development of communication skills and how these apply to future work or study

Learning outcomes fulfil the level 2 pre-professional core competencies required by the updated Australian Psychology Accreditation Council (APAC) guidelines. The learning outcomes also meet the study criteria as specified by the Psychology Board of Australia (PsyBA) and as appropriate for study at level 8 as stated by the Australian Qualifications Framework (AQF). The specific APAC competencies which will be demonstrated by students in completing this unit are: 2.2 Demonstrate appropriate interpersonal communication and interview skills in situations appropriate to psychological practice and research. This includes active listening, clarifying and reflecting, effective questioning, summarising and paraphrasing, developing rapport, appropriate cultural responsiveness and empathic responding.

Assessment Tasks

1 Communication Deficits and Strengths (Part 1)

Assessment Type

Written Assessment

Task Description

The aim of this assessment is to demonstrate competence in the following unit learning outcomes: 1) Critically analyse the theory, research and practice underlying effective communication skills; 2) Apply effective communication skills to diverse audiences and in a variety of contexts; 3) Reflect on and critically evaluate your ongoing development of communication skills and how these apply to future work or study.

Assessment word count: 1500 words +/- 10% (not including reference list).

Overall Weight: 35%.

In Week 1 you will complete a range of communication skill self-assessment measures and record your measure-derived strengths and weaknesses. These measures will be downloadable from Moodle (under the Assessments tab and the Week 1 tab).

The ability to communicate effectively in a variety of formats with diverse individuals and groups is an essential skill for professionals, such as psychologists, which involve working with people. This assessment will allow you to reflect on your ongoing development of communication skills, provide you with the knowledge and skills of how to improve your communications skills, and how to apply these skills to future work or study. In addition, being able to reflect on one's deficits and strengths, and proposing solutions to one's own personal development, are skills expected in the contemporary workplace.

More details on this assessment are provided in the Assessment tab of Moodle.

Assessment Due Date

Week 4 Monday (31 July 2023) 9:00 am AEST

Return Date to Students

Week 7 Friday (1 Sept 2023)

Marks and individual feedback will be able to be accessed on Moodle.

Weighting

Assessment Criteria

Your assignment should be structured as follows (and marks for each section are also shown):

1. Description of skill

- provide a detailed and accurate description of the communication skill you have identified (20%)

2. Evaluation and discussion of academic research

- critically evaluate and discuss the academic research related to the communication skill you have identified (35%)

3. Proposal of practical evidence-based solutions for self-improvement

- propose and justify practical solutions for enhancing your own performance in this communication area (35%)

4. Writing style and referencing:

- accurate spelling and grammar, academic writing style, correct use of undefined American Psychological Association 7th Edition (APA 7th edition) referencing (10%)

The aim of this assessment is to demonstrate competence in the following unit learning outcomes: 1) Critically analyse the theory, research and practice underlying effective communication skills; 2) Apply effective communication skills to diverse audiences and in a variety of contexts; 3) Reflect on and critically evaluate your ongoing development of communication skills and how these apply to future work or study.

Interview length: 15 minutes

Overall weighting: 30%

The ability to communicate effectively in a variety of formats with diverse individuals and groups is an essential skill for professionals, such as psychologists, which involve working with people. This assessment will allow you to apply your oral communication and active listening skills, as well as your ability to work in a team and provide constructive feedback. You will also demonstrate your learnings from Assessment 1 on the theory, research, and practice of effective communication skills and critically evaluate your own and others' performances. It will also give you the opportunity to consider the skills required in the contemporary workplace.

There are two parts to this assessment: i) practice sessions and obtaining written feedback from all group members, ii)

recording an interview as an Interviewer - based on feedback from group members and self reflection.
More details on this assessment are available in the Assessment tab on Moodle.

3 Communication Deficits and Strengths (Part 2)

Assessment Type

Written Assessment

Task Description

The aim of this assessment is to demonstrate progress in the following unit learning outcomes: 1) Critically analyse the theory, research and practice underlying effective communication skills; 2) Apply effective communication skills to diverse audiences and in a variety of contexts; 3) Reflect on and critically evaluate your ongoing development of communication skills and how these apply to future work or study.

Assessment word count: 1500 words +/- 10% (not including reference list)

Overall Weighting: 35%

In Week 9 you will re-assess your communication skills using the self-assessment measure(s) you used in Week 1 (under the Assessments tab and the Week 9 tab) or the alternate measure that you chose. For this assessment, you will reflect on the communication skills, knowledge, and experience you have gained in this particular unit and throughout your university studies. You will describe and discuss any changes (or lack of changes) in your self-assessment measure score, reflecting on the previous two assessment tasks, the process of change you have undergone in this unit and throughout your studies, and your ongoing skill development. You will identify any skills that need to be developed further in the future and how these will be important to your future work or study.

To aid the 'communication skills journey' reflections, you may find it useful to review some written assignments from your first year of study and contrast those with your current communication skill set.

More detailed instructions are available in the Assessments tab in Moodle.

Academic Integrity Statement

As a CQUniversity student you are expected to act honestly in all aspects of your academic work.

Any assessable work undertaken or submitted for review or assessment must be your own work. Assessable work is any type of work you do to meet the assessment requirements in the unit, including draft work submitted for review and feedback and final work to be assessed.

When you use the ideas, words or data of others in your assessment, you must thoroughly and clearly acknowledge the source of this information by using the correct referencing style for your unit. Using others' work without proper acknowledgement may be considered a form of intellectual dishonesty.

Participating honestly, respectfully, responsibly, and fairly in your university study ensures the CQUniversity qualification you earn will be valued as a true indication of your individual academic achievement and will continue to receive the respect and recognition it deserves.

As a student, you are responsible for reading and following CQUniversity's policies, including the Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure. This policy sets out CQUniversity's expectations of you to act with integrity, examples of academic integrity breaches to avoid, the processes used to address alleged breaches of academic integrity, and potential penalties.

What is a breach of academic integrity?

A breach of academic integrity includes but is not limited to plagiarism, self-plagiarism, collusion, cheating, contract cheating, and academic misconduct. The Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure defines what these terms mean and gives examples.

Why is academic integrity important?

A breach of academic integrity may result in one or more penalties, including suspension or even expulsion from the University. It can also have negative implications for student visas and future enrolment at CQUniversity or elsewhere. Students who engage in contract cheating also risk being blackmailed by contract cheating services.

Where can I get assistance?

For academic advice and guidance, the Academic Learning Centre \(ALC\) can support you in becoming confident in completing assessments with integrity and of high standard.

What can you do to act with integrity?

Be Honest

If your assessment task is done by someone else, it would be dishonest of you to claim it as your own

Seek Help

If you are not sure about how to cite or reference in essays, reports etc, then seek help from your lecturer, the library or the Academic Learning Centre (ALC)

Produce Original Work

Originality comes from your ability to read widely, think critically, and apply your gained knowledge to address a question or problem
